Why Go to Church?
Buying the Victory.
Dust for Fuel.
Why Make Farmers Pay?

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TWELVE HUNDRED advertising agencies and advertising writers are asked to compete for a prize of $1,000, answering the question, "Why go to church?"

What would your answer be?

AN OLD-FASHIONED answer would be, "Go to church now, that you may not go to hell later." But fear of hell is not as powerful as it used to be. There is a feeling that the Ruler of the universe, having created human beings, knowing in advance what they would do, would hardly sentence them to eternal fire.

It would have been so simple to leave them uncreated.

ANOTHER answer to the question would be, "The only important thing about a man is his conception of divine intelligence and wisdom. In other respects, he is like mice, frogs and guinea pigs. So, go to church to prove that you are not a guinea pig or a mouse."

WAR in China has its old-fashioned side. Marshal Chang, on one side, offers Gen. Liu, on the other, $50,000 if he will surrender. Gen. Liu is holding out for $250,000.

IT REMINDS you of the camp follower, Catherine, who married Peter the Great. She earned his gratitude by buying off a Turkish general that had Peter in a trap. She gave the Turkish general all her jewelry, and he, convinced that jewelry was better than a victory, trotted home.

RUDOLPH KAWLIKOWSKI, head of the Kosmos Machine Works, of Goerlitz, Germany, and a serious scientist, has interesting news for farmers.

He says they can run motors with dust made of pulverized coal, charcoal, farm waste and other substances.

KAWLIKOWSKI runs an 80-horse power Diesel motor with pulverized vegetable materials, costing 75 per cent less than gasoline costs in Germany.

DRIED and ground cornstalks could run all the farm machinery.

Everybody knows the terrific explosive power of dust as demonstrated in exploding grain elevators. Controlling the power in motors is new.

THE Federal Reserve authorities are entitled to the information that they are unpopular throughout the country. One hundred and twenty millions of Americans are not aware that the Federal Reserve was established to tell them what they may and may not buy, stocks or anything else.

IF BUYING and selling stocks is wrong, the government should close the Stock Exchange.

If not, the Federal Reserve should mind its own business.

WASHINGTON suggests that the United States will agree not to raise tariffs on Canadian farm products. Canada will sign the "St. Lawrence waterways treaty."

That seems hard on farmers. Why should THEY pay the price that Canada fixes for signing the waterways agreement?

WHY not make an all-American canal on American territory, entirely independent of Canada? This country can afford it. Then let the Canadians pay the increased tariff, if it is just and necessary.

That tariff would enable Canada to pay for the canal instead of making American farmers pay for it.

AT THE end of the war Europe owed American citizens, apart from ten billions lent by our government, two billion six hundred and twenty-five millions, for private loans.

TODAY Europe's private debt to American individuals and corporations amounts to fifteen billion dollars. That amount added to the ten billions borrowed from this government, makes Europe's debt to the United States about twenty-five billions.

IN OLD days it would have been cheaper to fight than to pay such a sum. But now, even if there was a prospect of winning, a war would cost Europe more than the twenty-five billions owing to us.

Even to suggest war, and to begin to get ready for it, would knock Europe's values at least twenty-five billions to start with.

THERE won't be any war based on international financial hatreds or jealousies.

But the United States has lent enough abroad for the present, and might well invest spare money at home for the next few years.

EDMUND SCHUCHERT

Schuchert, 24, 621 Brownsville avenue, music teacher at Baxter Junior High School who admitted in Morals Court today that it was "a lark" when he followed two South Hills High School girls 10 blocks in his automobile. He was fined $10.

EDUCATOR FINED AS FLIRT

Admitting in Morals Court today that they followed two South Hills High School girls for 10 blocks in an automobile "for a lark," Edmund Schuchert, 24, of 621 Brownsville road, a music teacher in Baxter Junior High School, and Andrew Nesbitt, 22, of 325 Alice street, Knoxville, were fined $10, with the alternative of serving 10 days in jail. They paid.

FATHER: POLICEMAN

The two were arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out before Magistrate A. D. Brandon, of Morals Court, by Motorcycle Patrolman Louis Foster, of 806 Delmont street, on information received from his daughter, Helen, 15, and Marion Berlipp, 16, of 203 Michigan street.

Schuchert's resignation had been placed on file, Ben G. Graham, associate superintendent of schools, announced today.

Helen testified today that she and her chum, Marion, both students at South Hills High School, were on their way to a bank in Warrington avenue, Monday afternoon, when followed by Schuchert and Nesbitt in a gray roadster.

"FOLLOWED 10 BLOCKS"

"They followed us five blocks to the bank, waited until we came out and then followed us five blocks back home," Helen testified.

The girls said they paid no attention to the two men and ig-

REBELS IN WILD ROUT NEAR JIMENEZ

MEXICO CITY, April 3.—(AP.)—Reports reaching the government from the front near Jimenez today stated that the rebels were in full retreat by train, truck and by horseback toward Santa Rosalia, about half way between Jimenez and Bachimba Pass.

Definite and clearcut victory in the two days of violent fighting for possession of Jimenez was claimed by the government, which has hopes that the federal victory presages the collapse of the rebel movement in Chihuahua.

SEES EARLY VICTORY

Gen. Calles, reporting the victory, said that "extermination" of the rebels was only a question of hours.

Rebel losses have been placed at about 600; the federal losses have not been announced, although Gen. Ortiz, commander of the Federal cavalry, is known to have lost 25 dead in a battle with 1,300 rebel cavalrymen who sought to cut a way through his ranks.

NACO, Sonora, Mexico, April 3.—(INS.)—Leaving their trenches federal infantry today engaged an advancing rebel force in a furious encounter approximately one mile east of here. The federal forces claimed to have routed the advancing rebel vanguard and forced them back to their main column. The extent of the casualties was not revealed.

Gen. Ramon Yocupicio telegraphed rebel headquarters at

WANER 'MERRY' OVER TROTH

By CHARLES J DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 3.—Lloyd Waner yesterday told 12,000 fans and a lot of baseball players how it felt to be in love—and he said it with base hits, pretty running and clever fielding. Lloyd knew the secret was soon to be out, so he put on a little celebration.

And today the youth is receiving the congratulations of his teammates as a result of his engagement to Miss Frances Mae Snyder, 407 Oakland avenue, Pittsburgh.

"Yes, that's just the way I feel," exclaimed Lloyd this morning, as he "sat on top of the world eating clouds for dessert." In love, the owner of a star's contract, having his picture "took" with Babe Ruth—these are just a few of the big moments in the life of the natural little chap from the rural districts of Oklahoma.

Late in Court, Puts Blame on the Stork

S. B. Brant, treasurer of the Hazelwood Savings and Trust Company, was an important witness in Criminal Court today. He was late; the court waited an hour. "What kept you?" asked Assistant District Attorney Meredith B. Reid when Brant finally arrived. "I was at the hospital," Brant answered. "My wife just presented me with a baby."

AMBRIDGE BANDIT BLAMES DRUGS, ASKS CURE; DENIED

BEAVER, Pa., April 3.—Blaming his crime career on the drug habit, James Howard, 35, World War veteran, today pleaded with the court to be sent to an institution where he could be cured, after admitting his part in the holdup of the Ambridge Gas Company's office, Ambridge, a month ago.

Judge Frank E. Reader told Howard there was no such institution in Pennsylvania in which penal time could be served, and he sentenced Howard to serve from five to 10 years in Western Penitentiary. His confessed accomplice, Harry Moose, 24, was sentenced to four to eight years.

Archibald Pew, manager of the gas company, was shot in the holdup. The robbers, who obtained $3,000, were captured several days later and most of the loot recovered. Mrs. Howard, with a baby born on the day of the holdup, was in court to plead leniency for her husband.

Sun-Telegraph Gains As Competitor Loses

Sworn Government circulation statements for the past six months, made on April 1, disclose the facts that

While the Sun-Telegraph GAINED 6,295 daily circulation in that period, the Press LOST 4,371 daily circulation.

While the Press gained 7,838 Sunday circulation, the Sun-Telegraph GAINED NEARLY FOUR TIMES AS MUCH, or 27,883.

In the past six months, the Press' lead in daily circulation over the Sun-Telegraph has DECREASED from almost 26,000 to less than 17,500.

In the same period, the Sunday Sun-Telegraph's lead over the Sunday Press has INCREASED from 51,893 to 71,938.

17-Month Infant Has Flown 30 Hours Aloft

FARMINGDALE, N. Y., April 3.—(AP.)—A very youthful feminine veteran of the air took off today to add a few more hours to her flying time.

She is Dorothy Deckard, 17-months-old daughter of Howard C. Deckard, production manager of the Fairchild Airplane manufacturing Corporation, and on her arrival in Columbus will have a total of 30 hours in the air.

The young passenger was accompanied in a cabin monoplane by her father, mother, 17-year-old sister, and the pilot.

ROTH, BANKER, DISAPPEARS

A. B. Roth, 55, former banker and realtor, is missing. His wife, Mrs. Mabel Roth, today asked the Bureau of Missing Persons to search for him, a private search having failed.

Roth, once the cashier of the Brotherhood Savings Bank, which failed, disappeared on January 10, leaving behind in his home at 840 Gearing avenue, South Hills, $20, a scarfpin and this note to his wife:

"I'm a failure. Do not look for me."

Although Roth severed his connections with the bank 18 months before it failed, the failure dogged his tracks and made it impossible for him to obtain employment, his wife told detectives.

Two Store Collector Stick-Ups Sought

Detectives today were searching for four store bandits who yesterday held up two collectors of the P. H. Butler stores. Walter D. Clyde was boarding his auto outside the store at 541 Rosedale street, Homewood, when two bandits grabbed his satchel, which held $700. The bag which two bandits took from Collector E. H. Faust outside the store at Armandale and Buena Vista streets contained only store reports.

ASK SHOWDOWN IN GAS FIGHT

Special Dispatch to Sun-Telegraph.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 3.—State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis, arch enemy of an increased gasoline tax, and Secretary of Highways James L. Stuart, of Pittsburgh, who insists that the additional money is needed, will be brought face to face to explain their stands.

This decision was made today by Senator Clarence J. Buckman, chairman of the Senate Roads Committee. The revenue figures produced by the two men are so far apart that Buckman insists that they confront each other in the presence of the committee.

CODE HELD UP

The administration motor code, which provides for a $4,750,000 boost in vehicle and operator license as well as the increased gasoline tax, which passed the House yesterday, will be held up pending the appearance of the two.

Appearing before a joint session of the Senate and House Roads Committees early today, Lewis made his eleventh hour attack upon the additional tax.

He created the surprise of the Glory of Presidency Vanished With Son's Death, Says Coolidge

THIS is the fourth and concluding installment of Part One of Mr. Coolidge's Own Story, which appeared in April Cosmopolitan. In the preceding three installments, published in this newspaper in the last three days, the former President has described his early political career, his ascent to the Presidency upon the death of Mr. Harding, his reasons for using words sparingly and for determining upon his economy program, and his intensive survey of conditions in America preparatory to the presentation of his first message to Congress.

By CALVIN COOLIDGE,
Former President of the United States.

I HAVE seen a great many attempts at political strategy in my day and elaborate plans made to encompass the destruction of this or that public man.

I cannot now think of any that did not react with overwhelming force upon the perpetrators, sometimes destroying them and sometimes giving their proposed victim an opportunity to demonstrate his courage, strength and soundness, which increased his standing with the people and raised him to higher office.

There is only one form of political strategy in which I have any confidence, and that is to try to do the right thing, and sometimes being able to succeed.

Selection of President Up to Voters.

Many people at once began to speak about nominating me to lead my party in the next campaign. I did not take any position in relation to their efforts. Unless the nomination came to me in a natural way, rather than as the result of an artificial campaign, I did not feel it would be of any value.

WISCONSIN VOTES DRY REPEAL

MILWAUKEE, April 3.—(AP.)—A wave of wet votes kept pouring in today from yesterday's referendum to crush the opposition and place Wisconsin on record against state enforcement of prohibition by a large majority. The cities gave extra large wet majorities, while rural regions were largely dry in voting.

In an unusually heavy vote for a spring election, the state by a majority which neared 150,000 gave approval to repeal of the Severson act, under which Wisconsin has enforced the eighteenth amendment.

By almost the same margin the voters expressed their approval of eliminating from the Severson act the penalties for making home brew of 2.75 alcoholic content.

On the basis of returns from nearly every county in the state, the electorate voted "yes" on repeal of the act by a margin of 101,119. The vote in 1,594 precincts out of 2,759 was: "Yes," 211,375; "no," 110,256. On eliminating penalties for home brew the margin in favor was 77,000. The vote was: "Yes," 197,584; "no," 119,701.

In Milwaukee alone the wets through a six-to-one vote gained an advantage of 68,000 and picked up almost an equal majority in the state. Late returns even though they came from dry districts were not expected to affect the result to any appreciable extent.

After several attempts, the effort to obtain popular approval for a constitutional change to permit the Legislature to raise the salaries of its members was approved in a referendum yesterday as was a proposition to permit sheriffs to succeed themselves.

MacMillan Planning Ninth Polar Voyage

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—A second MacMillan-McDonald Arctic expedition, which is in prospect for departure in June became known here yesterday with the purchase of the yacht Allegro from the estate of James Elverson, Jr., former owner of the Philadelphia Inquirer, by Commander Eugene S. McDonald.

It is likely that the Allegro will be taken into the Arctic in June in charge of Commander Donald McMillan, explorer, who will then make his ninth round trip into the Polar area.

State Problem

MRS. GANN

CURTIS FIGHTS FOR SISTER'S PRESTIGE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Vice President Curtis has asked Secretary Stimson of the State Department to reverse the ruling of former Secretary Kellogg that his hostess, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, a sister, should rank below the wives of ambassadors and ministers at official dinners.

In a statement today Mr. Curtis declared that he is "not bound by Mr. Kellogg's conclusions and has protested to Mr. Stimson."

The Vice President, however, is determined to undo what he con-

On March 19 the Vice President notified the department that Mrs. Gann was his official hostess and asked for her full recognition as such. The day before Kellogg left office, a week later, the Secretary replied that Mrs. Gann would take her position at official dinners in rank below the wives of the ambassadors and ministers instead of at the head of the list as is usually the place of the wife of the Vice President.

Curtis is a widower. Since his wife died three years ago he has resided with his sister, Mrs. Gann, and her husband. When elected vice president, Mr. Curtis announced officially that Mrs. Gann would be his hostess.

The Women's Congressional Club earlier had given its honorary presidency, which usually falls to the wife of the Vice President, to Mrs. George Moses, wife of the president pro tem of the Senate.

Record Strawberry Crop Is Predicted

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—Millions of quarts of strawberries are now in sight. A report today from the government Bureau of Agricultural Economics says the six early producing states were expected to total 71,421,000 quarts this season, compared with 62,665,000 quarts a year ago.

A bumper crop of 20,000,000 quarts was predicted for Louisiana, and the Texas yield was increased to about 5,000,000 quarts.

Maj. Kemp Resigns Aviation Position

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—The resignation of Maj. P. G. Kemp as vice president in charge of traffic and public relations for the Universal Aviation Corporation was announced today. Maj. Kemp organized Universal Air Lines, Inc., one of the original units of the Universal Air Lines System.

MODIFIERS MET WITH SCORN

By W. I. GRUNDISH,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 3.—In spite of a plea for fair play by Representative M. S. Musmanno, Allegheny, the House Law and Order Committee today voted 19 to 10 against granting a hearing on the various bills presented to modify the Blue Laws of 1794.

By the same vote the committee decided against reporting any of the measures for the consideration of the House. The Wettach, Musmanno, Hoffman and Voltz bills seem to be effectually pickled there.

SUCH REFUSAL RARE

The committee, in refusing a hearing, did something very rarely done here at Harrisburg. Hearings usually are granted without question when requested by a member or any group of citizens. The committee for the modification of the blue laws of 1794 repeatedly during the past two months has requested a public hearing, but always has been refused.

"It cannot be expected by your refusing consideration that this movement will cease," said Musmanno. "It cannot cease while I hear men of the highest reputation, men of the most religious character, men who have the best interests of the commonwealth at heart urging that the Legislature do something to modernize a law that does not meet present conditions."

CAUSES MIRTH

Musmanno created a ripple of laughter at the meeting when he read a letter from "A Certain A.

DE KING RAIDER HELD FOR JURY

GENEVA, Ill., April 3.—(INS.)—That Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom will go before a special session of the grand jury Monday and demand indictment of Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith for the dry raid slaying of Mrs. Lillian De King appeared certain today following the action of a coroner's jury which recommended Smith be held for manslaughter.

A warrant charging Boyd Fairchild, investigator for the state's attorney's office of Kane County, with perjury in connection with his alleged false affidavit which led to the raid, was sworn to today by Attorney Albert Kelley before Police Magistrate Charles B. Dickerson, of Aurora.

At the same time Representative Joseph Petit, of Batavia, presented a resolution to the Illinois House of Representatives demanding a thorough legislative investigation into the raid and slaying of Mrs. DeKing.

OTHER CHARGES LIKELY

There may even be indictments against the five other members of the raiding party which besieged the DeKing home, it was strongly intimated today.

This was predicated on evidence introduced at yesterday's inquest which tended to show that the raid was "illegal" in that the raiders failed to produce a search warrant, and that the warrant, if produced, would have been worthless because

PRISON-SMUGGLED DOPE BLAMED BY DRUG ADDICT

A confessed narcotic addict in Federal Court today told a story of drugs being smuggled into the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. He related how he had apparently cured himself of the vice, only to fall victim again when drugs were smuggled into his cell.

The addict, Alfred Knox, of Dormont, is going back to that same penitentiary. He pleaded guilty to violation of the Harrison narcotic act and Judge Nelson McVicar sentenced him to 18 months.

Knox was released from the penitentiary in March, 1928, after serving 14 months.

"For the first nine months I was in the penitentiary I was getting along in good shape," he said. "There were eight men in the cell, besides myself. Two of them were getting drugs smuggled in. I wouldn't take any from them, but I got sick with the flu. I weakened, and took some. I've been using it ever since."

Knox's brother, Raymond Knox, 31, also pleaded guilty to sale and possession. He was paroled for two years. The brothers live at 1111 Illinois avenue, which narcotic agents raided several months ago. The brothers also were caught selling dope from an auto in Armstrong tunnels on one occasion.

WHEELING LEADERS FAVOR CUT IN TAX ON EARNINGS

GLASS PLANS STOCK LOAN CONTROL

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Congressional contributions to the widespread discussion of the stock market credit situation continue to multiply, with indications growing that some sort of action, at least in the form of investigations, will be sought during the special session which begins April 15.

Reiterating his opposition to use of Federal Reserve Bank facilities in stock speculation, Senator Glass (Dem.), of Virginia, one of the authors of the Federal Reserve law, has announced that he is ready, if the opportunity offers, to propose new legislation on the subject at the special session. He has not disclosed the nature of the proposal he has in mind, but he said yesterday that he thought legislation was needed to insure control by the Federal Reserve Board over money which might be used in speculation.

FIRM AGAINST MITCHELL

Replying to a statement by Representative Fish (Rep.), of New York, assailing his recent attack on the action of Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank and a Class A director in the Federal Reserve System, in making $25,000,000 available to the market during last week's credit crisis, the Virginia Senator declared he "did not heedlessly rush into print about this subject."

"I was asked what I thought of the use of Federal Reserve Bank facilities for the promotion of stock speculation," he said, "and I unhesitatingly declared that the use of the Federal Reserve facilities for stock speculation was textually in violation of the law, and that Mr. Mitchell having aided and abetted such violation of the law and having flouted the authority of the Federal Reserve Board should be properly disciplined."

HOUSE HEARINGS POSSIBLE

The possibility that the House Banking Committee may conduct hearings to "analyze the brokers' loans and their place in the country's business and credit structure" was held out by Chairman McFadden. He did not share Senator Glass' opinion as to the need for the new legislation, however, holding that the Reserve Board already possessed sufficient power and was capable of handling the problem of restraining brokers' loans through administrative measures. His committee, however, will be organized at the special sessions to draft rural credits legislation, he said, and may have an opportunity to inquire into the situation.

A hands-off policy, for the time being at any rate, also is favored by Chairman Norbeck and Senator Fletcher, of Florida, ranking Democrat of the Senate Banking Committee, but Senator King (Dem.), of Utah, is prepared to ask it to investigate the situation.

Governors of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks, meanwhile, began their semi-annual meeting here Monday, and had arranged to have a joint conference today with the members of the Federal Reserve Board, but no intimation had been given when they wound up their discussions last night as to whether they have gone into the speculative credit situation.

STIMSON GETS RUM SHIP DATA

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Full detailed reports on the sinking of the Canadian rum-runner I'm Alone in the Gulf of Mexico by a coast guard patrol are now in the hands of the State Department.

A report of the Department of Justice, covering its investigations of the case and the legal points relating to the matter, has been turned over to Secretary of State Stimson by Attorney General Mitchell.

Since only meager preliminary details in the case were turned over to the Canadian legation by the State Department after Canadian Minister Vincent Massey had asked for full particulars of the sinking, it is expected that more complete reports will be forwarded immediately to the legation from the more extensive material the State Department now has available.

Whether the Canadian government will press the case to the point of protesting the sinking is still open.

"Everything is merry with me," he continued. "I couldn't ask for another thing. I just don't know when the marriage is to be, but that's all true about me being engaged and I certainly am feeling mighty fine about it."

Lloyd is so excited over his forthcoming marriage that he apparently has forgotten about Brother Paul for the present. Yes, he sent her the ring some time ago and the bride-to-be thinks it's beautiful.

"Yes, Frances and I have been going together for more than two years," he chuckled. "I just received a letter from her and I knew the announcement was soon to be made."

And Lloyd is sure to be a good husband. He won't even lose his temper like the well known batting star who went up eight times for no hits in a double header.

If Lloyd has such a terrible day at the plate and his helpmate asks "How many hits today, Lloyd?" he will not reply:

P. Hutchinson, in New Alexandria, Pa.," who relates to me the stupendous historical conclusion that the reason the Northern troops lost the first battle of Bull Run was because the battle was fought on Sunday."

"I do not delude myself into believing that I could by any argument, no matter how substantiated by tangible facts, change your views on this measure," Musmanno told the members of the "pickling" committee.

The McKees Rocks member charged that to deny that innumerable communities want a modification of the ancient laws would be "to evince utter paralysis of observation and thought."

LAW OPENLY FLAUNTED

He stated that the law is openly flouted in Erie. He referred to the common practice in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Harrisburg and other cities of starting theatrical performances at one minute after midnight Sunday night.

"I know of nothing more calculated to destroy a respect for law than the spectacle of children or adults sitting up into the sleeping hours in order to beat out the law," he said.

"Every Sunday the law of 1794 is disobeyed, violated, ignored, nullified and repudiated and yet, by burying our heads in the sand, we affect to believe that everything is as it should be," he charged.

Miss Berlipp corroborated Miss Foster's story.

Patrolman Foster testified he had warned his daughter to be on the lookout for young men inviting girls into automobiles because recently a young woman of the district had been picked up and later thrown out of a car in the South Hills district.

Schuchert testified he is a teacher in the Baxter Junior High School in Homewood.

"LARK," HE SAYS

He admitted following the two girls.

"We did it more as a lark than anything," he told Magistrate Brandon. Nesbitt agreed with him.

Magistrate Brandon imposed the fine for violation of a city ordinance, the specific offense alleged being "solicitation on a public highway."

Following their arrest yesterday Schuchert and Nesbitt had been released on a $30 forfeit for the hearing today.

At the office of Dr. W. M. Davidson, superintendent of public education, it was said that an investigation of the affair undoubtedly would be made.

Confederate Reunion Hall Loses at Polls

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 3.—(AP.)—This city is to play host to the Confederate reunion in June, but city officials were wondering today what they would do with the business sessions of the veterans.

Construction of an auditorium-armory was being rushed to provide a convention hall, but yesterday Charlotte voters failed to indorse a special $200,000 bond issue to finance the work.

FEDERAL FARM BOARD URGED BY HYDE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—A strong federal farm board with power to solve the diverse problem which confront agriculture was recommended to the Senate Agriculture Committee today by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde as the pressing need in bringing about improved conditions for agriculture.

Emphasizing that he was speaking for himself alone, the Secretary asserted that it would appear to be "the clear mandate" of the people for Congress to pass such a bill as was introduced last fall by Senator McNary, of Oregon, and that while other legislation affecting tariffs and waterways would be needed, it was necessary to set up immediately a board with power to regulate surpluses for crops through stablization agencies.

Questioned by members of the committee, the Secretary said he had no plan to take the place of the equalization fee proposal of the twice vetoed McNary-Haugen bill defraying the cost of controlling surpluses. He said it would be the duty of the farm board "to blaze the trail" and that consequently it should be empowered with sufficient authority to deal with all the problems that may arise.

session by declaring that the entire highway program can be carried on for the next two years and leave a surplus of $5,342,790 in the road fund without increasing the gasoline tax or without raising the license fees for operators or vehicles.

He insisted that if the license increases incorporated in the motor code which passed the House are finally approved, the road fund, at the end of two years, will have a surplus of $15,174,790.

CITES EXPENDITURES

Lewis charged that, although the Highway Department carried on what it termed a peak construction program during the past two years, the total amount spent by it up to Monday morning was $105,226,764, not including approximately $2,000,000 spent for the new office building. Highway expenses by the end of the biennium on June 1, 1929, he estimated at $110,146,991. There will be a surplus, he predicted, of $14,881,940.

CHECK HELD ACCURATE

"The state treasury is the one place where expenditures can be checked accurately," declared Lewis.

Representative A. R. Wheeler, Forest, who led the fight for the four-cent tax on the floor yesterday, suggested to Lewis that the highway estimates of receipts for the next two years might be as much as $9,000,000 too high.

"I have shown that they are $14,000,000 off in one place," reported Lewis, "if they are off $9,000,000 in another place then I think it is time for the Legislature to investigate the actual truth."

Fred A. Patterson, Beaver, supported the State Treasurer in his contentions:

3 Testify Against Father in Killings

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 3.—(AP.)—The commonwealth closed its case late yesterday against Theodore Fedevich, of Pittsburgh, and the defense will open today. It was intimated that his attorneys will base their case on the alleged insanity of Fedevich. A feature of the commonwealth's case was the appearance on the stand against their father of three children of Fedevich. They were Joseph, 19; James 15, and Jennie, 10. All were eye-witnesses of the killing of Mrs. Caroline Biedron and her son, John, by the father, at Bear Creek, on February 16. Anna Sokolowski, of Pittsburgh, also told of the killing.

BLAST WRECKS TWO HOMES, 6 INJURED

Five persons were recovering today in the Allegheny Valley Hospital, Tarentum, from burns suffered when a gas blast wrecked their home in East Deer Township last night. A sixth was slightly injured. Two families occupied the double frame dwelling owned by the Creighton Coal Company along Bailey Run road.

The victims in the Allegheny Valley Hospital, Tarentum, are Marie Guhl, 16, of Jeannette, burned about the head and arms; Jessie C. Mayhugh, 34, burned on the head, face and hands; Harry Justham, 29, burned on face and hands; Mrs. Anna Papriska, 43, burned on the body; Mary Papriska, 8, burned on hands and legs. Michael Papriska, 45, went home after having his injuries dressed at the hospital.

Paul Papriska, 11, who was sitting on the stairs at the second floor, was hurled through a trapdoor on the side of the house, landing on top of a porch roof and escaping injuries. His sisters, Helen, 5, and Anna, 14, standing on the front porch, were hurled by the force of the explosion a distance of about 10 feet. They fell to the side of a creek flowing in front of the house. Neither were hurt.

The dwelling was occupied by the Mayhugh and Papriska families.

While Justham was in the Papriska home, returning a razor, the gas ignited from a kitchen stove tearing out partitions and wrecking furniture. Mrs. Mayhugh and her daughter, Mildred, 2, were in bed and also escaped injury.

Miss Guhl, a sister of Mrs. Mayhugh, was visiting the home when the explosion occurred.

An investigation today is under way to determine the exact cause of the explosion. V. L. Henry, superintendent of the coal company, said he had complained about escaping gas in the house.

REBELS CAUGHT IN TRAP

Nogales today that he had launched an attack on Naco, Sonora, from the east with the force of Yaqui Indians under his command, but gave no additional details.

The rebel infantry and cavalry forces appeared to be gradually closing in on the Federal entrenchments despite the terrific rifle and machine gun fire of the defenders.

Two federal planes took off at 10:40 flying over the attacking rebel columns and dropping bombs. Earlier a federal plane had bombed the rebel troops further south.

After the raids by a rebel plane from Gen. Fausto Topete's attacking forces, Brig. Gen. Frank S. Cocheu, commander of the United States troops on the border, went into Mexico and conferred with Gen. Topete. Topete announced that no more bombs would fall in American territory.

REBEL DISAFFECTION

NOGALES, Ariz., April 3.—(AP.)—Intimations that trouble has broken out among Generals Francisco R. Manzo, Ramon F. Iturbe and Roberto Cruz, commanders of rebel forces along the west coast, were made at Nogales, Sonora, revolutionary headquarters last night.

Telegrams received at headquarters the last few days from the South have been signed by either Cruz or Iturbe, indicating that Manzo has been deprived of the command of the western forces. At the outset of the revolution, a month ago, he was proclaimed second in command, being responsible only to Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar.

Late press dispatches indicated he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker, Alliance. He went to Arizona about four weeks ago.

ADVOCATE TAX CUT

D. ALAN BURT H. L. KIRK

Mr. Burt, chairman of the West Virginia State Tax Commission, and Mr. Kirk, former Wheeling city manager, advocate a reduction of the Federal tax on earned incomes.

SMOOT WANTS NEXT TAX CUT TO AID WAGE EARNER

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Senator Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and administration spokesman in matters of financial legislation on Capitol Hill, yesterday committed himself to the proposal advanced by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that the next time tax reduction is undertaken attention should be given to lowering the rate on earned incomes.

Smoot would give this relief through increases in the amounts and character of earnings deductable from earned income rather than actually cutting the tax rate.

The Utah Senator, however, is not inclined at this time to advocate tax reduction legislation at the next regular session of Congress in December. Even with a $100,000,00 treasury surplus in prospect for this fiscal year, he thinks it is too early to speculate on the tax situation a year hence.

Smoot asserted he could see no prospect of any material reduction in government xpenditures with the public buildings, flood relief and other projects calling for millions of dollars outlay in progress. He said the appropriations authorized by the last Congress would about consume the surplus in sight.

The uncertainty of what the stock market may do in the next few months, in Smoot's opinion, makes it advisable to wait before laying any plans toward tax revision.

INQUEST JURY HOLDS RAIDER

URGE COMPLETE PROBE

The grand jury should investigate "all conditions surrounding the raid which led to the shooting," the six Aurora business men who composed the jury reported to Coroner Herman J. Vierke.

Their verdict was delivered after hearing sensational testimony, first at the bedside of Deputy Smith in St. Joseph's Hospital, Elgin, and later in the City Hall at Geneva, county seat of Kane County.

DENIED MEDICAL AID

Evidence was presented to show:

That Lilian de King was shot and killed while she was seated in a chair holding a telephone in her hands.

That proper care and medical treatment were denied Mrs. De King after she was shot and that her husband was thrown into a prison cell to recover from a blow on the head with a shotgun.

That the raiders never showed the De Kings their warrant.

That the warrant was obtained on perjured testimony.

That it was the practice in Aurora, where the De Kings lived, to employ snoopers at a "per job" rate.

FRIENDS FIGHT, ONE KILLED

They were friends.

They shared the same home, they told each other of their troubles, their triumphs.

Today one is dead, the other is in jail.

Russell Anderson, 32, the dead man, of Plum Township, who owned a coal mine at Logans Ferry, was delivering coal in Milltown road, Plum Township. With him was his friend, George Dean, 28, a miner.

The truck bogged in the mud. The friends argued and then blows were struck.

Dean grabbed Anderson, detectives were told, knocked Anderson down and kicked him. Dr. J. C. Creighton was called after Anderson collapsed and pronounced him dead.

The autopsy revealed, according to the coroner's office, that Anderson died of acute alcoholic gastro-enteritis and contusions of head and face.

When the result of the autopsy was furnished to the coroner he refused to accept a charge of murder. Dean was held for court on charge of assault and battery following a hearing before Alderman George Anderson and was committed to jail in default of $1,000 bail.

URGE EARLY ACTION BY CONGRESS

WHEELING, W. Va., April 3. — Wheeling manufacturers, business executives and political leaders have registered their hearty indorsement of the movement for the revision downward of the federal tax on earned incomes.

Emphasizing that the present law with its 25 permitted deductions still falls short of making a just and equitable distinction between earned and unearned income, Mayor William J. Steen, of Wheeling, urges that Congress take prompt action by increasing the permitted deduction to 50 per cent.

"It is my opinion that there must be a proper differential in favor of earned incomes," said Mayor Steen. "The adjudication must be made on a fair and impartial basis, but the revision must be downward. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph should be congratulated on its splendid work and it has my sincere indorsement.

KIRK FAVORS RELEASE

Harvey L. Kirk, president of the Wheeling Savings and Loan Association, head of the Kirk Brokerage Company, and former city manager here, made this statement:

"Wage earners represent the very foundation of our government and are entitled to every consideration in matters of taxation.

"Sentiment in favor of readjustment of federal income tax is nation-wide and I am confident that Congress in its special session will be confronted by many petitions from various bodies advocating revision downward. This situation cannot be ignored.

"The average wage earner should be encouraged in the ownership of his home as well as in the proper maintenance of his household in order to become a useful citizen. For centuries taxation has been one of the deterrent factors in the forward progress of all nations. I believe that President Hoover, who is a real business executive, will shape matters so that Secretary A. W. Mellon's recommendations will result in lifting the burden of taxation from the shoulders of professional men and wage earners."

BURT BACKS DRIVE

D. Alan Burt, chairman of the Tax Commission of West Virginia, who has been instrumental in working out a new tax system for the state, is a friend of the movement for a lessened tax on earned incomes. He goes further and also favors reform in the matter of taxing corporations. He said:

"Rates on individuals have been reduced and exemptions have been very greatly increased since the war, but practically no reduction has been made on the rate charged corporations. It seems to me that the first reform needed is a reduction of the rate on corporations. After a proper revision of this tax rate, I should favor a reduction in the rate on earned income as contrasted with unearned income."

PIGEONS TO CARRY CASH, BLACKMAILERS' SCHEME

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—A blackmail plot in which pigeons were to be used, has been revealed by police after failure of an elaborate attempt to trace the birds to their owner.

Several weeks ago Dr. Louis Alofsin, of West Thirty-eighth street, received an express package containing two pigeons. Tied to the neck of one was a silk bag in which was a note threatening him with death unless he placed $10,000 in the bag and released the birds.

At the direction of the police he prepared a note in which he explained to the blackmailers that he had been reluctant to entrust so much money to such uncertain means of transportation. He suggested that an appointment be made so that the money might be turned over personally.

After the pigeons had been fattened to slow their speed, they were taken to the roof of a midtown building and released, with one of the birds carrying the doctor's note. At the same time a score of detectives with binoculars stationed themselves on the roofs of high buildings from Twenty-seventh to Forty-second streets. They watched the pigeons circle and saw them fly across the Hudson River into New Jersey, where they were lost in the haze.

Three days later Dr. Alofsin received a letter, sent from the general postoffice, stating that the chance of arrest was too great under the doctor's plan and containing a threat of death for the doctor's entire family if the $10,000 were not forthcoming. The letter said the pigeons would be expressed to him again.

Since that time police have been guarding the physician's home.

The amendment became effective immediately. Under a graduated system of penalties the dry offender convicted of a fourth offense now is subject to a term of from seven and one-half to 15 years. Gov. RADIO SWINDLE CHARGED BY EVANGELIST

Radio furnishes the brand new 1929 model of the confidence game, according to Pittsburgh detectives who today arrested Chuyler Coleman, alias Wilkes, 36, of Coraopolis, on complaint of John A. Sproul, "Glory Barn" evangelist.

Coleman is charged with being a suspicious person, in having attempted to induce Sproul to effect a radio broadcast hookup with Station WJAS. According to detectives, Coleman represented that he was authorized to sell commercial time on the waves of WJAS.

Sproul said Coleman made glittering promises of success in hooking up the evangelist's small station with WJAS, but inquiry at WJAS headquarters did not bear out Coleman's proposition.

"Meet me in the lobby of the Pittsburgher Hotel and we'll talk it over," suggested Sproul.

Coleman was prompt in his appointment and walked into the arms of Detectives John Crouse and William O'Bryan.

According to the police, Coleman was arrested February 12 for soliciting commercial time for radio station WNBO, of Washington, Pa., and was sentenced to serve 30 days when it was brought out at his hearing that he had accepted money from Washington County business men, but had no connection with the broadcasters.

A quarter million dollars worth of seized liquors was hauled on a train of trucks from two warehouses by county detectives this morning to the courthouse yard where the sleuths began the task of destroying the moonshine with the good liquor.

The liquor had been stored in the Allegheny County warehouse at Parkview and the Allen warehouse, Allen avenue, more than eight months. With the cases in which it was evidence disposed of, Evidence Custodians Theodore Sidenstricker and Leo Dunn were ordered to destroy the liquor.

The estimated value is considered conservative by Chief George W. Murren, since the cargo contains more than 50,000 gallons.

LEGALLY 'DEAD' WAR VET FOUND AFTER 11 YRS.

Roderick Christman Ward, 33, World War veteran, legally declared dead, is very much alive. In fact, he appeared in person to dispel any doubts, it was revealed today in Orphans' Court.

Attorney H. C. Lowe, in behalf of Ward's father, Norval H. Ward, of Glenmawr avenue, filed a petition asking that the court's decree of August 24, 1928, declaring the son dead, be vacated. Judge Edward C. Chalfant set April 10 for a hearing.

According to Attorney Lowe, Ward enlisted in the army at Columbus, O., in September, 1918. He was given an honorable discharge June 16, 1919, giving the government his address as Monroe Falls, O. He failed to return home and his family did not hear from him.

A long search for Ward failed and he finally was declared dead on petition of his father to settle the son's estate, $900 in a bank in Washington, Pa. Recently, the Prudential Life Insurance Company, in which he had a $119 policy, found him in Willard, O., working as a railroader, Lowe said.

Two weeks ago, the long-sought son returned home, for the first time in 11 years, greeted his parents and old time friends, and then went back to Willard to his employment.

BOYS' AIRPLANE CONTEST PRIZES ARE ANNOUNCED

The Aeronautic Corporation of Pittsburgh, managing the national balloon races and the aeronautic exhibition at Pitt Stadium May 2, 3 and 4, announced today a list of prizes for the boys' model airplane contest to be held Friday, May 3, in connection with the races.

The first prize winner in each of the three classes will be sent to Detroit to compete in the national contest. A special prize to a boy, to be selected by the committee, will be given an eight-hour flying course by the Mayer Aircraft Corporation of Pittsburgh. This will be a grand prize and the boy most fitted, will be selected by the contest committee.

A second grand prize of a full airplane mechanics course will be donated by the Pittsburgh School of Aviation and the school also will give four ground school courses as prizes. Clifford Ball, air mail contractor between Pittsburgh and Cleveland, will give four round trip flights on the mail line to Cleveland.

In addition, six prizes of model contest equipment will be given.

THIS is the fourth and concluding installment of Part One of Mr. Coolidge's Own Story, which was published in April Cosmopolitan. These articles are fully copyrighted by the International Magazine Company, Inc., and reproduction of any part of them is forbidden.

In Part Two of Mr. Coolidge's Own Story, which will appear in the May issue of Cosmopolitan, on sale the latter part of this week, the former President tells why he did not "choose to run," why he does not believe in a third term, and what he did to prevent his nomination in Kansas City.

Part two of Mr. Coolidge's article will be published in the Sun-Telegraph at a later date.

their choice on a great question of that kind without the influence that could be exerted by a President in office.

After the favorable reception which was given to my message, I stated at the Gridiron dinner that I should be willing to be a candidate. The convention nominated me the next June by a vote which was practically unanimous.

With the exception of the occasion of my notification, I did not attend any partisan meetings or make any purely political speeches during the campaign. I spoke several times at the dedication of a monument, the observance of the anniversary of an historical event, at a meeting of some commercial body or before some religious gathering. The campaign was magnificiently managed by William M. Butler, and as it progressed the final result became more and more apparent.

Son Capable

"Was Boy of Much Promise, Scholarly Mind."

My own participation was delayed by the death of my son Calvin, which occurred on the seventh of July. He was a boy of much promise, proficient in his studies, with a scholarly mind, who had just turned sixteen.

He had a remarkable insight into things.

The day I became President he had just started to work in a tobacco field. When one of his fellow laborers said to him, "If my father was President I would not work in a tobacco field," Calvin replied, "If my father were your father, you would."

After he was gone someone sent us a letter he had written about the same time to a young man who had congratulated him on being the first boy in the land. To this he had replied that he had done nothing, and so did not merit the title, which should go to "some boy who had distinguished himself through his own actions."

Price in Grief

"With Him Went Power, Glory of Presidency."

We do not know what might have happened to him under other circumstances, but if I had not been President he would not have raised a blister on his toe, which resulted in blood poisoning, playing lawn tennis in the South Grounds.

In his suffering he was asking me to make him well. I could not.

When he went the power and the glory of the Presidency went with him.

The ways of Providence are often beyond our understanding. It seemed to me that the world had need of the work that it was probable he could do.

I do not know why such a price was exacted for occupying the White House.

Office Costly

Duties of Presidency Bar Way to Dying Father.

Sustained by the great outpouring of sympathy from all over the nation, my wife and I bowed to the Supreme Will and with such courage as we had went on in the discharge of our duties.

In less than two years my father followed him.

At his advanced age he had overtaxed his strength, receiving the thousands of visitors who went to my old home at Plymouth. It was all a great satisfaction to him, and he would not have had it otherwise.

When I was there and visitors were kept from the house for a short period, he would be really distressed in the thought that they could not see all they wished, and he would go out where they were himself and mingled among them.

I knew for some weeks that he was passing his last days. I sent to bring him to Washington, but he clung to his old house.

It was a sore trial not to be able to be with him, but I had to leave him where he most wished to be. When his doctors advised me that he could survive only a short time, I started to visit him, but he sank to rest while I was on my way.

For my personal contact with him during his last months I had to resort to the poor substitute of the telephone.

It costs a great deal to be President.

Gentlemen:

This evening I conducted a "concealed name" cigarette test among 111 diners at the William Penn.

The four leading cigarette brands were used, and paper "masks" were wrapped around the brand names, so that neither habit nor prejudice could influence the results.

Our guests were simply asked to smoke and compare the four cigarettes and say which one most appealed to the taste.

I can vouch for the fact that it was a perfectly impartial test.

BRAND		FIRST CHOICES
OLD GOLD		67
"BRAND X"		12
"BRAND Y"		15
"BRAND Z"		17
	Total	111

Very truly yours,
C. H. Douglas,
Maître d'hotel

AT THE WILLIAM PENN . . . as at many other famous hotels, this test was made to determine which cigarette is most appealing to the taste. The four leading brands were smoked with paper "masks" over the names, so that neither habit nor brand-prejudice could influence the results.

Your Baby Needs the "Sun Vitamin"

EVERYWHERE you're hearing about sunshine . . . how healthful it is . . . how children need the vitamin "D" of sunshine to grow strong, healthy bones; sound, hard teeth.

Now Professor Harry Steenbock, famed scientist, has found a way to bring you this sun vitamin by irradiating the popular hot cereal, Quaker Farina, with ultra-violet light.

Children in particular need Vitamin "D," say authorities, in order to have proper physical development. Appetite is good when the child gets sunlight. On the other hand health suffers when baby or child lacks the sun vitamin. Bones and teeth fail to develop as they should. The child catches cold easily. Food fails to give the nourishment it should.

So difficult is it to get plenty of sunshine, that 90% of city children are said to show signs of "sunshine starvation." Thus there has been a world wide search by nutritionists for other ways to gain this bone-building vitamin "D."

The vitamin which children gain from sunshine is now available in a hot cereal also Recently Professor Harry Steenbock found a way. The delicious hot breakfast food, Quaker Farina, is passed under ultra-violet light by the Steenbock Process. Thus it gains the precious sun vitamin . . . and can pass it on to you.

Quaker Farina is the creamy white heart of the wheat, an energy food long recommended by physicians as the first solid food for infants. Now it offers, in addition, the Vitamin "D" of sunshine—the only hot breakfast food in the world to have this health advantage! Ask grocer. The price remains the same. Note: All Quaker Farina is irradiated although some packages are not so marked.

COL. HOUSE REFUSES GAS, WATCHES OWN OPERATION

NEW YORK, April 3.—(INS.)—Col. Edward M. House, adviser to President Wilson during the late war, today was recovering from a serious operation performed here yesterday.

Fifteen minutes before the operation was completed the effects of a spanila anaesthesia wore off and doctors suggested that Col. House take gas.

"No. I will stand it. I do not care to take gas," he replied.

He chatted with the doctors and attendants during the surgical work, the removal of a tumor. Not being blindfolded, Col. House was able to watch part of the work of the surgeons.

Mrs House and her two daughters, Mrs. Randolph Tucker, of Boston, and Mrs Hugh Auchincloss, waited in an outer room until they were advised that the operation had been successfully completed and that there was no immediate danger.

Film Robs Teeth of Dazzling Whiteness

WINNING smiles depend on glorious white teeth . . . and teeth like that depend on freedom from what dentists know as film. Film is a stubborn, clinging coating that ordinary ways fail to remove successfully. It is the chief source of serious tooth and gum disorders.

Film—how it destroys

You can feel film with your tongue—a slippery, viscous coating. It clings to teeth and gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs stains from food and smoking to turn white teeth "off color" and cloud their brilliance.

Film hardens into tartar. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, plus tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

To remove film dentists prescribe the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film so that brushing easily removes it in gentle safety.

In a few days teeth grow whiter and begin to sparkle. They continue to improve for months. Start today. Get Pepsodent at any drug counter or write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

CURB ON DOPE PRODUCTION TO LEGAL NEEDS, U. S. AIM

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Restrict the manufacture of drugs in the United States to the barest needs of medicine and science. This will be one of the principal goals not only of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, but of members of Congress who are leading the fight to smash the dope evil.

It is also in line with the suggestion of Edward H. Charette, pharmacist, of Stockton, Cal., who, in a letter to William Randolph Hearst, declared the government should attack the problem by limiting the manufacture of drugs to the legitimate requirements of reputable physicians and hospitals.

OPIUM LIMIT EXCEEDED

Recent disclosures have shown that the legal consumption of opium in America exceeds by one-third the maximum medical requirement set by the League of Nations. If the federal government had followed the league's quota, the importation of opium this year would have been reduced from 70 tons to approximately 50. Thus American manufacturers could have produced only five tons of morphine, codeine and other dangerous alkaloids of opium. Such a quantity, eminent authorities agree, would provide an ample supply of drugs for medical purposes.

As a corollary to restricted manufacture, a suggestion has been made that the government provide a stricter method to register persons to prescribe dope.

DANGER IN SYSTEM SEEN

There are at present 315,[illegible] persons registered under the Harrison narcotic law to prescribe, sell or manufacture drugs. Of these, 1[illegible],000 are physicians, dentists and related professional classes. Existing regulations give them almost unlimited discretion in prescribing drugs to patients. Such a state of affairs, it is held, results in an increasing, rather than a decreasing, demand for drugs in the so-called legitimate channels.

The dangers of permitting such an army of persons to handle drugs is apparent. For instance, an addict may go to a physician with a plea to be cured of the drug habit. He tells the doctor that he uses 20 grains of morphine a day. In reality, the addict may be using only three grains or less a day.

CHEATING EASY

In apparent good faith, the physician employs the so-called withdrawal method to effect a cure. By this means the addict may be given the maximum dosage he says he has been using, but the amounts are decreased progressively over a long period of time. The law permits the doctor to do this, no limit being set on prescriptions.

But, in the case outlined, and it is not an isolate one, the addict may secure 20 grains whereas in reality he needs but three. Thus, the supposed patient obtains an excessive quantity of morphine which he can sell in the illicit traffic. By using different names and going to different doctors with the same plea to be cured, the addict's supply thus may be practically unlimited.

Under present law, the federal government has found it difficult to break up an illicit traffic of this character.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services. We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed and they seldom have a new opportunity which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income as distinguished from earnings on capital, and since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on earned incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation to our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

St. Louis Re-elects Republican Mayor

ST. LOUIS, April 3.—(AP.)—Victor J. Miller, Republican, was re-elected Mayor of St. Louis in yesterday's municipal election by a majority of 6,991 votes over Lawrence McDaniel his Democratic opponent. Miller was chosen for a second four-year term. Partial returns indicated that the Republicans had elected an entire slate of 14 city aldermen.

Club at Clarksburg Destroyed by Fire

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 3.—(AP)—The Willow Beach Club, an amusement place on the outskirts of the city, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The owner, John Raikes, and Carl Wilson were burned slightly as they fled from the building. Radio Broadcasting Station WBQJ, recently acquired by the Morgantown Post, formerly was housed in the structure. The loss was estimated at $30,000.

3 JAILED, CACHE OF ROTHSTEIN DOPE SOUGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Known to be secreted in San Francisco as supply base for local operatives of the Rothstein narcotic ring, a cache of 5,000 ounces of narcotics valued at more than $250,000 today was being sought by federal authorities here.

Direct information regarding the existence of the cache is in the hands of Chief Narcotic Agent Harry V. Williamson, he announced, although the location of the cache remained in doubt.

This supply base, according to Williamson, has been under the direct control of Jack Sieman, intimate friend of the late Arnold Rothstein, slain New York racketeer and narcotic king, and has been opened once daily at 6 p. m. for the purpose of "filling deliveries."

$50,000 SUPPLY SEIZED

Sieman, Mario Balisteri and Phil Cohen were arrested by federal operatives Monday night, following a $50,000 transaction in narcotics in which dope valued in that amount was confiscated at the point of revolvers.

Developments followed rapidly on the heels of the arrest, outstanding among these being:

Revelation of the $250,000 supply base cache.

Declaration by Williamson that the arrested trio had attempted to bribe the under-cover agent in the case after they had failed in an attempt to shoot their way to freedom, and failing again in this had threatened to "get him and get him good."

Charges by the federal authorities that Cohen is a New York gunman brought from that city to protect "deliveries" in San Francisco.

QUICKLY GETS BAIL

Sieman quickly raised $10,000 bail ordered by United States Commissioner Arthur Fisk, while Cohen and Balisteri remained in jail pending arraignment before the commissioner this morning, when Sieman will also be arraigned.

Government officials charged that Joe Plameri and Joe Cantanzero, arrested several days ago as peddlers, are connected with the Rothstein ring.

The accused trio retained Attorneys Clifford Russell of Sacramento and John Taaffe of San Francisco as counsel to defend them.

Weather Conditions.

The skies are clear over the Atlantic Coast states, and over most of the Plains states and the lake region, but there is an area of cloudy weather in the Central and Lower Mississippi Valley states, with local thunderstorm conditions in Missouri, Arkansas, Western Tennessee and Southern Illinois.

There was a change to warmer weather over practically the entire country, and there are no freezing temperatures this morning except in the St. Lawrence valley, north of the lakes, and in North Dakota.

Davis Saves Girl Immigrant Long Wait on Island

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis rescued Mary Callaghan, an Irish immigrant, from Ellis Island today.

In Pittsburgh between trains, Davis read of Mary saluting the Statue of Liberty as her boat steamed up the New York Bay yesterday. As she raised her right hand Mary's passport and $60 whirled into the ocean. Immigrant authorities ruled Mary should remain on Ellis Island until a duplicate arrived from Ireland.

"Let her in," was the gist of the message Secretary Davis, touched by the girl's patriotism, wired to subordinates.

OFFICER'S SHOT HITS E. E. STORE

Patrolman Robert Komal, chasing a fleeing cook, fired a shot that crashed through the transom of the Erskine-Campbell drug store at 132 South Highland avenue last night.

The cook was James J. Opland, Komal testified in Frankstown Avenue Police Court today. Opland and another cook, Henry Luba, both employed by the Sander store, had been arguing at Penn and Highland avenues. Opland flashed a razor, but fled when the policeman arrived, Komal testified.

Opland denied owning the razor and was fined $50. Luba was discharged.

TWO RED CROSS WORKERS GO TO ALABAMA

Two Pittsburgh Red Cross workers were dispatched to the flooded district of Alabama today on instructions from the National Red Cross headquarters at Washington. Miss Agnes Hamilton, of 5912 Margaretta street, and Miss Charlotte Johnston, of 526 South Lang avenue, who served in the Florida relief work last year, and are connected with the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Red Cross, left early today for Montgomery, Ala.

Reports from Washington indicate that emergency relief in the devastated regions of Alabama and other southern states will require a mobilization of the Red Cross forces. Mrs. Frances Speer Reed, executive secretary of the Pittsburgh chapter, who accompanied the workers to the Pennsylvania Station, said that the Red Cross could respond if additional workers were found necessary. Checks received by residents of Pittsburgh for the aid of the southern flood sufferers are forwarded to the Washington headquarters.

WAR ON PARK DOGS CURBED

The "shoot to kill" order aimed at stray dogs, of Paul B. Riis, director of county parks has evoked a letter of complaint from the Western Pennsylvania Hunting Dogs Association. Riis has been advised by the county commissioners to restrict his edict to unlicensed dogs.

The letter from the organization, read at the county commissioners' meeting yesterday, pointed out that the order of the director had resulted in shooting of several valuable dogs. It suggested that the parks director determine whether dogs were licensed or not before executing them.

Riss told the commissioners that stray mongrels had been frightening deer and other animals in the park, and that this was the reason for the order.

Negro Association Plans Fund Drive

LAWYER CALLS DRY LAW OUR 'WORST CALAMITY'

Harold A. Contest, lawyer, of 120 Broadway, former assistant United States attorney in New York, was asked by the Hearst $25,000 Temperance Prize Contest for his views on prohibition. He smiled and [illegible]

"I drink liquor in small quantities and enjoy it, but I have nothing against prohibition on that score, for before the law was passed I stocked my cellar with all the pre-war liquors I shall need.

"From the purely selfish point of view, then, I should be in favor of prohibition, because, as a practicing attorney, I have made some rather good fees out of cases rising from the prohibition laws.

'WORST CALAMITY'

"But as a citizen I feel that prohibition is the worst calamity that ever befell this country; it has made us a nation of lawbreakers and hypocrites. Impossible to enforce because it lacks the backing of public sentiment, it has bred a disrespect that is not confined to itself, but has spread to other and better laws as well.

"Before prohibition I was an assistant United States attorney. In those days it was a pleasure to practice in the Federal Court. It was a place of dignity and was devoted to only the most important cases. Today prohibition has made it a glorified police court, cluttered with petty liquor cases that crowd serious matters off its calendar.

"I am not a religious fanatic, but I do believe that there is a sort of a divine scheme of things and that that scheme included the fruit of the vine. Down through the ages men have had their wine with their food or to refresh them after their work, and they were healthier and happier because of it.

STRONGER DRINKS

"But Americans have turned to new-fangled and high-powered drinks. Prohibition has stimulated the use of these because they are less bulky and more adaptable to illicit transportation. Enough gin can be carried in a hip-flask to make one, or perhaps two persons drunk. Wine and beer, the more natural drinks, are less popular because they are slower in producing 'results.'

"The working man, deprived of his wholesome glass of beer on his way home from work, and seeing the wealthy still gulping their cocktails, feels that prohibition is a rich man's law. Thus prohibition sharpens the class struggle.

"I am in favor of a reversion to the natural. Let us find a way to return to our simple fermented wines and beers and the bootleg traffic in distilled spirits will die out. No overnight, perhaps, for we will have to break the habits we have gained in 10 years of 'prohibition.'

"As for the Jones law, I would be opposed to it even if I favored prohibition, for it seeks to put an essentially petty offense in a class with manslaughter, robbery and burglary."

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

VETERAN CITY POLICEMAN IS HONORED AT BANQUET

Patrolman Peter A. Connors, member of the city police force for 18 years, was honored at a testimonial banquet in Kaufmann's last night on the occasion of his forty-first birthday.

For many years on the homicide squad of city detectives, Connors is at present patrolling a beat on Mt. Washington. During the time he has served as a policeman, he has held virtually every job in the department.

The Rev. Ralph L. Hays of St. Catherine's Catholic Church, Beechview, pronounced the invocation.

Benjamin L. Anderson was toastmaster and among the speakers were James F. Malone, president of City Council; Magistrate A. D. Brandon of Morals Court; District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern.

Patrolman Connors made a response in which he thanked those present for their interest.

MRS. REVELL CONVICTED, SPURNED BY DAUGHTER

NEW YORK, April 3.—(INS.)—A mother today faces the possibility of going to jail, largely because of the testimony in court of her 16-year-old daughter.

The mother, Mrs. Marian C. Revell, former wife of Fleming H. Revell, Jr., wealthy publisher of religious books, was found guilty by the magistrate of bothering her ex-husband at his father's home the night of March 21. With her was William Kiefer, 24, a chauffeur, who was named co-respondent in the divorce granted Revell a few weeks ago. Both will be sentenced Friday.

Miss Muriel Revel, the daughter, slim and self-possessed, took the stand and helped prove her mother guilty. She told how her mother called, as her father was about to go out to dinner. She said her mother uttered an oath, leaped at Revell, and punched him viciously before he subdued her.

Mrs. Revell cried as her daughter testified. The daughter had been given to the sole custody of the father in the interlocutory decree.

The mother took the stand and said she went to the house with the one desire of seeing her daughter, whom, she declared she "cannot live without."

"I would walk the streets all night just to look at her once again," she cried, amidst the tense silence of the courtroom.

Miss Revell, when she left the stand, did not as much as glance in her mother's direction.

The mother was crushed.

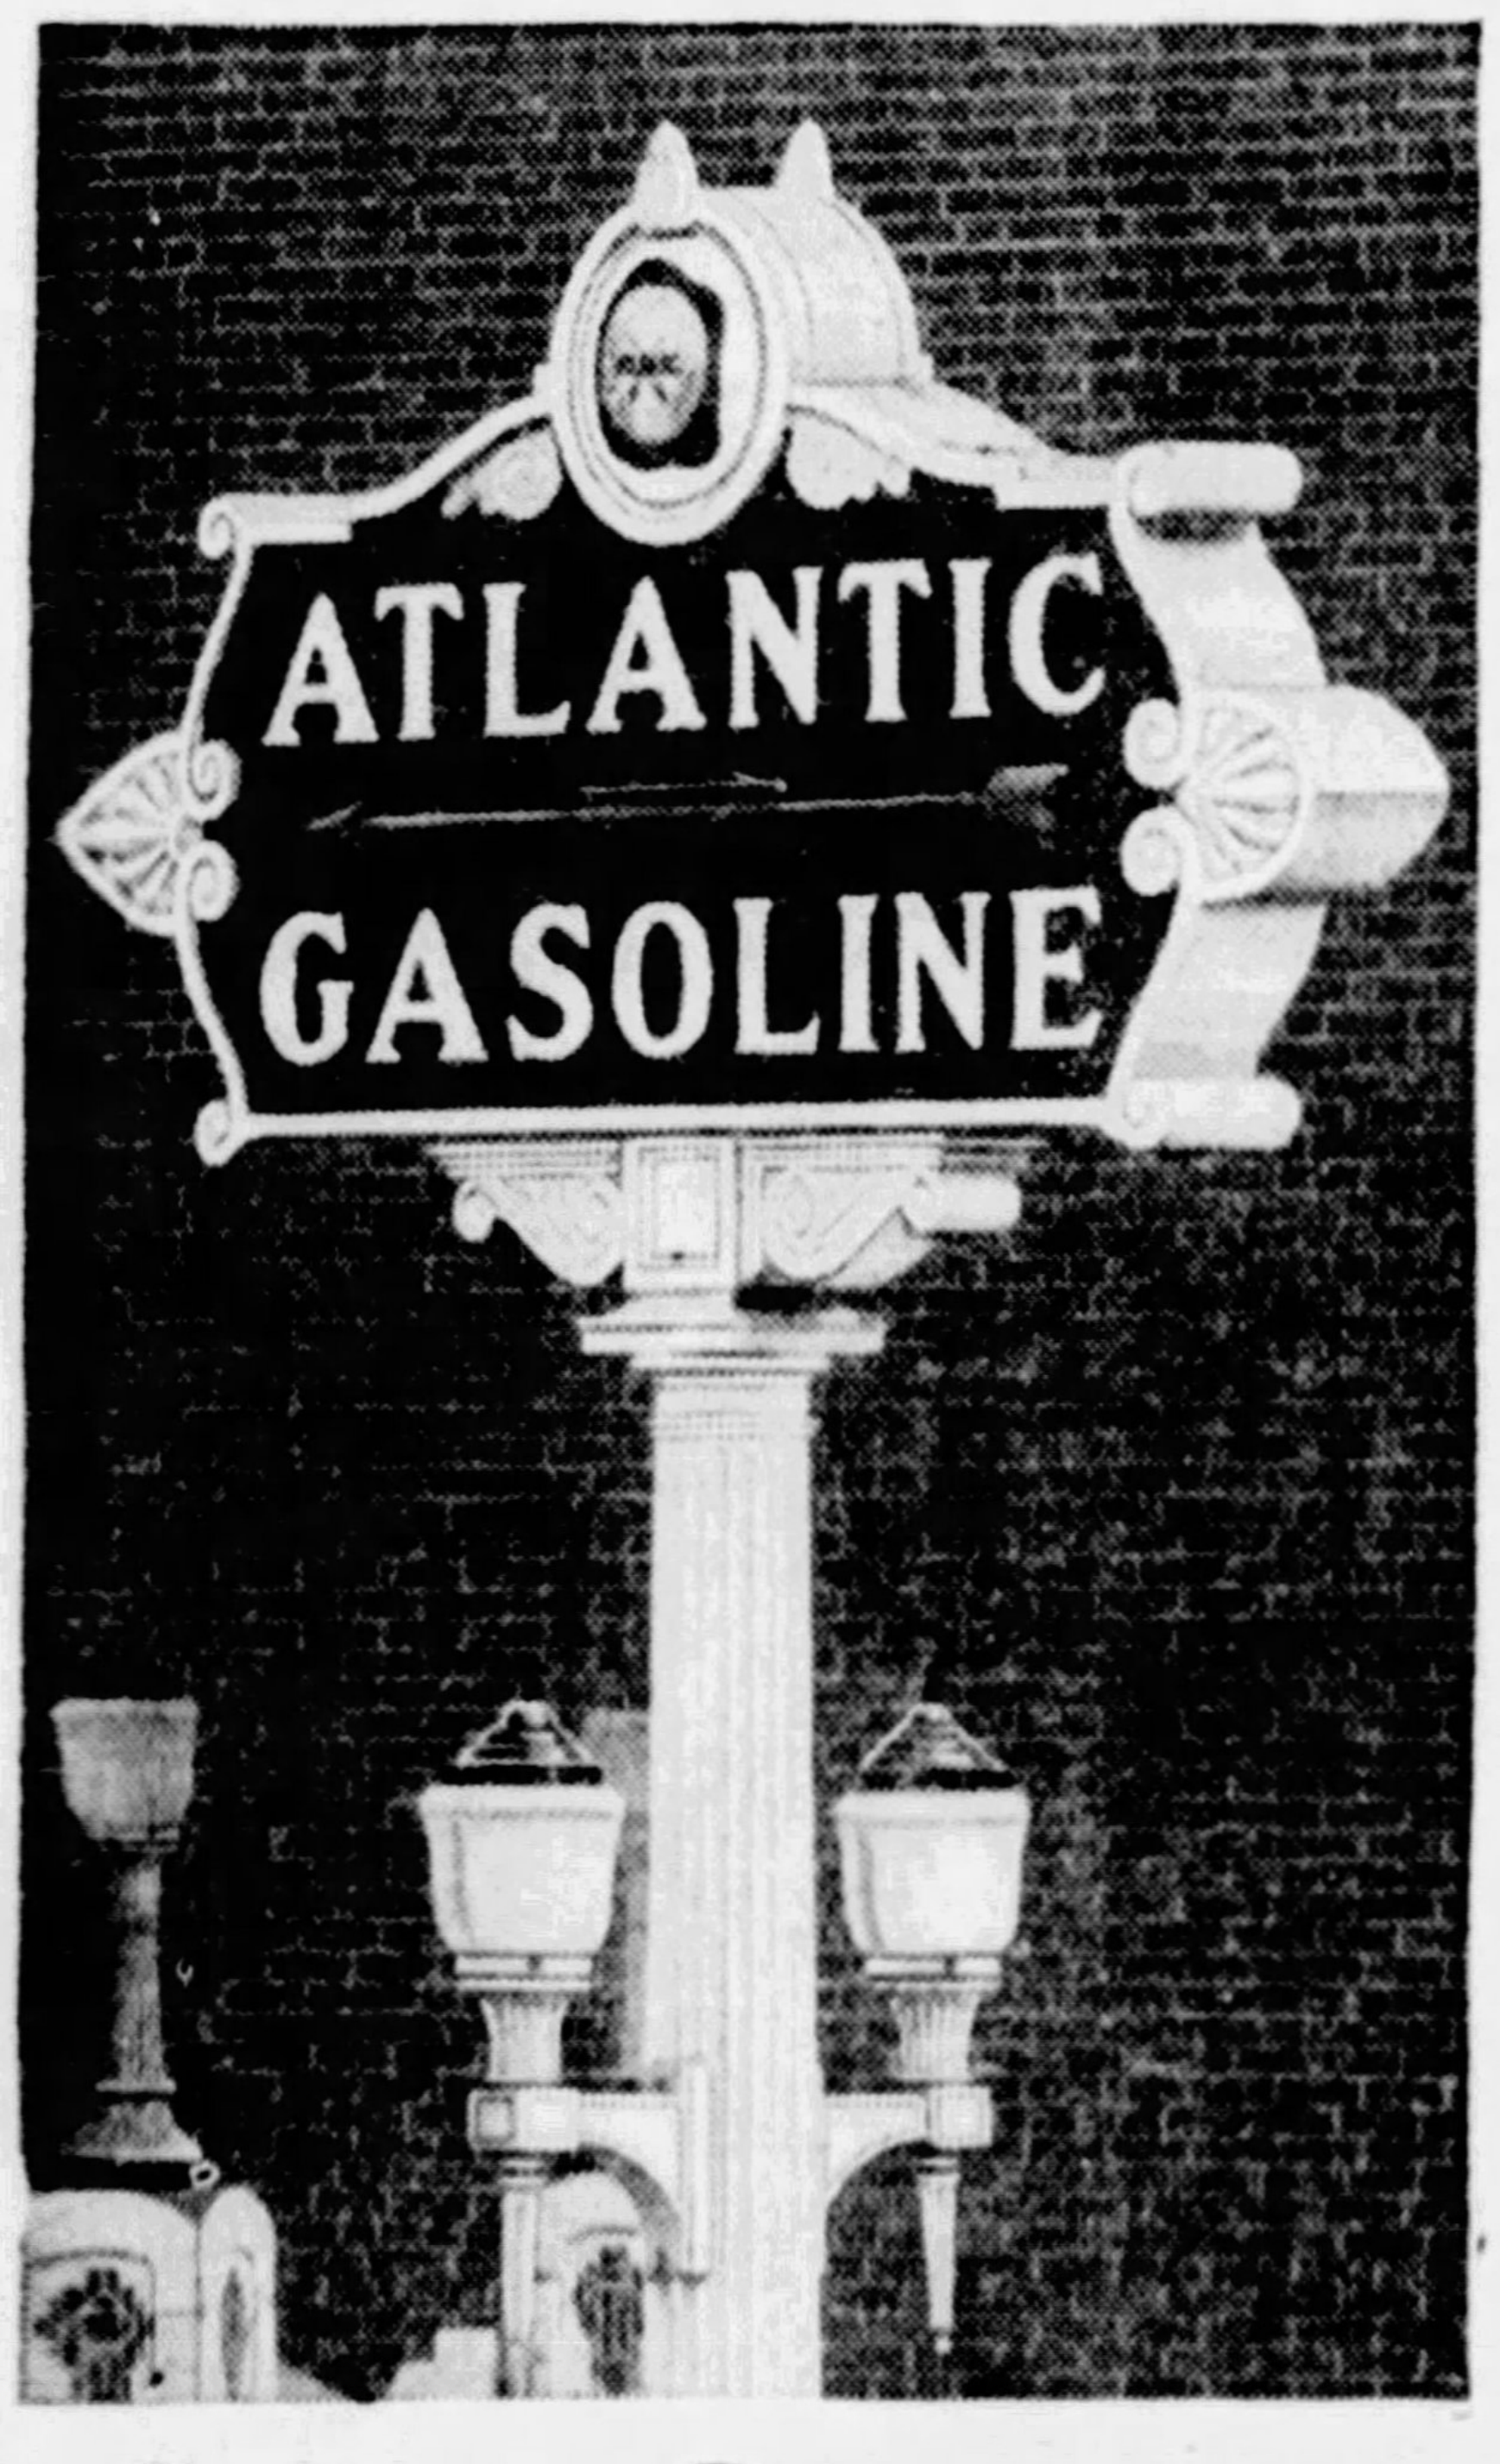
from the professional buyer when choosing a motor fuel



EXTRA-POWERED
NO EXTRA COST

"ENTER our contract for the year for fifty thousand gallons of gasoline—to be delivered as needed." . . . That's the sort of thing you hear in the offices of large truck-fleet and bus-line operators.

Such orders are never placed at random. But under highly competitive conditions. And only after cold, calculating investigation on the part of the purchasing agent. For it's more than gasoline he's buying. It's wheel-driving power. Time-saving pick-up. High mileage. Unfailing motor performance. Dependable and convenient sources of supply.

. . . After all, are not these the same things you look for when you need five or ten gallons for your own car? Isn't it a good idea to follow the choice of the professional buyers? They select ATLANTIC GASOLINE—by an overwhelming margin over every other kind of motor fuel.

In every way that gasoline affects your pleasure, convenience and pocketbook, Atlantic Gasoline is by all odds the most complete answer to your needs.

No other motor fuel even closely approaches it in the combination of quality, dependability and ready obtainability.

None fits modern motors and present-day driving conditions more thoroughly.

It is amazingly easy starting. And quick on pick-up.

It burns completely and cleanly. . . . There is no excessive waste. And practically no carbon.

You get all these features in a single motor fuel when you use Atlantic Gasoline. You get more! You get absolute assurance of uniformly high quality. . . . One of the oldest and most progressive refining organizations guarantees you that.

Finally, you get real service—you know you can get Atlantic most anywhere, at any time.

All at no extra cost!

ATLANTIC Paraffine Base MOTOR OIL

Paraffine base, new process and the far-famed Atlantic refining skill make Atlantic Motor Oil the most efficient and longest lasting motor lubricant made.

LINDY AVOIDS WAR ZONE ON FLIGHT TO VISIT ANNE

MEXICO CITY, April 3.—(AP.)—Mexico's internal strife has cast its shadow over the romance of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Miss Anne Morrow. It is a different Mexico which the Colonel is visiting now, and both he and his fiancee seem aware of the change.

Some profess even to discern a certain quiet sadness in the demeanor of both because of the travail which the country which gave them their romance and which has been so friendly to them is undergoing.

In flying here yesterday from California, Col. Lindbergh went many hundreds of miles out of his way to escape passing over war-torn Southern Chihuahua and possibly being mistaken and shot down for a rebel aviator. Instead of taking the short cut from El Paso to Mexico City he flew the length of the Rio Grande to Brownsville, Tex., so as to traverse the comparatively peaceful area of Tamaulipas.

WEARS PARACHUTE

But even then he took precautions against mishap growing out of the disturbed condition of the country. When he arrived here he wore a parachute over his gray business suit, the first time he has been seen with one in Mexico City.

Fifteen months ago when he landed at Valbuena Field after his non-stop flight from Washington, a hundred thousand Mexicans, cheering and almost frantic in their enthusiasm, greeted him. Yesterday when he brought his Curtiss-Falcon biplane down on the same level stretch he found only a score or so of field attendants.

The visits to the Morrow country home at Cuernavaca, which were a feature of the Colonel's former trips here, it is understood, will not be repeated during this visit. Dissenting elements have been particularly active in the state of Morelos, where Cuernavaca is located.

"HELLO! HOW ARE YOU?"

When Col. Lindbergh arrived here yesterday he flew several miles out of his way to dip low over the American embassy and inform Miss Anne he had arrived.

Several minutes elapsed after the landing at Valbuena Field before Miss Morrow appeared with her family. Col. Lindbergh had attempted to obtain a taxi and was about to accept the offer of a lift in a government car when they drove up.

"Hello," said Anne.

"How are you?" responded the colonel.

There were smiles and handshakes all around before the party entered an automobile to drive to the embassy. Mrs. Morrow, Anne's sister Elizabeth, and Col. Alexander McNab, attache at the embassy who has just returned from the Chihuahua front, accompanied them.

Embassy officials said they did not know how long he would remain. It was understood, however, the visit might last a week and that during it there might be a formal announcement of a wedding date and place.

When next you visit one of the world's fine homes . . . Look for the MASON & HAMLIN

Because they are made slowly, carefully, lovingly, only a few Mason & Hamlin pianos can be given to the world each year.

Generally they find their way to homes of people who know the world and its prizes, people with the taste to choose the fine things of life and the means to afford them.

And so, in the mansions of Fifth Avenue, the castles of Newport, the winter palaces of Palm Beach, the piano is usually a Mason & Hamlin.

People who own one, often point to it with the same proud wave of the hand with which they might indicate a Whistler hanging upon the walls or a statuette by Cellini.

And they are right. For the Mason & Hamlin is the finest (and also the costliest) piano in the world.

We should be glad to have you visit us and see for yourself that both in the richness of its music and the beauty of its case, the Mason & Hamlin stands quite alone.

Mason & Hamlin Model A (ebonized) is $1650

Only $165 need be paid now

2 years to pay the balance; your old piano taken in exchange, and a generous allowance made. With the Ampico, the supreme reproducing instrument, Model A in mahogany is $3150. A nominal charge for transportation.

Tales and Pictures of Hollywood Activities and Local Stage Notes

ADVANCE TRAILERS BECOME DIGNIFIED SINCE TALKIE ADVENT

By DOROTHY HERZOG.

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 3.

WITH spring and umbrellas officially clocked in, the movies loom 101 per cent all talky. Gone are the old-fashioned 100 per cent days. Companies now spend fulsome hundreds or even repeat thousands making talky "trailers," a trailer being an advance screen nibble encouraging an audience to come see the picture when it reaches the local theater on the advertised date.

Trailers used to be a cinch. A snip of film here. A snip there. Put it all together and it spelt come-next-week. The talkies have even dignified this sales medium, via expense—and dignity in the flicks is customarily achieved by money. The more cash the more spectacular sets; cabaret scenes, boudoirs never seen on land or brook; ball rooms glorifying the extravagant, and so on, far into the eighth reel—regardless of story.

All of which gets us nowhere and means less.

TAKING IT ON THE GO: To see Leo Carrillo and Elise Bartlett Schildkraut in a local revival of "The Bad Man." Back stage. Fascinating atmosphere. It has the lure of a newspaper city room, condensed in terms of personality. Kenneth Thomson—the Jock Warner of "Broadway Melody"—also prominent in the cast. Only Thomson leaves to resume picture making pronto. Carrillo has an old Chinese man Friday—who formerly worked with the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus. Wing dangled from his pigtail in the days of his youth, a stunt which always made me pop. Only after all these years, Wing explained in rapid, broken English, the stunt never hurt. Woeful disillusion . . . he went on to show how he "built" his pigtail to be sure it didn't hurt! Leo mentioned something about airplanes to him. Wing, parchment-faced, with pointed, brown teeth, broke into beaming praise of the airship. He sees it as a way to get to Heaven and have a good time doing it.

Kenneth Thomson

LATER to ye Roosevelt hostelry where college youngsters from the University of Southern California packed the floor, excitement there last eve a-plenty. The Pat Rooneys celebrated their silver wedding anniversary and Pat, III, his twentieth birthday. Ann Pennington, Charlie King and George Sidney aided and abetted in chucking the party with a gang drifting in and out. Much merriment. The Rooneys are off for the East today to resume voodvil-ing.

Ruth Elder

Ruth Elder, first woman to attempt flying the Atlantic, and now picture-making in Hollywood, has written a series of aeronautic articles exclusively for this colyum. In the event anyone cares to communicate with Miss Elder, address her care J. E. Granger, Clover Field, Santa Monica, California. Ruth volunteered to answer all inquiries. The first of the series follows:

CAN WOMEN FLY?

Dorothy Herzog has asked me to write a few short articles giving my personal opinion on the subject: Can Women Fly? Yes, most emphatically—Yes.

To be sure, there are several things which stand in the way of successful flying by the average woman, but none that cannot be overcome. Temperament, emotionalism, impatience, vanity, fear, things that our sex have an abundance of, all play their part. They must and can be mastered.

"RHEUMATISM GONE; THANKS TO KONJOLA"

"I Shall Never Be Without This New Medicine," Declares Former Sufferer.

What a welcome remedy Konjola, the new and different medicine, has proven to be in countless lives where suffering and pain so long held sway. The records of this master medicine are filled with the happy indorsements from men and women who had abandoned hope of recovery before they put Konjola to the test. Konjola is a medicine that comes to all who suffer, not with promises, but with an array of absolute proof of its merits. Those who would know what Konjola means to seekers after health should meet the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. He is here merely to point out case after case in which this master medicine has triumphed after all else has failed. It is his mission to reveal exactly what Konjola does. This modern compound, supreme in ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and the arch-foe of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness, contains 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs of known medicinal value. All of these elements do directly to the ailing organs, cleansing and invigorating them. They enrich the blood and drive impurities and poisons from the system. Then, and only then, is there room for new, abundant and glorious health. After all, the triumphs of Konjola are what mean most to all who suffer. Consider then what Konjola did for Miss Margeret Davies, 29 East Lacock Street, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"My rheumatism is gone, thanks to Konjola, and I shall never be without this splendid medicine. For six years I suffered untold miseries with that disease. Great, corded knots formed on the back of my hands and finger joints. They became so stiff I could hardly use them. The rheumatism also settled in my ankles, which became swollen and sore. Often it was hard, almost impossible, to remove or put on my shoes. My kidneys started acting up, bringing on back aches. With this continual suffering I found it hard to sleep at night. Nervousness resulted and loss of appetite made me weak and rundown in general.

"I had read a number of indorsements of Konjola, and had heard many talk about this new medicine, but somehow I had the idea that nothing would help me. Finally, however, a neighbor suggested that I give Konjola a trial. I had little hope but knew that I could not go on suffering as I was. Well, the surprise this medicine gave me I shall never forget. I had taken it only a few days before I knew that I was headed in the right direction. Gradually my pains became less and less severe, and in three weeks every sign of rheumatism had left me. Today I am as a new person, enjoying life and looking forward to each new day. My kidneys are greatly improved and my appetite has increased. Konjola was surely a life-saver for me. Konjola has certainly won a lifelong friend in me."

Such is the record that Konjola makes wherever it is known. This master compound goes to the root of things; attacks the disease at the source—that is the secret of Konjola's astounding success.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Thompson Cements Chicago Council Grip

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—The voters of 11 Chicago wards cemented the City Council more firmly in Mayor William Hale Thompson's grip yesterday, electing nine of his adherents to aldermanic seats. Two administration candidates met defeat.

The run-off election attracted only 60 per cent of Chicago's most mild mannered, the slugging of a policeman being the sole untoward incident. The additions to his City Council contingent gave Mayor Thompson a working majority of 35 to 40 of the 50 aldermen.

COUNCIL REJECTS BILL FOR CITY POLICEWOMEN

Council has tabled, without comment, an ordinance creating a division of policewomen, with an inspectress and 11 patrolwomen, as a branch of the Department of Public Safety.

Creation of the division was urged months ago when a delegation of women active in civic affairs appeared before Council and introduced policewomen executives of Detroit and Cleveland.

Council later asked the law department to present an ordinance creating the new division. When the measure was considered in committee about a month ago some of the members objected to limiting candidates for the various jobs to those who had been trained in social service work. The councilmen believed that restriction constituted class legislation.

A report requested from the Law Department was submitted to Council stating that its members had legal power to pass an ordinance embodying the restriction.

Man Dreading Liquor Trial Ends His Life

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 3.—(AP.)—Rather than face trial on a charge of selling liquor, C. F. Smith, of Mansfield, committted suicide yesterday by cutting his throat, an hour before his trial was to have been held.

Smith, who was custodian of the Mansfield Town Hall, was arrested Saturday night while in the act of selling liquor to patrons of a village dance.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

Mitchell Exonerates Ex-Atlanta Warden

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Reports from Atlanta that the Department of Justice planned to bring criminal charges against John Snook, who resigned as warden of the Atlanta Penitentiary last month by request, were emphatically denied yesterday by Attorney General Mitchell.

The Attorney General also said no investigators of the department now were at the prison as was reported in news stories from Atlanta. He added that there was nothing in the department files to impeach the integrity of the former warden, whose resignation was asked on the grounds that he lacked administrative ability.

Cell Needed, $7 Tax Prisoner Ousted From Jail

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 3.—Charles Jackson, 28, of New Brighton, was released from jail yesterday after he had served three months for non-payment of $7 in taxes. Warden Hamilton Brown inquired of the court what to do with the prisoner, who was eating three meals a day and occupying a cell at the expense of the county. The warden also explained the cell was needed. The order for Jackson's liberty was then signed by Judge Frank E. Reader.

Liquor Mash Clogs Cumberland Sewers

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 3.—City Commissioner Charles F. Heller, who has charge of streets and sewers, yesterday in the City Council charged that certain sewers in the city were choked with mash, evidently the by-product of distilling or brewing operations.

ACTION DELAYED ON BOULEVARD

Council has deferred action on pending ordinances creating a traffic circle near the eastern terminal of the boulevard of the Allies and extending that thoroughfare from Halket to Bates streets.

One of the ordinances provides for the widening of Wilmot street to 80 feet from Juliet street to Park View avenue.

A public hearing on the proposals will be held on Thursday April 11, to learn the views of abutting property owners, including Senator James J. Coyne, John J. Dimling and members of the Oakland Board of Trade.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

"Mental Cruelty"

EVERY now and then, some woman gets a divorce on the grounds of "mental cruelty."

Like charity, "mental cruelty" covers a multitude of sins; and there are indigo moments in every wife's life, when she secretly suspects that she is its victim.

The way he shoots the shades up to the tops of the windows or slams the bathroom door, or rattles his newspaper, or gulps his coffee.

* * *

The way he argues with the waiter over a two-minute egg, or sniffs at the food she puts before him, or turns over his waffle to see if it is done on the other side.

The way he snickers to himself and won't TELL her what he's laughing at—or the way he yawns and closes his eyes as though he were waiting for a street car to go by, when she starts to tell him something funny.

* * *

The way he goes snooping around the house and into the cupboard or icebox to "detect" something wrong—or frowns at the monthly bills, as though he had never eaten at the table or slept in the house or left electric light burning, himself.

The way he drums on the arm of his chair, or turns over and goes to sleep in the middle of an exciting argument, or dozes all through a picture show.

The way he looks her over critically, when she is all dolled up to please him, and remarks that the seam in her stocking is crooked, or that she's got on too much lip-rouge—and doesn't even SEE her new spring hat!

The way he tries to read her letters over her shoulder, or asks her what she's "been doing with her TIME, all day," or musses up the newspaper, or goes into a coma, right after dinner.

The way he yodels in his bath and wrecks the bathroom, and leaves the soap on the floor and wipes his razor on the guest-towels.

The way he REFRAINS from ever COMPLIMENTING her!

Lord, Lord, yes! These are the thousand little aches from which big divorces grow! Any wife who is LOOKING for "mental cruelty" can find it without turning her head! Ninety-nine men out of a hundred would be paying alimony if their wives were hypersensitive and "touchy."

Horoscope

Thursday, April 4

ALTHOUGH this day's lunar aspects must be read as conflicting, yet there are many benefits to be expected. Those in employment are under excellent sway for favors, recognition or advancement; and also there are signs of sudden changes of benefit. Jupiter sustains the promising tone of these auguries, but nonetheless there are some financial hazards or extravagances. The mind should not be permitted gloomy indulgences because of disquieting personal relations.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of recognition and preferment from those in high places and these may involve sudden changes or travel. There may be financial hazards or necessary extravagances. Also a depressed state of mind and some personal anxieties of a passing nature.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, clever and original, succeeding through talents, but its mind may be profound, depressed or melancholy, which may have an unfavorable reaction on its personal relations.

To love life through labor is to be intimate with life's inmost secret.—Kahlil Gibran.

NICE WORDS WON'T DYE a dress or coat...

Neither pretty pictures nor colorful adjectives will dye a dress or coat. It takes real dyes to do the work; dyes made from true anilines.

Next time you have dyeing to do, try Diamond Dyes. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree they are better dyes.

You get none of that re-dyed look from Diamond Dyes; no streaking or spotting. Just fresh, crisp, bright new color. And watch the way they keep their brilliance through wear and washing. They are better dyes because they contain plenty of real anilines—from three to five times more than other dyes. But you pay no more for them than for ordinary dyes

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. Remember this when you buy. HEART BREAKERS -:- -:-

Drawn by Madge Geyer

© 1929, Int'l Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

FROM the steppes of Russia to the glaring spotlight, not forgetting the demure little girl who wonderingly watches her sisters, every girl in the world is a heart-breaker.

Dancing through life on winged feet, kicking the poor hearts all around and dancing lightly over them, this is the joy and delight of every one of those girls.

Not a thought or care do they have for the poor hearts that they so ruthlessly wound. Until at last their own hearts are on the ground and being unmercifully trampled upon. Then, and then only, do they realize the harm they have done. Sometimes, alas, too late to repair the damage. And their own hearts are bruised and sore and broken—unless Love comes along and picks them up and heals each searing wound.

So be careful of the hearts you walk over. See to it that the ONE heart is not there; for, if it is, you will be repaid in kind, and your own heart may be broken so that it will never mend. For Dan Cupid has a way of repaying such thoughtlessness, and it may be that your poor heart may lie forever broken and aching. So beware!

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Referring to Husband

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please explain the proper phrase to use when speaking of one's husband or wife to servants, mere acquaintances or casual friends and close friends?

When talking to a casual friend and neighbor over the telephone the expression "my husband" was used, A says it should have been "Mr. Smith," and B says "my husband" is correct.

M. C. W.

I AM glad you sent this question, for it is very important one and one not understood by most married women. When a married woman is speaking of her husband to servant or to tradesmen, it is natural that she should refer to him in the most formal of ways—that is, as "Mr. Hall." When she is referring to her husband to acquaintance or to casual friends she would say "my husband." To close friends she would say "John." And when we consider these differences we see how logical they are. The important point to be remembered is that she does not refer to her husband as "Mr. Hall" when she is speaking to any one who might at some time be given the right of using her husband's first name. Therefore, we see that A is in error when he maintains that B should have referred to her husband as "Mr. Smith" when she spoke to a neighbor over the telephone.

Announcements

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Does one send wedding announcements to those invited to the wedding? No formal invitations will be issued to the wedding.

D. E. L.

NO, the guests who are invited to the wedding, even if they are invited informally, are not sent announcements of the wedding.

At a Banquet

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Suppose I am attending a banquet in which the women and men are alternated down a long table. When we are about to sit down, which lady's chair do I draw out, the one on my left or the one on my right?

READER.

THE one on your right.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

Katie's Request to "Get Off" Arouses Madge's Curiosity

KATIE was flying about her kitchen like mad when I entered it, and her eyes were curiously bright when she turned toward me at my entrance. That she was tremendously excited about something, I promptly guessed, for long experience with my little maid has accustomed me to her vagaries, and I was not surprised when she rushed into impetuous speech.

"Oh, Missis Graham," she said. "I so glad you coom. I shoost going oopstairs to ask you somethings. I vant have loonch half-past twelve today und pile oop my dishes till I coom back dees afternoon. Me, I shoost got vord I haf to go over by dot Quogue early dees afternoon, but I coom back qveeck. I not stay long."

"Why! Has the mail come?" I asked, vaguely puzzled by something in her manner and instinctively sparring for time at her unusual request. Katie never changes the time of the family meals, and strongly resents anyone else doing so.

She hesitated oddly, her face clouding, then it as suddenly cleared again.

"No, it no coom, but telegram coom ven Missis Underwood get here. I no tell you den, you hurry off so qveeck to her room."

She was drawing vividly on her imagination. I was sure of that, but there was nothing for me to do save humor her. Katie's requests for indulgence are so few and her faithful service so exceptional that I would have acceeded to a far greater upsetting of my household routine than luncheon a half hour earlier.

"Of course, Katie," I said heartily, noting that my belated assent was just in time to dispel the storm clouds I saw gathering in her always expressive face. "I'll go and tell the family of the change."

She beamed again.

"Tank you, tank you," she said. "I know you feex eet for me. But you not going so qveeck?. You vant sometings ven you coom in shoost now?"

"I wanted to talk over something with you," I said truthfully, "but there won't be time now, and it will do just as well this afternoon, when you come back, or even tomorrow, if you are late."

"Me, I no late," Katie returned, "dot ees—" she amended hastily—"eef vomans vot I going see meets me. Maybe I miss her vunce und haf hunt for her. But I not tink so. I tink I come back by tree o'clock."

I mentally dubbed her an optimist as I went upstairs to notify the family of the change in the luncheon hour. Quogue is a good 20 miles away and the ramshackle old car which is the pride of Katie and Jim is limited in its speed possibilities. If she took any time at all for the errand which was of enough importance to make her change the family luncheon hour, she would not be back at three—or four.

But I had something else on my mind besides Katie's vagaries as I tapped on my mother-in-law's door. I knew that to all the rest of the household the mere announcement of luncheon a half hour earlier would be sufficient. For myself, I was distinctly glad as it would give me plenty of time to reach Easthampton before Mary's announced appearance there. But my doughty mother-in-law abhors any change in routine, and she is especially resentful of any deviation from household rules upon Katie's part. I expected an uncomfortable session with her, and my expectations were not disappointed.

"I never heard of anything so ridiculous in my life," she stormed when I had told her of Katie's request and my assent to it. "Turning a whole house upside down because a hired girl wants to go traipseing over the country in that ridiculous car of hers. I don't believe she ever had a telegram at all. She's simply made up a cock-and-bull story and you're foolish enough to swallow it."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

When You Yearn for Loved Surroundings

ALL the world took a sympathetic interest in the welfare of King George, of England. His modest and goodness of heart apparently endeared him to everybody. The medical bulletins recording the progress of his illness, were read by millions.

DR. COPELAND

A few weeks ago the King was removed from the palace in London to the south of England. I was interested in this particular statement in the newspaper account of his transfer: "The location for King George's recuperation was chosen largely for the mental benefit it was hoped he would derive from its proximity to the sea, which he loves, and where he was trained as a sailor when a prince."

Have you ever been homesick? Did you ever long for the scenes and friends of your childhood? When you have been ill with a fever, did you yearn for the cold water from "Palmer's spring," or some deep well, where you were wont to satisfy your thirst in the days of long ago?

Of course you have. I have—many and many a time.

The King's doctors were wise. By stimulating memories and emotions, they were giving their royal patient a tonic better than anything that comes in bottles or capsules.

Our Christian Science friends, whether we agree with all their doctrines or not, have certainly given emphasis to a great truth in insisting upon wiping out worry and mental disturbance. "As he thinketh in his heart, so is he," said the Wise Man.

We are really what we are in our hearts and souls. When our surroundings harmonize with our inner feelings we are happy. When they do not, we are restless and miserable.

One of the most important things to do for the sick person and one of the most important things the well person can do for himself, is to have the surroundings and associates agreeable as possible.

But do not misunderstand me: I would not have you fret and fume over your surroundings if you are powerless to change them. Perhaps the highest test of absolute sanity of mind is the power of adjustment to conditions as they exist. There is something wrong with you if you are in constant battle with things as they are.

It is your duty to yourself and to those who love you, to keep sweet and calm and content as may be with existing conditions. You must strive, of course, to improve things, but don't fret and fume, if you find it out of the question to make them better. Try to adjust yourself to things as they are, if they cannot be bettered.

Of all the difficult ailments to heal, the hardest is broken-heartedness, home-sickness, or soul-yearning from any cause. It is our duty, as members of the family, as friends and neighbors, to lighten the burdens of those who suffer in this manner.

Do not permit yourself to think lightly of such suffering as I have described. It is a real factor to be regarded.

APPRECIATIVE ONE. Q.—What is the cause and cure of a small blister-like pimple appearing on the underside of my eyelid?

A.—You are probably troubled with a stye. Your diet should be corrected, and it might be advisable to consult an eye specialist to determine whether anything is wrong with the eye itself.

"THE YOUNG WIFE."

The story concerns a society man and his two sons—one real and one adopted. The adopted son is married to a lovely girl and his stepbrother who consorts with criminals and disreputable characters, is continually trying to discredit him, and attempts to pin upon him the responsibility for the murder of their father. The trapping of the real murderer affords a thrilling climax, and the scenes in the underworld, particularly those in the "Den," one of the lowest dives of the Bowery, will supply the entertainment.

WHEN THE DRAMA OF SICKNESS TOUCHES LIFE

Copyright, 1909

To be or not to be—Blood Pressure too high! When the drama of sickness touches life, we are taken back to fundamentals, to the great realities of life and death.

BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS correct faulty metabolism or they do not! A hundred people in your city say it is true. Many thousands in other cities know it is true. You can't delude yourself. Talk with the patients and you will find they are satisfied, so why wait for the wheel chair?—it is no respecter of persons! The infected blood stream cannot of itself throw off the toxic poisons without aid.

BLOOD CELL SERUMS strengthen the fighting power of the blood, thus the normal processes of nourishing the body are restored.

Think it over and take one. No doctor charges. All Laboratory examinations Free. Patients pay only for the particular serum the doctor administers. Come on, you High Blood Pressure Men—get well and go back to work. A serum for every chronic disease.

Watch Your Blood Pressure. One-third of All Deaths Are Due to This Trouble.

Why Drug the Stomach When Your Blood Cells Control High Blood Pressure and Most All Chronic Diseases?
One Serum Gives Relief in Many Cases.

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!
Pain Stops Instantly!

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

I want to tell you how I coaxed him to eat—

If you are tired—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S. Its tonic effects will surprise you.

"Once I was worried—mealtime was getting on my nerves. I prepared many appetizing dishes, but John simply would not eat—just 'minced' at his food. Perhaps sometimes a little grouchy. I began to fear he was 'slipping.' What was I to do? Love, home, happiness, business success—all depended upon an improvement in his condition. The blood tonic idea suggested itself to me. My Druggist recommended S.S.S. He told me that S.S.S. was a great blood tonic; that it had been successful for over 100 years; that it was made from fresh vegetable drugs and would not harm the most delicate system. Also that it would build up the blood and improve the processes by which the body is nourished. I brought home a large size bottle. John agreed to try it. Well, in just a few days I could see the difference. His improvement has been so rapid he is going to take several more bottles, and not only that, but he is now telling his friends to take S.S.S."

Loss of appetite only a symptom

It is a known fact that when one's system gets "run-down," they haven't the resistance to ward off diseases. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play.

Rich, red blood builds sturdy health

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your blood cells back up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, those pains commonly called rheumatism, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again, sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. is daily helping people regain their strength and charm. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. It helps Nature build red-blood-cells. It gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

"Period Furniture— How to Use It Simply"

Discussed at the Tomorrow's Home Decorating Council

No gesture is more definitely characteristic of our times than the breaking up of traditional periods in the furnishing of our homes. Where once it was the fashion to stick religiously to Sheraton or Chippendale, Queen Anne or Louis Quinze, the freedom of our day gives sanction to the mingling of these periods and designs, so long as harmony and sympathy result. Thus, if you plan to refurnish either a room or the entire home, you will certainly pick up many pertinent ideas to guide you by attending tomorrow's lecture of the Home Decorating Council, addressed by Miss Lucy Taylor, lecturer at the Metropolitan Museum. At 3 o'clock—in Private Dining Room B—admission without charge. Eleventh Floor.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

IT WASN'T easy, serving three meals a day, in this institution. To Elsie, although that isn't her name, it was a life of drudgery from morning to night. But for the dance in Altoona on a Saturday night life for Elsie would have been devoid of any excitement or pleasure. It was only a thought of the coming Saturday or a pleasant flash-back of the previous Saturday that made the hot dishes and then the dirty ones bearable at all.

* * *

In Altoona no one thought Elsie lugged dishes around all day. She was attractive, to begin with, and it was easy to say to the boys from State College who, too, liked the dances in Altoona, that she was a nurse. Sometimes when the

TELL ME ABOUT TH' NURSES !
WHY-ER UH--!

State boys became too curious about the eventful life of a nurse, Elsie changed the subject to inquire why college boys didn't wear caps or she'd take some other avenue out of the danger zone.

SEVERAL of the boys liked Elsie and Elsie played no favorites, allowing a different boy to take her home by train or automobil. after the dance each Saturday night.

Then one day the dancing boys from State on an inspection trip designed to improve their minds, stopped at the institution where Elsie brought in the hot dishes and carried off the dirty ones. Elsie nearly keeled over and almost dropped all the dishes as she noticed her college boy friends.

She espied them before they saw her and she rushed nervously back to the kitchen. Wouldn't the boss let her off today—she was ill? The boss was obliging but he asked that Elsie serve the dishes she had brought back before she left for the day.

The boys were pleasant enough when they recognized their whilom nurse in her role as waitress, but Elsie felt they were giggling as she walked away, and thought, too, how dull life was going to be without the Saturday night dances in Altoona.

But a surprise came a few seconds later when one of the attendants in the kitchen told Elsie a gentleman outside wanted to speak to her. He was one of the college boys, who, divining Elsie's embarrassment, wanted to know if Elsie, the waitress and not Elsie, the nurse, would go to the dance with him next Saturday night.

THE gallant young man escorted Elsie the next Saturday night, and three or four subsequent Saturday nights. He wanted to make certain Elsie would not feel sorry for herself. After the fourth Saturday night Elsie began showing those small signs of ownership women display—such as adjusting a necktie or flicking a bit of dust off a shoulder—and now the State student began to worry for he didn't want Elsie to own him at all. After all, he had his studies and besides his old man would raise a rumpus if he suspected his son was getting that way about a girl. The student confided his dilemma to a roommate. And the roommate cogitated.

At the next dance the roommate got Elsie aside and said: "George is not playing fair with you. He is posing to you as a student. As a matter of fact George is no student at all. He works at the college. He tosses milk-cans around and works in the laundry."

And that night Elsie, caring little whether George's necktie was awry, or whether there was any dust on his shoulder, went home by herself.

I commend the story to Mr. Ring Lardner or to the shade of O. Henry.

GIVEN 30 DAYS FOR BEGGING

George Alsike, 51, who told Carrick police that he lives at the Allegheny County Home, will take up his residence at the Allegheny County jail for the next 30 days.

Alsike, arrested by Patrolman Fred Walz for begging money on the streets and from house to house on Sankey avenue Monday evening, was fined $10 or 30 days to jail by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in South Side Police Court yesterday. He preferred to go to jail. Vagrancy was the charge placed against him.

SON INJURED, ASKS $25,000

Philip Gray through his father, Peter Gray, has filed a damage suit against Maurice Wesoky demanding $25,000 for injuries the 13-year-old boy received when struck by Wesoky's automobile, while the lad was riding a bicycle in Negley avenue. It is alleged that the defendant was not exercising proper care September 22, last, the date of the accident. The boy was injured about the hips and back, according to the allegations filed in Common Pleas Court by the plaintiff.

RADIO IN SCHOOLS, "STEP FORWARD"—FATHER COX

The Rev. Dr. James R. Cox has joined with leaders of Allegheny County's educational institutions in giving his hearty approval to the Sun-Telegraph-Stanley-Warner Brothers' plan to put a radio receiving set in every classroom in the city. Father Cox is rector of the Old St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church and is actively interested in the use of radio in teaching.

Father Cox has to say that "efforts to place a radio in every classroom open an unlimited field of the best in education and form, in my opinion, the most forward-looking step that has so far been attempted. From the experience of four years of daily broadcasting it seems to me that the results of this service are incalculable.

Boosts Radio

THE REV. JAMES R. COX

Dr. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Church, who sees unlimited possibilities in the plan to place a radio in each schoolroom.

IS FORWARD STEP

"I can envision unlimited possibilities in aiding the teacher to benefit by the best developments in her profession and giving the best information in the best manner on every subject of classroom study. Every effort that means progress has my unqualified support."

Educational leaders throughout the city and county are enthusiastically indorsing the campaign the Sun-Telegraph has begun, in conjunction with Stanley - Warner Brothers' Theaters, to place a radio receiving set in every room.

The requirements are simply that the children in any school room obtain 125 13-week orders for the Sun-Telegraph to have an eight-tube, self-contained, number 55 Atwater Kent $138.50 radio receiving set, with electro-dynamic loud speaker included, in their school room.

OPEN TO ALL SCHOOLS

The campaign is open to any school and any schoolroom in the city. Blanks may be obtained for the orders from any Stanley theater or at the Sun-Telegraph offices in Gazette Square.

Any person may be approached for a subscription, which will cost 18 cent a week by carrier for the daily service, and 28 cents weekly for daily and Sunday service.

Friends wishing to do so, may obtain order blanks and fill them out, crediting them to any school or classroom they desire to help. Collections will me made in the regular manner.

PETITIONS COURT TO ABATE SMOKE

FACTORY RUINS HOME, MAN CLAIMS

Smoke, soot, dust and gaseous substances having entered the home and premises of E. G. Muir, Tenth street, Turtle Creek, Muir is endeavoring by injunction to compel E. D. McLaren, trading as the Turtle Creek Products Company from whose plant the troubles it is alleged emenates, abate the nuisance.

The case is being heard by Judge Ambrose B. Reid of Common Pleas Court with a large number of witnesses—neighbors of Muir, a painter and paper hanger—in attendance at the hearing.

Muir claims that the plant has been enlarged from time to time and works 24 hours a day, emitting the substances he complains of. He also says the noise of a big hammer used in the manufacture of concrete block disturbs his rest. Muir says that if he leaves the windows of his home open for an hour, it is necessary to reclean it, so annoying is the accumulation of soot and dust. One complaint is that the concern uses soft coal, the stacks from the furnace continually throw off soot to the annoyance of his family and neighbors.

P. R. R. REVEALS STATION PLANS

NEW TERMINAL TO FACE ON PENN AVE.

The new Pennsylvania Railroad passenger station planned for Pittsburgh will have its main entrance on Penn avenue between Eleventh and Thirteenth streets, it was revealed in the 1928 report of the company. According to plans now prepared, Penn avenue will be widened to 120 feet and Grant street will be extended, passing diagonally across Eleventh street and entering Penn avenue just east of Eleventh street.

This change will place the new station on the corner of Penn avenue and Grant street. The improvement also calls for additional tracks extending both eastward and westward. The new freight house and produce terminals will occupy all the space between Eleventh and Twenty-fourth streets, from Pike street to the Allegheny River. The produce terminal is nearing completion, and work on the freight house is under way and will be completed this year.

The new freight facilities will replace the present Sixteenth street freight house being removed for produce yard improvements; the Eleventh street freight house will be removed to make room for the new Postofce and the Penn street freight house, which will be replaced by a team yard.

WITNESS TELLS OF BRIBERY

Details of an alleged shakedown by Justice of the Peace C. J. Burke and Constable Frank Kasson, of Library, were recited in Criminal Court today by Charles Szalky, whose father is named as the victim of the two defendants.

The son testified that he saw his father, Alex Szalky, hand over $400 to Constable Kasson in the office and presence of 'Squire Burke to "fix the frameup."

The father had testified that he was arrested by Kasson after somebody had "planted" a cargo of moonshine in his delivery truck.

CHIEF CHAPERON PICKED FOR FLAG CONTEST VICTORS

Mrs. John Allen Dougherty, prominent Washington society leader and charity worker, has accepted an invitation to be chaperon-in-chief of the Patriotic Pilgrimage of Regional Champions in the First Annual Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association, it was announced today.

Mrs. Dougherty will be in command of the group of 18 boys and 18 girls who are sent to Washington in June by the 18 Hearst Newspapers sponsoring the Flag Contest. In Washington these will compete for the Grand National Award of a trip around the world. The chaperans for the 'round the world tour will be announced in a few days.

ACTIVE IN CHARITY

Mrs. Dougherty is one of Washington's most active workers in children's charities, is the manager of a "thrift shop" conducted for charity, and, ever since "official" inaugural balls were abandoned, she has conducted and managed the "unofficial" inaugural balls for charity. Charitable organizations this year received $40,000 as a result of Mrs. Dougherty's activities on March 4.

In a letter to Col. James A. Moss, President General of the Flag Association, Mrs. Dougherty said:

"The executive Board of the United States Flag Association does me great honor by inviting me to act as Chaperon-in-Chief on the Patriotic Pilgrimage which the Regional Flag Champions are to make to historic shrines in New York, Pennsylvania, and other states. I am deeply sensible of the honor, and shall be glad and happy to render every possible service in connection with this great patriotic undertatking.

LAUDS PATRIOTIC AIM

"Mr. Hearst has the vision to know that a country is no greater than its children, and patriotic education should begin with the school children. The whole country owes a debt to Mr. Hearst for his great generosity and to his progressive newspapers for the magnificent manner in which they are sponsoring the Flag Contest and to you who conceived the plan and made it all possible. It is justly considered the greatest patriotic youth movement in the history of the nation."

The announcement of Mrs. Dougherty's appointment as chaperone-in-chief follows close upon the heels of the announcement of Mrs. Eva M. Barrett's acceptance of the chaperonage of the Sun-Telegraph's regional champions' trip to Washington. Mrs. Barrett, who has for years been associated with the Sun-Telegraph and its predecessors, has traveled widely while maintaining residence in Pittsburgh all her life. She will leave here with the two local winners about June 7 and accompany them throughout their trip.

It was then she declared, he slapped her with his open hand.

GYPSIES' 'WINE' BRINGS ARREST

"Turning water into wine" with dried raspberries was a feat attributed to a band of South Side gypsies by police in Morals Court today.

Detective William Harkins testified that to impress patrons, the gypsies would slip a dried black raspberry into a glass of water. It would soon turn red and the berry flavor convinced gullible visitors that the age of miracles had returned.

The gypsies, Alex Thompson, his wife, Natrona; his sons, Miller and Frank, and Frank's wife, Lillian, who have been living at 1015 Sarah street, were held over by Magistrate A. D. Brandon while police communicate with authorities of other cities. They denied police charges that they practiced faith healing and mind reading and said they were coppersmiths.

The women are said by police to answer descriptions of gypsies wanted in Wheeling, W. Va., and Cumberland, Md., for robbery and fortune telling.

Women as Teachers Of Boys Condemned

LEICESTER, England, April 3—(AP.)—The American educational system has been sized up at the meeting of the National Union of Schoolmasters, which resolved that it was not for the best interests of boys to be taught by women. Today's Flagism

Edward Everett Hale, author of the stirring American tale, "The Man Without a Country," was born April 3, 1822. The story, as every schoolboy and girl recalls, is that of a man who in a moment of pique expressed the hope that he would never hear the name of the United States mentioned again. How effectively his wish was brought to a realization forms one of the greatest historical stories ever written stressing the value of unqualified loyalty to the Stars and Stripes.

The BROADWAY MELODY by Jack LAIT

(From a Scenario by Edmund Goulding.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Eddie Kerns, song plugger, has written the music for "The Broadway Melody," a big revue to be produced by the famous Zanfield. For two years Eddie has been engaged to "Hank" Mahoney and now he sees his way clear to marry her. She and her younger sister, Queene, are playing in vaudeville and Eddie summons them to New York and tells them he has managed to place them in the revue. They are overjoyed, but Eddie suddenly discovers that he's lost his heart to Queenie who has developed into a startling beauty in the two years since he saw her last. He keeps his secret from "Hank" and the girls turn down a long vaudeville contract for a chance to make good in the revue. Zannie, after seeing the "Mahoney Sisters" perform, decides that he could only use Queenie. She, however, appeals to him to also give her sister a chance in the show. He consents. "Hank" believes that she put it over. During a dress rehearsal Eddie shows the sisters the big ad in the newspaper announcing their coming to Broadway. When Hank kisses Eddie, Queenie cries. Zannie gives Queenie a place in the revue. She makes an impression and the two "angels" of the revue invite her out to dine after the show. Dore, one of the show girls, tells Queenie to watch her step with Worthington. Eddie questions Queenie about "Warry" and tells her to keep away from him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

THE dress rehearsal of "Broadway Melody" was over. For 14 grueling, heart-breaking, body-punishing, mind-battering and soul-scorching hours, from 9 o'clock in the morning until 11 that evening, the great Zanfield had changed, fired, switched, rewritten, revised, restaged, lighted and re-routined the big revue, with its 37 scenes, more than 100 troupers, 40 musicians and a stage crew army.

At last it was "set." The premiere performance would run to the last spangle and gag and tap as Zannie had ordered.

Everyone was dog tired—those who had been continuously active were worn out with work and those whose contributions were small but who had to stay in were weary with waiting.

The asbestos drop descended and shut out the auditorium from the stage. The last scene was being "struck," the clearers shouting for gangway as they shoved flats and built pieces toward the corners where everything has its assigned place to be handily brought down and center as the show runs its scheduled order.

Hank and Queenie Mahoney, their half-a-minute bit in the finale having survived Zannie's devastating scrutiny, which was their half-a-loaf of consolation after their hot number had been eliminated, were cold-creaming off their make-ups—"washing up," as the backstage expression goes, having taken on an idiomatic character which is heavy with many deep significances; to be "washed up" means to be thorough, and the term sometimes is one of tragedy and not soap. Had Zannie cut out the rest of the Mahoney Sisters' stuff, they would indeed have been "washed up."

But their lives in the show had been saved. Others, too, had suffered cuts, for a revue is always rigged in earlier rehearsals so that at least a third can be junked before showing it to the Big Town. Often a setting that cost thousands is thrown into the alley before it is ever publicly seen, for the second-hand value of a stage set, no matter what its cost or how little it has been used, is rarely worth the price of hauling, and the storehouse salvage is its lumber and canvas.

So the girls physically lame and with heads spinning from the sustained strain, were relaxed in that anti-climax after a period of charged suspense and excitement. They talked show-shop. After all, they had fared not so badly. Much to be preferred as against trouping split-weeks on the small time, knocking off four and five "frolics" per day, seven days per week—when lucky enough to have "time" at all.

In vaudeville, they had drawn $175 a week, jointly, gross. Out of this they paid for their own costumes, railroad fares, hotel and other bills for their sustenance, 5 per cent to the circuit booking office, 5 per cent (and additional "presents") to their "artists' representative," who by regulation gets 5 per cent and who is always referred to by professions as their "10 per cent agent." So, what with frequent lay-offs, and occasional long and costly railway "jumps" they didn't save much at the end of 52 weeks of which they played 30 if they did well.

Their contract with Zannie, a run-of-the-play Equity agreement not subject to cancellation unless notice were given within two weeks after the New York opening, guaranteed them $200 a week, they were asked to play only eight performances in that time, had Sundays free, paid no booking fee and no agent, had no traveling outlays, and all their wardrobe was furnished by the management. A run at this rate would make them comparatively rich, for their living scale was never extravagant.

It was to girls like these that the Worthingtons and Warriners offered $1,000 bills to go to dinner with them—girls pretty enough to grace shows that cost $6.60 at the box office and twice as much at the "gyps," yet who were worrying about getting into these shows, staying with them and rising in them. Small wonder that the hunters so often and so cheaply got them, with their quick money, their influence and their cagey technique. For every girl who turns her eyes toward Broadway with visions of gold-digging and the storied limousines, champagne and jewels, a thousand pray for the chance to get in, get on and get along on their merits and the gifts that nature gave them.

Why is it that when a woman has a golden voice and sells it, she is rated and respected as an artist; but when she has two golden calves and sells them in the same theater she is classed and treated as a leg-show exhibit? Hasn't a person the same right to profit decently by one lovely natural asset as by the other?

The immediate effect on the psychology of Warriner and Worthington had been that they paid little heed to Queenie as a hard-working, tap-hoofing half of a sister-act, for which untold practice, study, grief and resistance are required; but as soon as they saw the same girl, dumb, static, posing on the illuminated love boat, they saw her as attractive game and started loading their chicken-rifles. The torn "grand-note" was the first shot.

It took the girls only a few minutes to "wash-up." They were fully in their modest mufti when a knock on the door brought in Eddie Kerns, also ready in what troupers call their "street clothes," his being not so diffident; for Eddie made known that he was "a nifty dresser on and of." He wore an easy smile. None of his numbers had felt the ax.

"Come on, women," he called. "Us three musketeers will rewrite this show while we lap up a li'l Chinese chow. I'm a man what craves my chop suey after a hard day's labor."

Hank smiled. She came up and kissed him and said, fondly in a tired voice:

"Gee, Eddie, what would I do if I didn't have you?"

She slid her arms around his neck and clung there for some moments. When she released him, Eddie said:

"Step on it, Queen, you're blockin' traffic."

Through Queenie's mind flashed in sharp, staccato scenes like distracted cut-outs from one big story-film, a series of incidents—

Eddie had brought them on and put them over; he was Hank's fiance; Hank was her guardian angel and only sister; Hank loved Eddie in her devoted, non-mercurial way; Queenie, herself, had been only an incidental third party; now she, the junior, had in one leap been made the important member of the team; Eddie had kissed her, ostensibly for a platonic reason and in what was meant to be a platonic manner—but since then they had traded looks, they had spoken past Hank's unsuspecting nose in tricky speeches that they understood for their subtle meanings and Hank had accepted trustingly at their literal values—

Eddie had acted up mightily, in Hank's presence, because she had let Warriner and Worthington even talk to her, and had burned not like a future in-law, but like a jealous lover; he knew nothing of the torn yellow-back; Hank knew nothing of—well, anything; now Eddie was inviting them out—both of them—and she sensed that he asked her as though he was taking Hank and she could come along, when in truth she felt he was taking her and Hank couldn't be left out.

A keen pain like a toothache in her heart stabbed her. She hadn't ever let a wrong thought linger in her brain. She hadn't ever done an injury to a human being. And yet, here, now, she had not indignantly cast out suggestions of mendacious hoodwinking of her beloved sister, ingratitude toward her, roosting in the spotlight on a pinnacle above her, concealing from her and from Eddie the entire incident of the $1,000-bill, and letting the situation run on wherein she knew and Eddie knew and each knew the other knew that they were deceiving—if not betraying—poor, sweet Hank, who thought Eddie lived only for her and who lived only for him and Queenie.

It must stop. She must let Eddie and Hank be together, alone. She must cease letting treasonable thoughts hesitate one moment in her mind. She must yank herself out of this potential triangle.

She answered, but not to Eddie. To Hank she said:

"You two run on, sis. I've got some things I want to do here."

Hank looked surprised.

"Why — Queen — we wouldn't enjoy it without you. I can't imagine what you want to do here. Come along—mustn't she, Eddie?"

Eddie's face was red and his eyes were flaming.

"I know," he snarled, and he pointed a finger directly at Queenie. "You've made a date with that Warriner!"

For the moment Queenie had forgotten that Warriner and Worthington had said they would be back after rehearsal. The half-a-grand in her stocking scorched her tender skin.

"That isn't so!" snapped Hank. "Queenie never did a thing like that in her life. Did you, honey?"

Queenie was thinking. She didn't answer. Hank strode to her, crying:

"You can't go. Any girl who goes out with that Warriner is sunk. And if she isn't, everybody thinks she is."

The youngster, who hadn't entertained the remotest thought of going with the notorious young millionaire, blinked in amazement at the sudden tempest. Before she could speak there was a knock at the door. Hank and Eddie exchanged a glance that meant "We were right!" Hank seized the knob and tore open the door. With his smile all set for the beauteous Queenie, Warriner was almost bowled over at meeting Hank and seeing the hostile, exercised expression on her face. He recovered and, looking past and discovering Queenie, he called in his most ingratiating manner:

"Ah, there you are! Ready?"

The big idea struck her. Here was a way to leave Hank and Eddie alone, to get Eddie so peeved and angry that he would lose any budding feeling he might have for her, and warn and awaken Hank to the sad truth that her baby sister was no longer the saint who could be trusted.

Mis-Alliance

By L. LAMAR MATTHEWS

Daily Short Story

IN THE old-fashioned city of Exeter there are three distinct classes of citizens. First, foremost and high above all are the Clarks, the Fitzhughs, the Maloys and the Sayres with their family connections. Next comes the country club contingent. Then there are the families who live on the wrong side of the Court street.

Now Bruce Barrie's people belonged to the country club set, and Hilda Mack's lived on the wrong side of Court street. So of course the Barries were fearfully upset when Bruce admitted that he was going to marry Hilda.

Mrs. Barrie held forth at length upon the difference in their stations, impressing upon her son the importance of remembering his own aristocratic origin. Mr. Barrie said nothing. He knew that his children's grandsires wore jeans breeches, spit tobacco and did their own ploughing; but he was willing to let his wife forget it if she could. It was Bruce's sister Imogene who pronounced the match a ghastly mis-alliance.

"I shall warn this Miss Mack against thrusting herself upon us," announced Imogene, "then if she persists in marrying you she can simply take the consequences."

Bruce sat in dumb misery just as he always did when his women-folks were trying to make up his mind. They were so dead sure they were right it left no chance for opposition.

Ever since he could remember his spirit had given way to their dominance; his personality had been swallowed up in theirs, his wishes set aside and his efforts paralyzed. He couldn't even do the kind of work he liked. He wanted to put on overalls and work with tools, with machinery. Instead, he had to stand behind little windows in banks.

Hilda Mack knew about young Barrie's genius and ambition. She also knew other pleasant things about Bruce that nobody else suspected. She knew how his eyes glowed and sparkled at times. She knew how deep and tender his voice could sound on occasion. She knew how hungry he was for affection and admiration and she knew how to fill that need for the man she loved.

Hilda also knew plenty of interesting things to talk about. Recently she had returned from an extended tour where she traveled as secretary to a noted author. After four years of interesting work, interesting sights, interesting people, she had forgotten the hide-bound, rock-ribbed, narrow standards that governed most Exeter people. But it all came back to her quite forcibly when Mrs. Barrie and Imogene paid her a morning call.

Hilda listened in amazement while Bruce's mother and sister assured her of their determination to ignore her. And all the time they were talking she kept wondering why they thought she would care.

"Well, I didn't hope to marry the whole family," she stated in sugary tones, "just Bruce, you know."

It was several months after Bruce and Hilda were married before it dawned upon the Barries that their new-in-law had no desire for their companionship or their patronage.

All the good snubs they had planned for this impertinent person were utterly wasted.

Even Bruce seemed to be dispensing with their approval quite cheerfully. In fact young Barrie was developing traits that no one ever attributed to him before. He took on an attitude of self-confidence and zest that was both becoming and effective.

In the cellar of Bruce's little home was a small machine shop and here he spent many hours planning, experimenting and perfecting a mechanical device.

Only one other person besides the young Barries knew about this machine shop. That was Joseph Clark. Joe's window at the bank was just below the one where Bruce worked; and Joe Clark was quite enthusiastic over this new venture in mechanics.

Because the Clarks were absolutely sure of their position in the world, they could afford to do as they pleased—even in Exeter. So Joseph brought his overalls and spent his Sundays in the cellar with Bruce. Sometimes Hilda watched them; sometimes she helped them; sometimes she fed them and sometimes she left them alone.

When the invention was perfected it was impossible to say who was happiest, Joe, Hilda or Bruce. At any rate, Joe was loudest in his exultation.

"Dad, you ought to see it work," he declared. "Come on with me to the shop and let Bruce demonstrate it for you."

Mr. Clark agreed and started out with his son.

"Want to go along, mother?" he called to his wife.

"May I go, too?" asked Isobel, Joe's pretty sister.

So the four of them went to the young Barrie's cellar where Joe and his father watched Bruce demonstrate his safety device while Mrs. Clark and Isobel made friends with Hilda.

Isobel, just home from college, was charmed with Hilda and invited her to tea.

The outcome of that visit was that Mr. Clark induced others to join him in financing the invention and it proved such a great success that Bruce was enabled to give up his post in the bank and devote his time to the work he loved.

As for Hilda—well, let her in-laws speak.

Mrs. Barrie: "I asked Hilda and Bruce to come to live with us, but Hilda wouldn't agree to it."

Imogene: "I think Hilda is a little bit uppity, if you ask me. She is so taken up with the Clarks, the Fitzhughs, the Malloys and the Sayres that she can't see us at all."

Mr. Barrie: "Well, anyhow I think Bruce is a lucky boy—a smart wife—a fine baby—and a business of his own!"

ORDER PARKING LOTS FENCED

An ordinance compelling owners of parking lots to build barricades to prevent driverless automobiles from coasting from the parking spaces to sidewalks has been affirmed by Council.

The legislation was prompted by a letter from Coroner W. J. McGregor, who cited the death of a pedestrian who had been pinned against the wall of a building by an automobile that drifted from a parking lot.

PAIR TOO AMIABLE, JUDGE DENIES WOMAN DIVORCE

Ruth E. Bain, a former McKeesport school teacher, has lost her fight for a divorce from Homer E. Bain, who contested the libel.

Judge Elder W. Marshall handed down a negative opinion in Common Pleas Court, setting forth that the wife's conduct towards her husband, and their meetings after the separation did not indicate the attitude of a woman who had been assaulted.

Mrs. Bain, who lives at 1302 Hamilton avenue, McKeesport, had charged Bain with cruel and barbarous treatment.

The court holds that in his judgment the libellant was not a creditable witness. On the other hand, the court says, the respondent impressed him in denying some of the things his wife charged.

Photographs submitted and letters read which had been written to Bain by his wife, did not indicate the existence of any serious trouble, although the court found "all was not serene" in their married life. The couple were married in 1921, and separated in 1926.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. J. Shirley Austin To Be Attendant at Gotham Wedding

NOT so many weeks ago everyone was leaving us, and now everyone is coming back. The school set has been coming and going throughout the Easter season, and most of our wanderers will be back this month. And no wonder they're coming home, for there's the northern spring to attract, and spring weddings.

Besides the marriages of Pittsburgh young men and women, there are weddings all over the land to attract our interest. And members of the younger set are often attendants at out-of-town ceremonies, too. Mrs. J. Shirley Austin, the former Natalie Stone, will be matron of honor at the marriage of Constance Greer McLane, daughter of the Thomas S. McLanes, of New York and Gray Gables, New Canaan, Conn., to C. Peabody Mohun, son of Mrs. R. Dorsey Mohun, of Washington Square. The ceremony will take place Tuesday afternoon, April 30, in the Church of the Incarnation. A reception in the home of the bride-elect's mother and father will follow.

Mrs. Austin and Constance McLane were school friends, I understand. And in her sub-deb days Constance was often a visitor in Pittsburgh.

SAMUEL HARDEN CHURCH, president of the Carnegie Institute; Mrs. Church and the trustees of the institute and their wives gave a tea yesterday afternoon in the Founders' room for members of George C. Tyler's company, which is giving "Macbeth" at the Nixon this week. A tour of the various departments of the institute preceded the tea.

Guests from the company were Lyn Harding, Evelyn Ross, Sarah Armes, Harold Hartsell, Olive Oliber, Virginia Murray, Ada Cafagna, Douglas Ross, Burford Hampden and Bernard Savage.

Among those receiving the guests were Dr. Andre Avinoff, Glendenning Keeble, Chester Wallace, the Ralph Munns, the R. B. Ambroses, Mrs. James D. Hallman and Miss Edna Sutton.

SCHOOLS of the land are being suspected of strategy by the younger folks. Instead of Easter vacations in all the schools and colleges coinciding, they all show a tendency to be different. While some of school set are returning, others are just arriving home. The result has been fewer social affairs than spring vacation offered in former years.

Yale vacation begins the latter part of this week. Malcolm Hay, son of the Southard Hays, of Westminster place, is among the Yale students expected home.

MRS. GEORGE H. SINGER, Jr., and Mrs. Eleanor Scott Walker are expected home the earlier part of the week, I hear. They've been in Honolulu and in Pasadena, where they both took houses for the winter. George Harton Singer and his son went on to spend a short time in Pasadena.

AMONG those in New York recently were Mr. and Mrs. J. Judson Brooks, Alfred P. Brooks and John H. Brooks, their sons.

THE George W. Crawfords will be coming home this month, too. They spent the winter visiting Africa and cruising through the Mediterranean. Last week they arrived in Paris, and will be at home week after next.

MRS. AMBROSE NEVIN DIEHL gave a luncheon in the Twentieth Century Club today in the interests of the Pennsylvania College for Women building fund. Motion pictures of the present campus and still pictures of old scenes were shown, and Dr. Cora Helen Coolidge, president of the college, spoke.

PITTSBURGH society folks are coming back daily now from Palm Beach. Mrs. James Francis Burke and the Baron and Baroness Rosenkranz were guests of the Henry Seligmans on their private car coming from Palm Beach. They arrived in New York Wednesday, and Mr. Burke, who left Palm Beach early in March for Washington to be near President Hoover, joined Mrs. Burke there. Their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Scott Burke, and her two sons returned from Palm Beach last week to go to Pinehurst with Mr. Burke for Easter.

Other Palm Beach devotees who are home from Florida are Dr. and Mrs. Maitland Alexander and Mrs. B. R. B. Townsend. And the Edward Vose Babcocks are home from a fortnight in Nassau, did you know? Their niece and nephew, the Raymond Babcocks, were in Pinehurst for Easter.

I hear that Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Norton Van Voorhis, who've been in California for the winter, will be home within a fortnight.

MISS MABELLE ANNE WINNER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Winner, of Murrayhill avenue, has chosen Saturday as the date for her marriage to Walter L. Frederick, of Pittsburgh, formerly of Fox Chase, Philadelphia. The ceremony will be performed at 7:30 o'clock in Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church. Miss Martha Winner will be her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will include another sister, Miss Marion Winner; Miss Jewell Jackson, Mrs. John Perry and Mrs. William G. Miller. Mortimer Traugott, of Philadelphia, is to be best man, and the ushers will include Charles Schwabenland and Ellsworth Sager, of Philadelphia; Orrin Kramer, of this city, and Samuel Winner, brother of the bride.

THE combined musical clubs of Amherst College will present their annual concert and dance Friday night in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. Charles W. Mrs. William J. Holland heads the list of patronesses and the committee in charge includes David S. Keast, chairman; George M. Rowland, Jr., and Wilson S. Bailey.

MINER EJECTED IN 1927 SUES COAL FIRM

An aftermath of the 1927 coal strike cropped out in Common Pleas Court, with the filing of a suit by John Usnick and his wife, Mary Usnick, against the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, for $60,000 as a result of injuries received by Mrs. Usnick, when the company, it is alleged had the roof of the house in which the Usnicks were living in Coverdale removed.

The bill of complaint was filed by Attorney Henry Ellenbogen and claims that notwithstanding that ejectment proceedings begun by the coal company were stayed by court order, the company employes went upon the premises and started to remove the roof.

It is claimed that holes were made in the ceiling, lath and plaster, striking Mrs. Usnick and her children and exposing them to the sun and to rain, April 20, 1927. Damage of $1,000, it is alleged, was done to their furniture. Mrs. Usnick sustained injuries to her neck, sides, face and shoulder, she avers.

SPORT COMMENT

Yanks to Swap Thomas.
Robertson Will Pass.
Cumberland's New Start.
Hakoahs Real Stars.
Smith's Fine Record.
Kayo Possibilities.

ONE PUNCH MAY BRING FISTIC FAME

Gene Robertson

MILLER HUGGINS has already cracked all records for the dropping of third basemen in a single off-season by discarding Joe Dugan, Mike Gazella and Bill McCann, but indications are that he is not yet done. Since Mark Koenig has made good at that position, it looks as if Gene Robertson will not be retained much longer, even for infield utility purposes.

It all comes of the fact that the Yankee manager thinks patience has ceased to be a virtue in the case of Pitcher Myles Thomas. The latter is out of commission at present, the result of having been gashed above one of his eyes by a smash from Earl Combs' bat, but even before that mishap Huggins had made up his mind to get rid of him. The little skipper says that after carrying Thomas for five years without getting anything out of him he has practically decided to get rid of him. It is understood that an effort is being made to trade the right-hander for Infielder Frank O'Rourke of the Browns, and that if O'Rourke is obtained Robertson, will follow Dugan, Gazella and McCann.

THE reason why O'Rourke, though almost 35 years old, and a professional for 15 seasons, is figured as certain to be more valuable than Robertson to the Yanks, is that he can play second base as well as third and would serve well as a general utility infielder while Lyn Lary is learning the ropes. Lary will be retained on account of being younger than Robertson. Without a man like O'Rourke available the whole infield would have to be made over in the event of Tony Lazzeri's arm going bad.

That is not the only deal that the Yankee manager may put through before the season opens. He intimates that he has made a financial offer for an unnamed left-hand hitting first baseman to understudy Lou Gehrig. If that player is obtained, the veteran, George Burns, will be let go, and as the newcomer will also serve as pinch-hitter his acquisition probably will mean the passing of Outfielders Cedric Durst and Elias Funk, left-hand swingers who have been slated for that kind of duty.

WITH a new president in office, and John J. Byrnes, pilot and first baseman, signed to manage the team again this year, the Cumberland (Md.) club is all set for a new start in the Middle Atlantic League under the most promising circumstances.

When the Cumberland Community Baseball Association took over the franchise from James F. McGuire, $8,000 was contributed by fans to hold the franchise in Cumberland.

Dr. H. B. Walker

THAT assures a new deal all around, as with that amount purchase was made of McGuire's holdings, all back debts will be paid, and the franchise with the base on Mid-City park will be taken over. Besides, the fund made possible the posting of the club's $2,000 forfeit at the league meeting in Uniontown the other day. Dr. Walker, the new president, is a physician and surgeon, a trapshooting expert, formerly was a referee in professional football, and is an all-around sportsman in whom the fans are placing their confidence for a big uplift and advance in league ball around Cumberland.

IF the Hakoahs, as is generally expected, win the Dwyer cup and the national soccer football championship by defeating the Madisons, of St. Louis, again next Sunday, in New York, or in a third game later, should such a contest be found necessary, there will be no doubt in the mind of anyone that the title has gone to the right team.

From the start it has been evident that the Hakoahs are an exceptional organization, like the Yankees in baseball, or the old Celtics or the present Rosenblums in basketball, and the record they have made in their march toward the championship of America, stamps the Jewish boys as the soccer marvels of their time in this country.

TO give an idea of the remarkable manner in which the Hakoahs have been crushing all opposition, it need only be stated that against the five teams they have faced thus far for the title they have scored no fewer than 19 goals while permitting their rivals to score only three by their combined efforts.

The coming champions defeated Mamaroneck, 7 to 1; Rochester, 6 to 0; Newark Portugese, 3 to 2; New York Giants, 1 to 0, and St. Louis Madisons in the first game of the best-two-in three cup series, 2 to 0. The Hakoahs were not required to play in the preliminary rounds. This is the first season the club has been in existence, but Wortmann, who made the second goal in St. Louis Sunday, was a prominent factor in helping the New York Nationals to win the championship last year.

Horton Smith

A PERFORMER of little better than average ability in any branch of sports is apt to have an exceptional day occasionally on which he will play a mile over his head and perhaps rise to a championship before his streak can be stopped. But the proof of a real champion is consistency. You can't take it away from the boy who does time after time; you can't pick any flaws in his title. The latest to measure up in that respect is Horton Smith, sensational 20-year-old professional golfer of Joplin, Mo., who recently won the big LaGorce $15,000 tournament at Miami Beach, Fla., with a score of 289 for 72 holes and then topped off a winter season by defeating Walter Hagen, 2 and 1, in an exhibition match at Richmond, Va.

IN 80 rounds of competitive play in a series of winter tournaments that involved 13,000 miles of travel, Smith only once failed to do better than 80 for 18 holes. And that lone failure was due to a dense fog while he was playing in Portland, Ore.

When it is considered that during that long series of scattered tournaments, the Joplin wonder played over all kinds of courses and under all sorts of weather conditions, his record as a whole is one that challenges comparison.

PHIL GLASSMAN, veteran boxing manager, of Philadelphia, takes one view of the glove game that nobody can dispute. That is,

Palfrey Sisters Battle Today

BROOKLINE, Mass., April 3.—(AP.)—The girls' National indoor tennis singles championship reached the quarter finals round at the Longwood Cricket club here with Brookline's seemingly invincible Palfrey sisters holding three of the eight brackets.

The family representation in the tournament, however, will be reduced by one today when Sarah, the defending champion, clashes with her sister, Joanna, in a fourth round match.

Easter Hero, one of the American owned favorites to win, finished six lengths behind the winner, while Billy Barton, another American star, which ran second last year, failed to finish. The hazardous jumps exacted their usual spills, with injuries resulting in some instances and miraculous escapes being made in others. More than one-quarter million persons witnessed the event.

PHILS EXPECT STAR BACK IN MONTH

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—(INS.)—Tommy Thevenow, the Phillies' new shortstop, will be able to play again in a month, according to the hopeful news given out by President William Baker at noon today following a long-distance telephone conversation with Business Manager Jerry Nugent at Lakeland, Fla.

Baker discounted the reports of the seriousness of Thevenow's condition.

"X-Ray pictures have revealed Thevenow is suffering from a broken nose and a fracture of the upper jaw," Baker said. "He has no skull fractures and was not injured internally as first feared. We expect him to be able to play again in a month."

Thevenow was injured when a rented car he was driving with Pitcher Harold Elliott, of Waco, Tex., sidewiped the car of Thomas Knott, of Champaign, Ill., last night near Lakeland. Elliott was only bruised, but Thevenow was knocked unconscious when the two players were caught under the car.

The outlook for the Phils in the National League race has been seriously affected by the brilliant shortstop's injury.

Little Rock Scores 3-1 Win in Vote For Sunday Ball

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 3.—(AP.)—By a majority exceeding three to one, Little Rock voters yesterday declared for Sunday baseball and placed the reins of the city government for the next two years in the hands of a 28-year-old mayor.

Late last night, with the city's vote complete and only a number of small townships still out, the vote in the county-wide referendum on the baseball question stood 5,902 for and 1,595 against. Passage of the referendum, authorized by the recent Legislature, means the Little Rock Travelers will be permitted to meet their Southern Association rivals here on Sundays.

Wheeling won the 1928 consolation tournament.

In a neck-and-neck battle, decided only in the final moment of play, College Grove High, of College Grove, Tenn., nosed out Moorhead, Minn., 30 to 29.

Hoppe Takes Lead Over Allan Hall

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—Willie Hoppe jumped into the lead in his 600-point three-cushion billiards match with Allan Hall, of St. Louis, yesterday. The score stands, Hoppe 200, Hall 198.

Yesterday's blocks were evenly split, but Hoppe's winning margin was greater than Hall's and enabled the former 18.2 balkline king to take the match lead. Hoppe won, 54 to 43, in 48 innings, and then Hall won, 55 to 50 in 34 innings.

Willie Hoppe and Allen Hall were practically even in their 600-point three-cushion billiard match. They divided the third and fourth blocks, Hoppe winning the third, 54 to 43, and Hall capturing the fourth, 55 to 50.

Floor Officials Close Season Here

The Western Pennsylvania Basketball Officials' Association closed its season last night with an annual banquet in the Hotel Henry. The members attended a theater party after the banquet.

The committee in charge of the affair was composed of J. W. Mates, George Graham and A. J. Wilson. Dan B. Dougherty was toastmaster. The speakers were James F. Malone, Henry Blum, A. C. Couch, Ralph S. Davis, President Dan Brickley and retiring President C. L. Bolster.

HOUSTON FANS HAND RUTH OVATION

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

HOUSTON, April 3.—An hour before the Yankees dressed in the Rice Hotel fans gathered in the lobby with an air of expectancy. They wanted to see the Babe. Some time before the players came down to the office floor, the fans packed the lobby and banked about the elevator. In due time, the door opened and the Babe, as sunburned as an Indian, stepped lightly out of the car and into the office. A big cheer went up. Babe answered the greeting with a typical smile, shouting, "Hello, folks—I'll see you all out at the park."

And Babe wasn't in the new orchard long before he had the early arrivals in an uproar. In his first trip to the plate in the batting practice session, Babe drove the ball high and dry over the faraway leftfield fence and before the session was over, he brought down the house by hitting the rocket over the centerfield ramparts, the fence being more than 400 feet from the plate.

The Pirates and Houston played to less than 200 fans yesterday, but the circus spirit hit the thriving city as soon as Babe reached the scene. The contest drew 12,000 fans, while fence tops and factory buildings held swarms of men and boys who apparently did not have the wherewith to get a better view of the great player.

Tony Lazzeri's arm seems to have entirely recovered. Poosh 'Em Up Tony is one of the most important members of the big titleholders. Denny Carroll, trainer of the San Francisco club, is given credit for putting Tony back in shape to play.

When one considers the Yankees aside from Ruth, Gehrig, Combs and Lazzeri, a deeper appreciation of the value of these four is felt. As one of the Pittsburgh veterans remarked, "The Yanks are just an ordinary team without Ruth and Gehrig."

It is true that the home run king's supply of power and their spirit is contagious, yet Combs and Lazzeri should not be overlooked on account of their team play assets.

Von Elm to Play In British Tourneys

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—With Bobby Jones unable to carry on the American defense in the British amateur and open tournaments, George Von Elm, the second ranking American amateur, will step into the breach. He is expected to arrive here tomorrow from Detroit to arrange for passage with the Ryder Cup team, which will sail on April 10.

RED CAGLE DOES PENANCE

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—The New York American says today that Christian Keener (Red) Cagle, captain-elect of the 1929 Army football team, is about to begin a 22-hour stretch of extra guard duty in penance for an infraction of regulations at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Ironically enough, Cagle's fall from official grace was caused by too much interference. The dashing and elusive Cagle of football fame found New York's traffic too much even for his nimble feet. As a result, he missed a ferry, then a train and brought down upon himself the wrath of West Point officials. With a party of Cadets, Cagle came to New York last Saturday. The party had been ordered to catch the 11:45 Weehawken Ferry for transport to New Jersey in time to catch the midnight train for West Point. Cagle, however, over-estimated his own speed and delayed by traffic, arrived at the ferry station just in time to see the boat pull away.

West Point officials then ordered him to do 22 hours of extra guard duty during his spare time on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Red began his penance today marching at attention up and down a 100 yard stretch of gravel back of the gray quadrangle of the Academy. The great halfback will devote three hours to his punishment on each Wednesday and two hours on each Saturday until he has completed his sentence.

PIRATES TRIM YANKEES IN SLUGFEST

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 3.—Well, the Bambino is on his way and everything is back to normal again in Houston. The Pirates this morning were all set to wind up their stay, they being scheduled to move toward Ft. Worth after today's clash with the native Buffaloes.

The fans here registered a remarkable thrill while the Yankees and Pirates were at the ball park yesterday and thousands went home to late supper after exacting duel between Joe Dawson and Bob Muesel ended in favor of the aviator-hurler.

It was this way. Dawson was rushed to the mound in the ninth inning when it appeared as if Babe Ruth and Co., would overcome a seven-run lead owned by the Buccos as the ninth opened.

The violent clash of Dawson and Meusel was staged with enough runs on the bases to give the Yanks victory. Five runs already had gone over in the round and the three runners on the bases could have scored on a double. Two were out.

TIGHT SITUATION

Joe eventually reached a three-and-two situation with Big Bob who then fouled off a couple with all three runners ready to tumble over the plate as each was running with the pitch. There was much relief in the Pittsburgh dugout when Muesel hoisted a foul to Earl Sheely to end the game.

A chronicle of the high spots of the battle in proper sequence would provide a cocking tale if the game meant anything in particular. In one sense, the battle did mean a lot to the baseball lovers of this city, 12,000 men, women and children cramming the park to capacity. The outpouring was a personal tribute to Babe Ruth, who was cheered on the streets and at the ball park.

When 12,000 turn out to see a game they are interested and more than one journalist in the filled press box remarked that they have seen few crowds which enjoyed a ball game more than the Houston assemblage.

SPROUT STARS

Many came to cheer Ruth, and stayed to rave about Sprout Waner, who was on the bases five straight times with two triples, a single and two walks. Moreover, Lloyd scored four runs and he ran to the faraway centerfield fence to haul in a couple of Ruth-Gehrig drives that held the crowd spell-bound. Both rockets seemed to be ticketed for the outside, but the center fence sits far from the plate and the youngster was able to get under both drives. They were hit in succession.

Ruth didn't slam any home runs, but he fanned three times, and looked better striking out than some batters do making a three-bagger. Larry French took the measure of Babe twice and Hill got him once. Babe did connect for a double that drove in a run. He left the game after fanning in the eigth; perhaps it is just as well for the Pirates that he did, for had he been around in the awful ninth, he might

SWEENEY ABSOLVED

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 3.—Coroner A. L. Bell last night absolved Earl (Young) Sweeney, of Mingo, O., and boxing promoters, from all blame in the death of Tony Azzara, Pittsburgh featherweight, who died here four days after a six-round bout with Sweeney. The coroner held the death of Azzara was not caused by a blow delivered during the bout.

JIM M'QUISTON TO BE LOST TO WESTMINSTER

By JESS CARVER.

Among the athletic celebrities who will be graduated from various university and college campuses this spring (and to judge from the wails of the coaches, the number will be legion), will be a versatile chap from old Westminster. The gentleman in reference is Jim McQuiston, quarterback of the Titan elevens of '28, '27 and '26.

Jim McQuiston.

McQuiston has won three letters in football, one in basketball and a pair in tennis. He was regarded as one of the two best quarterbacks in the Tri-State Conference last year, and was in a great measure responsible for the success of the United Presbyterian eleven, which tied with Duquesne for the Conference title.

Jim ranks third in his class, of which he has been president since his sophomore year, and will graduate with a scholastic average of 91 per cent, thereby winning magna cum laude honors. He was editor of the year book, art editor and editor of the school's humorous magazine, associate editor of the Westminster newspaper and generally, a campus leader.

MARRIAGE DATE SET

Invitations are out for the marriage of John Holohan, graduate manager of athletics at Duquesne University, which will take place April 17. The other principal (to write it sportively) will be Miss Mary White of this city. Mr. Buck (Hard Hat) Snyder, Zip Brickley, Bill Campbell and Albert Jason Slack have appointed themselves a committee of two dozen to stand guard over the presents. What a break!

This column offers sincere apologies to Miss Love of the society department for stealing the above item.

MAY HEAD STATE BODY

Cal Bolster, who comes close to being dean of the Western Pennsylvania Basktball Referees' Association and one of the leading football officials of the East is in line for the job as president of the State Basketball Officials' organization. This body, the official name of which escapes me at this time, is slated to hold a meeting here in the city sometime in the near future.

have lost the ball, as he was just about due.

YANKS TROUBLESOME

Carmen Hill toiled five rounds against the Yanks and left the contest with his team leading by a one-run margin. Hill found the American Leaguers a troublesome gang. Larry French worked three fine rounds, but he collapsed in the ninth. Lack of control was Larry's big trouble.

The Pirates took kindly to the servings of Rhodes and Sherid, two recruit righthanders of the enemy staff, who are being touted as comers. Wiley Moore also appeared on the slab.

None of the Yank sharpshooters were able to check the Pirates who smeared the foe for 17 hits. The Yanks uncorked 14 safeties before the fight ended.

GRANTHAM HIT

George Grantham left the game after being hit with a fast pitch. Coburn Jones jumped into the fray at this juncture and featured the drive with a smashing double and a single. Harry Riconda continued at third and made three hits.

Manager Bush announced this morning that Jess Petty would start against the Houston champs today.

Godfrey Rated Best Heavyweight

BOSTON, April 3.—(INS.)—Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker, thinks George Godfrey, huge Philadelphia Negro, is the best heavyweight in the ring today. He ranks Jack Sharkey, Paulino, Max Schmeling and Jim Maloney next, in order.

BOWLERS TO BANQUET

The Flannery Building Duckpin League will hold its annual banquet next Monday night at the Hotel Schenley. P. J. Smith, Joe Truschel and Walt Heimert are the committee in charge. Prizes will be awarded the winners by J. Rogers Flannery.

DAN BILLICK WINS

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 3.—Dan Billick, of Pittsburgh, easily defeated Chick Emmons, of Trenton, N. J., in an eight-round bout here last night. Billick got the jump at the start and never was headed.

Max Schmeling's Services in Demand

NEW YORK, April 3.—(INS.)—Two bids for the services of Max Schmeling, German boxer, during the summer outdoor season, have been received by his manager, Joe Jacobs.

Dick Dunn, Detroit promoter, wired Jacobs an offer of $100,000 for Schmeling to meet the winner of a heavyweight elimination tournament, now under way in Detroit, at Navin Field, Detroit, in June.

The other offer came from Nate Lewis, of Chicago, acting for Paddy Harmon, of the same city. It offered Schmeling $50,000 to meet Otto von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, in Chicago in May.

Jacobs said he had taken both offers under advisement.

DACEY-MONROE ROUND OUT MOOSE BILL

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

The card has been completed for the boxing show in the Moose Temple Friday night with the signing of the two six-round preliminary battles.

Billy Dacey, promising young light-heavyweight, of the Hill, who defeated Sam Hunter in his only other start here, has been paired with the veteran Frank Monroe, of Fair Haven, for the second event, while John Smackey, of Canonsburg, will box Johnny Michaels, of Swissvale, in the opener. Smackey has been promised a return bout with Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, if he beats Michaels. He lost to Hargraves recently and is anxious to wipe out the defeat.

Tiger Joe Randall, Negro welterweight, of Elizabeth, who recently defeated Dominick Profio in the Moose ring, and Young Rudy, of Charleroi, will box the 10-round main bout and Johnny Vivio, of Bloomfield, and Jackie Murray, of the Hill, will be seen in the semi-final.

Postponement of the Willie Davies-Midget Wolgast bout at New Castle from last Monday night to April 15, knocks in the head Promoter Flynn's plan to use Davies against Jackie Rodgers in his Moose Temple windup Friday night of next week and he now is on the lookout for another opponent for Rodgers.

O'DOWD TO BOX DATTO

Midget Mike O'Dowd, of Columbus, and Johnny Datto, of Cleveland, have been matched to box for the featherweight championship of Ohio at Toledo Wednesday night of next week. O'Dowd left here immediately after his bout with Andy Martin at Motor Square Garden Monday night, while Martin did not leave until yesterday afternoon. Andy, the winner, may be brought back within a few weeks for a battle with Eddie Shea or some other worthy opponent.

Martin, who registered his second hit here, the first against Datto, was the toast of the local boxing fans yesterday. The regulars who saw him cuff the fighting Irishman into defeat were singing his praises. His cleverness and two-fisted punching were things for them to marvel at.

An incident tending to illustrate Martin's quick wit under fire cropped out at the end of the seventh round. He was struck low just as the bell rang and winced in pain and protested. Boxing Commissioner Havey J. Boyle, sitting at the ringside, ordered that he be given extra time to recuperate between rounds if he wished, but Martin declined. "No, no," he protested, "ring the bell!" The bell was rung and he proceeded about his business of beating up O'Dowd. Many of the fans remarked about his sportsmanship, but overlooked entirely the fact that O'Dowd, who was badly spent at the time, would have benefited more than Martin himself from such a rest period. Just another instance wherein Handy Andy used his noodle to good advantage.

ALL-STAR BILL MONDAY

The card of four eight-rounders ought to pack 'em in at the Garden next Monday night following the fine battling in the reopening show last Monday. It's a real fighting bill on paper, as follows: Phil Goldstein vs. Ray Newton, Dan Billick vs. Jackie Dugan, Leo Kyburski vs. Johnny Windsor and Buck McTiernan vs. Allen Beatty.

Joey LeGrey, formerly of Johnstown, has been matched to box Gorilla Jones, Akron Negro, in the semi-final to the Bud Taylor-Tony Canzoneri bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, April 26. Izzy Grove and Tommy Freeman clash in the other 10-rounder. Jones and Freeman top off a card in Cleveland next Tuesday night, with Freeman seeking to avenge a defeat by the Gorilla last summer.

Jim McGirr, the McKeesport promoter, has completed his double windup bill for tomorrow night's show with the signing of the second bout, which will bring together Frankie Porto, of Glassport, and Young Angelo, of Swissvale. He has Battling Gizzy meeting Chet Smallwood and Phil Scello boxing Bobby Green in the two 10-rounders and Eddie Brennon mixing with Al Waldeck in the six-round opener.

O'MALLEY MEETS HARRIS

Steve O'Malley, of Bellaire, O., and Sammy Harris, of Akron, box the windup of a show at Sebring, O., tomorrow night.

Joe Anderson and Maxie Rosenbloom, old rivals, battle in Cincinnati tonight. Johnny (Pee Wee) Kaiser meets Davy Abad in St. Louis, where Abad recently defeated Benny Bass. Henry Lenard and Rosy Stoy are in the semi-final of the latter show.

Canton, O., is seeking a bout between K. O. Christner and Emmett Rocco, to be fought some time during the summer.

WOMAN ROLLS 554 IN PIN TOURNEY

What is believed to be one of the highest, if not the highest score, hung up by a woman bowler in tournament play was rolled on the Strand alleys last night in the tri-state duckpin classic when Mrs. N. Hoffman totaled 554 pins for her contribution to the singles event. This performance will probably stand as high score for her sisters to shoot at.

The Logan Lumber quintet led the five-men events last night with a score of 2,396. Butz and Powell totaled 992 in the doubles and Butz's 550 was the high singles score in the men's division. Yannacci, of Yukon, holds the high single score in one game with 243 for 10 frames. Last night's scores:

COMISKEY ENDS REBELLION

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago Americans, ruling with an iron hand, has stepped in to end the rebellion brewing among the White Sox.

The Old Roman, in a long-distance telephone conversation with Manager Russell Lena Blackburne, ordered Art Shires, recalcitrant young first baseman, to return to his home in Italy, Tex., and remain there at his own expense until he considers that he is in playing condition.

The order was received by Blackburne in Dallas, Tex., a few minutes before Shires was scheduled to board a Chicago-bound train for a star chamber session with the Old Roman. Thus, Comiskey made it plain to the White Sox that Manager Blackburne could do all the dealings with the dissatisfied players and that his word was law.

Shires, a promising rookie first baseman, and Bill Cissell, who cost the Sox $123,000 in 1927, were benched, and Shires dethroned as captain, at Ennis, Tex., last week when they were charged with celebrating too much and then refusing to obey Manager Blackburne. Cissell, reports to Comiskey said, has since made his peace with Blackburne and other dissatisfied players also have quieted down.

Blackburne has the reputation of being a stern disciplinarian, a quality Comiskey said he found lacking in Ray Schalk, whom Blackburne succeeded.

ROD ELLSWORTH NOT STARTER IN PYLE RUN

MONONGAHELA, Pa., April 3.—Rod V. Ellsworth, of Monongahela, who went to New York to start in C. C. Pyle's cross-country marathon race, after having competed in last year's event, is back home. He returned Sunday night and has not revealed his reason for not running.

In answer to inquiries, Ellsworth merely said he had "nothing to say."

SIMPSON LEADS FIELD

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—(AP.)—Paul Simpson, of Burlington, N. C., took the lead in C. C. Pyle's bunion derby yesterday by finishing fourth in the 29-mile run from Trenton, N. J., to Frankford, Northeast Philadelphia.

He far outdistanced Juul Cools, a Belgian runner, who had led the pack by the narrow margin of 45 seconds at the start of the lap. Cools now is in eleventh place.

Simpson's elapsed time is 12:20.17 hours. Herbert Hedeman, of Australia, is second with an elapsed time of 12.34.43 hours.

TRIMBLE FIRST

Troy Trimble of Bakersfield, Cal., breezed into Philadelphia first yesterday, covering the third lap in 3.38.40 hours. He started slowly, but pulled up at the close and passed Herbert Hedeman, of Australia, who had led most of the way. Hedeman was second in 3:39.00.

Simpson, leader in elapsed time, ran into tough luck when he turned off the course at Trevose, Pa., while heading the field. He lost several miles and took only fourth place. His time was 3.50.12, about 13 minutes behind the leader.

Also in the first 10 were Giusto Umek, Italy, third, 3.45.20; fifth: Ken Mullan, Philadelphia, 3.47.14; sixth, John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 3.59.43; seventh, Ed Gardner, Seattle, Wash., 4.02.02; eighth, Voight Houfstater, Manistee, Mich., 4.07.10; ninth, M. B. McNamara, Australia, 4.11.45; tenth, Arthur Newton, South Africa, 4.14.05.

OFF TO WILMINGTON

The caravan was given a warm welcome in Philadelphia, the Chamber of Commerce sending out a reception committee to escort the runners to a central point.

The camping field here was given a circus atmosphere by its high tents, where Pyle Follies was staged, its hot dog stands and its brightly colored trucks and wagons.

The run today will be to Wilmington, Del.

Pyle returned late yesterday from New York, where he went to settle a claim of Thomas Deming, Jersey City theatrical outfitter, who had a writ of attachment served on him for non-payment of some chairs obtained in connection with Pyle's side shows.

"There was no rubber check involved," declared the man who made bunions famous. "I stopped payment on his check because the chairs were broken. I adjusted the matter and the incident is closed."

Mother Follows Son in Race To Coast

LUDINGTON, Mich., April 3.—(AP.)—A Ludington mother has given up raising onions and will follow her son across the country to keep him in shape during the C. C. Pyle bunion derby.

Mrs. Kate L. Reinsch is the mother of Voigt Roufstater, who was among the leaders in last year's race across the country until an infected foot forced him from the contest. This year she is traveling with him, riding on a three and a half ton truck, which is being driven by Floyd Sunnifield, a friend from Manistee. Voight's brother Russell, of Newport, Ky., also is accompanying them on the trip.

Mrs. Reinsch hopes home cooking and a mother's care will keep her son in good condition for the long grind.

JACK DENIES ARENA DEAL

DETROIT, April 3.—It was admitted by Jack Dempsey himself yesterday that he is interested in the Detroit Olympia to the extent of purchasing controlling interest, but cheerfully admitted that closing such a deal was quite improbable.

Dempsey, accompanied by his wife and secretary, arrived here with the intention of remaining a week. He announced his intention of planning a mammoth outdoor arena in or near Detroit and not to buy Olympia.

"I do not think there is any chance of buying a controlling interest in the big playhouse, and I have no desire to stage any indoor shows in competition with Olympia," he added.

"I have several attractions lined up and will promote open-air fights here this summer. I am not ready at this time to give out any matches and must complete the arena details first."

Long's Sport Comment

that a fighter with a punch may become famous over night through a single knockout. He holds that a boxer may keep plugging away for a long time without getting anywhere; that he may be only a preliminary battler, apparently lacking in punching ability, and nobody's bargain.

But let him suddenly reach the limelight, knock out some larruping luminary, and he is made in one night, Glassman argues. Phil was arguing the case of Pinkey Kauffman, lightweight of Hartford, Conn., in particular. Kaufmann failed to stop Tommy (Kid) Murphy, of Trenton, N. J., in Philadelphia Monday night after having him in a bad way in the second round, but prior to that bout he jumped into prominence very suddenly by beating King Tut so severely that Referee Leo Houck stopped the bout in the second round.

Phil Glassman

It is Glassman's argument that Kauffman may go far on the strength of that knockout, that has established him in the front ranks of money-makers in his class and that he probably will give all the other lightweights lots of trouble. There are several other cases of like nature in the books to bear him out. One was that of Willie Jackson. The latter, virtually an unknown, became a celebrity over night when he knocked out Johnny Dundee in the first round in 1917. That one punch made Willie famous as a boy with a wallop and put him in the big money. Lew Tendler was looked upon merely as a boxer when he scored only three unimportant knockouts in his first five years in the ring, but in 1917 he won recognition as a puncher when he gave Young Terry McGovern a terrific lacing, enhancing his new reputation by knocking out such well-known boys as Pete Hartley in four rounds, and George Chaney in one chapter. Few outside the fighter's own region had ever heard of James Jay Braddock before the latter gave Pete Latzo a bad beating and broke his jaw. That brought Braddock to the front as a puncher, and in spite of a defeat at the hands of Leo Lomski he has made himself and his punch more prominent since by knocking out Tuffy Griffiths and Jimmy Slattery. One bout often makes a fighter.

In the Central League will be Oakland Board of Trade, W. L. Reineckers, Soho Board of Trade, East Liberty Red Sox, Pittsburgh Pressmen No. 9, and Immaculate Heart. This league also will swing into action May 6. The arbitration board will be Paul Kurtz, Jack Sell and Tom Birks.

The final meeting of the leagues to draw up the schedule will be held next Tuesday evening. The West Penn loop will meet at North Bessemer, and the Central League at Wagner's. After this meeting, all meetings in connection with the Wagner leagues will be held in the new Wagner Store, 813 Liberty avenue, where rooms are being prepared for the holding of baseball sessions.

Lomski Makes $250,000 in 2½ Years

SEATTLE, Wash., April 3.—(AP.)—Although he failed to win a second crack at the light-heavyweight boxing title, Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., made it known in Seattle today he had earned $250,000 in the fighting business during the last two and one-half years, and he announced that he is through battling all comers.

Lomski was on his way home to Aberdeen from Chicago, where he lost a 10-round decision to Tuffy Griffiths last week, thus eliminating him at present of an opportunity of meeting Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion.

"I'm independent now and I can afford to wait and fight the fellows I want," said Lomski.

"I've made a quarter million dollars and I've saved it, too."

Lomski, after several years of preliminary bouts, established himself as a boxer of class in 1925, when he knocked out Bert Collma, pride of Southern California, in the second round of a six-round bout in Seattle.

SWIM MARKS FALL; SPENCE, LAUFER WIN

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—Two Walters—Spence of Philadelphia, and Laufer, of Chicago—shared honors in the National A. A. U. swimming championships in the New York A. C. pool here last night.

Spence, competing unattached, broke the world record when he won the 300-yard individual medley swim in 3 minutes and 40 seconds. Laufer, entered from the Lake Shore A. C., set a new championship mark of 51 4-5 seconds when he captured the 100-yard free-style event.

Spence was forced to shave three and two-fifths seconds from his own world 300-yard medley mark to beat back Laufer's challenge. Only an inch or so divided the two stars at the finish line.

RACE IS DUEL

The race was a duel all the way between the two Walters. Spence jumped into the lead in the first 100 yards of breast-stroke swimming, but Laufer caught and passed him in the second 100 yards of backstroke. The Chicago star clung to this margin during the last 100 yards of free-style, but Spence put on a brilliant spurt to nip him at the finish line.

Austin Clapp, of Stanford University, was third; August Harms, of the New York A. C., fourth, and Boyd Liddle, of the University of Iowa, fifth and last.

KOJAC BEATEN

Laufer won the 100 yards free-style final by five feet from George Kojac, of Rutgers, with Spence third and Johnny Howland, of Yale, fourth and last. Laufer's time of 51 4-5 seconds eclipsed the championship record, set by Johnny Weissmuller, by one-fifth of a second.

In the first match of the water polo championships, the Illinois A. C. crushed he Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., 12 goals to none. The match was halted at the end of the first half because the Brooklyn team was not in condition.

S. Taber, of Brown, in 1915, and the world outdoor mark of 4 minutes, 10 4-10 seconds made by Paavo Nurmi in Sweden.

The mile run, an added event on the two-day program, is in addition to the effort Nurmi is expected to make on both days to break the records for the two and three-mile runs.

STOCKS BREAK AFTER EARLY ADVANCE

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—The spectre of higher Federal Reserve rediscount rates arose in Wall street again today to haunt speculators for the advance, and stock prices broke sharply after an early period of strength. Oils were under liquidation from the start as a result of Washington advices that the proposed nation-wide oil curtailment agreement would be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, the losses in that group ranging from 1 to 5 points. Early advances of 1 to nearly 10 points in the general list were cut down or wiped out, and a long list of issues sold 1 to 8 points below yesterday's final quotations.

Credit conditions continued tight. Call money renewed at 10 per cent, but banks called $35,000,000 in loans and the supply of fresh funds was so scarce that the rate threatened to go higher. Time money was quoted at 8½ to 9 per cent. While Wall Street was not greatly surprised at the increase in stock exchange member loans to a new high record, the fact that they were nearly 50 per cent higher than a year ago caused some misgivings in conservative quarters.

OILS LOSE GROUND

Several of the leading oil shares lost all the gains recorded yesterday on buying influenced by the hope that federal authorities would approve the curtailment program of the American Petroleum Institute. President Reeser, of the institute, expressed the belief that the statement of the attorney general would not have the effect of stopping the curtailment movement, although it may retard its complete success. Houston dropped 5 points, Indian Refining Certificates 4, Standard Oils of California and New Jersey and Indian Refining 3½. Mexican Seaboard 3 and Texas Company, Skelly, Richfield, Pan-American B, Marland, Prairie, Standard Oil of New York and Atlantic Refining all fell back 2 points or more before the selling movement was checked.

Steels developed strong resistance to selling pressure as a result of the encouraging statement of President Grace to the Bethlehem stockholders, and the optimistic nature of the weekly trade reviews. Iron Age states that following a record-breaking quarter, iron and steel production shows no signs of declining, with the outlook darkened only by the fear of a general collapse in the securities markets.

Express shares developed extreme buoyancy although the spectacular gains recorded in the early trading were not maintained. Adams soared 50 points and broke 25 and American Express jumped 34½ points and fell back nearly 6.

LEADERS DROP

Wright Aeronautical jumped 8 points to 260 and then tumbled to 250. International Telephone was hammered 7½ points below last night's close, A. M. Byers 5¼, Greene Cananea Copper 4½ and Canadian Pacific, Anaconda and Montgomery Ward each dropped 4 points, selling of the last named being influenced by the reported liquidation of the Merseles holdings.

Midland Steel Products preferred, Baldwin, Advance Rumely issues, Curtiss and Bethlehem Steel were prominent in the early advance, but the gains were not maintained. A slow recovery started in the mid-afternoon but trading turned dull on the rally.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 7 points and sold about 10 to 12 points net lower during the early trading under liquidation and some local and Wall street selling, inspired by relatively easy cables, a favorable weather map and a favorable view of the weekly weather report.

May eased off to 20.43 and the new October contract to 19.86 under this early pressure, but offerings were absorbed by covering. There also seemed to be some buying in anticipation of a bullish report on boll weevil survival at midday. This rallied the market, which recovered the latter part of its losses. Active months only 2 or 3 points below yesterday's closing quotations by the end of the first hour.

Private cables said there had been hedge selling and liquidation of near months in Liverpool, but that the Continent was buying for later deliveries.

Prices sagged off again during the middle of the morning under a renewal of realizing or liquidation, particularly in the near months. The market worked back within a point or two of the early low levels, but offerings soon subsided and trading was quieter late in the morning, with prices fairly steady. At midday the market was steady at net declines of about 6 to 10 points.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Raw sugar was quiet early today. While no sales were reported, sugars in nearby positions were offered at last paid prices of 3.61, duty paid.

Raw futures opened 1 point higher on January and unchanged to 2 points lower on other positions, but soon weakened under tired long liquidation and selling by houses with trade and Cuban connections. The list at midday was net 1 to 3 points lower and at new low records for the season. Selling was promoted by the unsettled state of spots, poor demand for refined and disappointing cables from abroad.

Refined was quiet and unchanged at 4.90 for fine granulated, with second hands offered at 4.75 to 4.80.

Money Market.

LONDON, April 3.—Bar silver, 25⅞d per ounce. Money, 4⅝ per cent. Discount rates, short bills, 5¼ per cent; three months, 5⅜ per cent.

Iron Trade Review.

With three record months behind them, and a fourth in prospect, iron and steel producers in a spirit of prudence are scanning the situation more closely, says the Iron Trade Review. At Chicago, today's stronghold of the industry, second quarter production is considered sold out, and deliveries have become further deferred. Specifications at Cleveland have come back after a slight letdown. Weak spots in the automotive situation at Detroit are being neutralized, but second quarter assembly rates hinge partially upon the rapidity with which retail buying moves some of the overproduction of the first quarter. The Pittsburgh and eastern markets have changed little in the past 30 days. Youngstown largely mirrors the automotive situation at Detroit. The rise of 25 cents per ton in Lake Superior iron ore, applying on open market sales of over 2,000,000 tons and on many long-term agreements, has greatly stimulated pig iron selling in the lake region. Furnaces at Cleveland sold 65,000 tons, some for third quarter, in the past week. Buffalo furnaces are preparing to move 150,000 tons east by barge this season. Chicago district shipments in the first quarter were a record. Canadian producers are considering an advance of 50 cents to $1 per ton. Semi-finished steel continues scarce in all districts, restricting finishing mills at Chicago and Youngstown. Scrap is strong in most districts, the result of a heavy melt and only moderate stocks, though prices move narrowly.

Monthly Loan Total Higher.

The New York Stock Exchange reports collateral loans to members, contracted for and carried in New York, amounted to $6,804,457,408 at the close of business March 30, a new high record and an increase of $125,911,491 as compared with February 28 when loans totaled $6,678,545,917. On January 31, this year, loans totaled $6,735,164,242, the previous high record. On March 31, 1928, the total was $4,640,174,172. Of the total on March 31, 1929, $6,209,998,520 represented demand, or call, loans and $594,458,888 time loans as against $5,948,149,410 and $730,396,507 respectively on February 28. These figures cover the borrowings of New York Stock Exchange members only. The New York Federal Reserve member banks' loans on stocks and bonds to all brokers and dealers increased $142,000,000 during the same approximate period from $5,507,000,000 on February 27 to $5,649,000,000 on March 27. Range on New York Stock Exchange members' loans for three years follows:

	High.		Low.
1927	Dec. 31. 4,432,907,000	Jan. 31.......	3,138,786,000
1926	Feb. 27. 3,535,590,000	May 28.......	2,767,400,000

Poor Lo Spends Some "Dough."

Effect of sudden wealth placed in the hands of inexperienced persons is strikingly told in the case of two Oklahoma Indians, who had become enormously rich overnight after the discovery of oil on their lands, according to a story in the current issue of "Property," a publication of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company. Leaping Doe, with more money than he knew what to do with, on his way to buy the most expensive automobile he could find, ran across a funeral procession. So struck was he with the lines and the glass of the hearse, he promptly bought one for his personal use. Thereafter he and his squaw rode about proudly behind its plate glass sides. An Indian neighbor, Black Eagle, who also had become suddenly wealthy, built himself an enormous beautiful house; and when it was completed he was so awed with its magnificence and magnitude that he pitched his tepee on the front lawn and proceeded to settle down quietly to admire his mansion. The story is told in connection with some of the oddities of human nature which have been brought to the surface in various sections of the United States through trust company observance of the vagaries of those who have money without the experience required to conserve and manage it.

Fajardo Sugar's Misfortunes.

After a continued 10 per cent dividend record since 1923 and the payment of extras from time to time, Fajardo Sugar directors felt compelled to drop that stock from the dividend list at the recent meeting. Several causes combined to make this step imperative, but one chief reason was the damages suffered from the terrific hurricanes of last September when the growing crop was damaged and operations impaired by destruction of the company's plants. Back of this there was another unfavorable factor in the weakening of the company's resources and earning power and the acute depression in the raw sugar industry. The tariff preferential of 1.76 cents a pound enjoyed by Porto Rican companies was not sufficient to overcome this condition.

Money and Business.

In important banking quarters some concern is felt over the contingency of the current stringency in collateral loan market, if continued, exerting an unfavorable influence upon general business and particularly new enterprises. The president of one of the larger New York banks is understood to have been greatly impressed over the curtailment in trade which followed the crash in the Canadian securities markets recently. He was informed that within 10 days of the break a very large reduction in orders for automobiles and articles of luxury took place. Thus far in this country there has not, according to current reports obtainable, been any appreciable restriction of business operations except in construction.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, April 3.—Notwithstanding Kansas reports of strong winds threatening to damage crops, Chicago wheat prices underwent an early setback today. The market proved more responsive to the fact that Liverpool wheat quotations had failed to reflect yesterday's advance here. Opening at ⅛c decline to ½c gain, Chicago wheat later showed a decided general drop. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise easier, with corn starting unchanged to ½c off and subsequently sagging all around.

Bears in the wheat market put considerable emphasis today on announcement that the Canadians are prepared for the 1929 wheat crop in the three prairie provinces with 17,453,000 acres, compared with 16,269,000 acres for 1928. There was an increase on new breaking in Alberta and Manitoba. All three provinces reported a decrease in the land under summer fallow, but an increase in fall plowing.

Why Does U. S. Have Banks One Duty Is to Stop Panic.

By B. C. FORBES

WHY do we have banks?

To handle money so as to facilitate the smooth carrying on of business.

Is it part of their duty to do what they can to prevent panics?

To ask the question is to answer it.

WHY do we have a Federal Reserve system?

To enable the nation to function smoothly financially.

Is it ever the duty of the Federal Reserve authorities to precipitate a panic?

To ask the question is to answer it.

INSTEAD of having made himself the worst enemy of the Federal Reserve Board by taking prompt and decisive action last week to avert a panic, Charles E. Mitchell, head of the largest group of banking institutions in America, should be regarded by the Reserve Board as its best friend.

Had a wild panic broken out, causing chaos and disaster in the security markets and unsettling general business confidence, who would have had to bear the brunt of the blame?

The Federal Reserve Board unquestionably would have been held responsible by the great majority of the people.

THE writer sympathized with the desire of the Federal Reserve authorities to discourage continual expansion of borrowing for speculative purposes. Their aim, under the dangerous monetary and speculative conditions which had been brought about, was sound.

There was room for difference of opinion as to whether the board took the wisest possible steps to carry out its purpose. It may be that there was too much public talk and not enough direct action.

But there is not room for two opinions as to whether it would have been in the interest of the American people to bring about a panic. That "cure" unquestionably would have been worse than the speculative disease, for once panic is let loose, there is no telling what havoc it may wreak. Those of us who have lived through earlier financial panics have not pleasant recollections of them and their aftermath—failures galore, paralyzed industry, acute unemployment, nation-wide unhappiness.

WHOSE well-being must always be given first consideration?

The great mass of the wage-earners and other ordinary folks who make up all but a relative handful of the American people.

This writer's repeated warnings against brewing trouble in the stock market were inspired mainly by the fear, begotten by past experiences, that general business and employment were almost certain to suffer if the speculative mania, and its gross inflation of interest rates, were not discouraged and checked. The more flagrant the speculation became, and the higher money rates were forced up through constant expansion of borrowing for stock market purposes, the more certain it became that the final upshot would be disastrous.

That which is abnormal does not last. And they talk nonsense who call the recent conditions in the stock market and the money market normal. When call money last week, after having reached 20 per cent, receded to 15 per cent, many hailed such a renewal rate as wonderfully satisfactory! Fifteen per cent call money is no more normal than an 18-foot man would be; it is at least three times normal.

Nor is it nomal to borrow money to buy stocks yielding half the cost of the money to carry them.

THE writer can only repeat what he has said many times before, namely, that the best thing that could happen in the interest of the people as a whole would be a gradual return to normal conditions in the stock market and in the money market. There will be a return, one way or another, to such conditions. But it looks as if the journey may lie through an unpleasant amount of wreckage.

EXCESSES bring their own brand of reward.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—The curb market was unsettled today by a wave of selling in the oil stocks inspired by Attorney General Mitchell's statement that the Federal Oil Conservation Board was without authority to grant the American Petroleum Institute immunity under the anti-trust law in its crude production control law.

The selling dwindled, however, on the encouraging statement from President Reeser of the institute early in the afternoon that the attorney general's opinion would only retard complete success of the plan. Oil shares generally lost 1 to 4 points during the forenoon. Vacuum and International Petroleum each yielded 2 points, Indiana more than one, and Humble, which has recently been a strong point, 4. Imperial Oil of Canada continued its upward march, with a gain of more than a point.

Ford of Canada again fluctuated over a wide range, soaring 50 points during the morning, but losing all its gain by midday. oMtors generally were strong, however, in sympathy with a similar tendency on the "big board." Checker Cab and Auburn Rose 3 or 4 points. Aviation stocks turned heavy United and Aviation Corp. of America both losing a couple of points.

Servel was well supported, making a new peak at 19⁸. Goldman Sachs was strong at the opening, but later turned reactionary. International Telephone new stock was firm. Utilities generally held up well during the major part of the session. Federal Water Service and Electric Bond and Share made small gains, and American and Foreign Power warrants jumped nearly 2 points.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Little Rock Votes For Sunday Baseball

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 3.—(AP.)—The same election that yesterday gave Little Rock Sunday baseball by a majority of nearly four to one, saw the elevation of 25-year-old Pat L. Robinson, city attorney, to the office of mayor. He is the youngest mayor in the country of a city in Little Rock's class. He was elected city attorney at 23.

The measure authorizing the Sunday baseball referendum passed the Legislature after a hard fight. It barely escaped veto of Gov. Harvey Parnell, who, in signing it, said he personally was opposed to Sunday baseball but believed it was a question for popular decision.

BOARD CANNOT O. K. OIL CUT

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Secretary Wilbur today informed representatives of the American Petroleum Institute that Attorney General Mitchell had ruled that the Federal Oil Conservation Board had no power to grant approval of the institute's proposed production curtailment.

Secretary Wilbur read to the representatives of the institute a letter from Attorney General Mitchell which answered the question whether the Federal Oil Conservation Board could approve the proposed curtailment, but which declared that the Attorney General is not authorized by law to give an opinion on the actual legality of the proposed program. The institute has asked the conservation board for approval of its proposal to curtail oil production in 1929 to the 1928 level.

EARS AID POLICE SOLVE CRIMES

Although the fingerprint system of identifying criminals is almost infallible, there is always one uncertainty in its use—the ability of a criminal to leave a false set of prints made with rubber stamps.

Because of this there is a possibility that before long the fingerprint system may be replaced in official favor by the shape of the ear. Paris police are reported to be working out systems of classification and description. No two human ears of exactly the same shape have ever been discovered, and their shape cannot be altered surgically without leaving telltale marks.

Whereas fingerprints cannot be taken except by force or by the individual's consent, ears can be studied and even photographed without the knowledge of the possessor.

Ear photographs may soon be filed systematically and referred to at need, in a similar manner to fingerprints.

JUDGES' INDEX ORDER DEFIED

A request for $20,450 for installing a card index system for Criminal Court records, ordered by the judges, has been shelved by the County Commissioners. Commissioners Charles C. McGovern and Joseph G. Armstrong opposed the measure, declaring that the right of judges to order a certain system without competitive bidding would be fought in the courts.

McGovern expressed the belief that the installation of a filing system is necessary. Armstrong declared the judges had been bosses for a long time, and that it was time their right to order supplies should be questioned.

NARROW PRICE CHANGES IN STOCK MARKET HERE

Mixed price changes were noted in the early dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, with the list apparently marking time awaiting settlement of the money disturbance in the securities markets generally.

Fluctuations in the forenoon dealings were confined to fractions for the most part and there were no outstanding features in the list. Witherow Steel preferred, which dropped 6 points yesterday on a sale of 50 shares, recovered 1 point of the decline at the opening today. There was no news to account for yesterday's recession in the issue and, in the absence of information, traders attributed the drop to absence of buying interest, which necessitated lowering of the offering figure.

Armstrong Cork displayed a consistently steady tone again today, moving up fractionally in response to moderate buying orders attracted by the stock's firm appearance during the past several sessions. Armstrong is in a position to benefit from last year's improvement program and it will also show results of the settlement of patent litigation in its favor.

Local oils held close to their previous quotations, while the oils in the eastern markets suffered a break on news of differences arising at the petroleum production conferences being held under the auspices of the American Petroleum Institute. However, the meet was hardly expected to proceed without encountering a few snags and the long pull expectation is that the oil leaders will come to an agreement favorable to the industry as a whole before they adjourn. President Hoover's attitude is favorable to elimination of waste in the industry and there is reason to expect that fears of the Clayton act restrictions on the program will prove unfounded.

On the local curb the newly issued Mayflower Drug common appeared in the market for the first time with sales at 8¼. The offering of stock was made yesterday by a syndicate headed by Moore, Leonard & Lynch.

Sale of 16 Ships Approved by Board

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—The Shipping Board yesterday authorized the sale of three cargo ships and announced that bids would be asked on five tankers and the Gulf West Mediterranean Line, consisting of eight cargo steamers.

Two of the ships were sold to the Shepard and Morse Lumber Company, Boston, for $117,000 and $132,000. The third was purchased by the Flood Lines, Inc., of San Francisco for $20,000 cash.

The sale of the five tankers will dispose of the last of the fleet of tankers which once numbered 148.

STEEL RETAINS HIGH LEVEL

No indications of production declines in iron and steel regardless of a record-breaking first quarter are seen at the beginning of the new quarter, the Iron Age will say tomorrow in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade.

The demand is well diversified, reflecting a high general level of activity in consuming industries and delivery promises are still extending on certain products and there has been little relaxing of pressure for shipment, the summary will declare.

Pig iron production in the last three months, at 10,363,923 tons, was the highest for any first quarter and the second largest for any quarter. Production in March, according to blast furnace returns to the Iron Age, was 3,714,473 tons, or 119,822 tons a day, the second largest monthly total and third highest daily rate. Steel ingot production in March undoubtedly established a new monthly record, and production for the first quarter surpassed the previous high mark, reached in the last three months of 1928, by at least 300,000 tons.

While undiminished demand from automobile companies contributed largely to the pressure on producers, railroad buying, pipe line awards and structural steel lettings have been features of the week's developments.

CONSERVATION CUTS PLYMOUTH OIL INCOME

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

HEAVY expenditures for litigation and conservation measures taken to reduce the output of crude oil kept the earnings of the Plymouth Oil Company in check last year and made it impossible for the company to show its true potentialities. Even under these handicaps, however, net profit, after deducting earnings accruing to minority interests, was $2,077,861. This was equivalent to $1.98 a share on the capital stock. It compared with $2,382,093 or $2.27 a share in 1927.

In 1928 the production of the Big Lake Oil Company in Reagan County, Tex., in which Plymouth has a 75 per cent interest and from which it secures most of its income, was 5,183,382 barrels. This compared with 6,573,332 barrels in 1927 and with 7,573,332 barrels in 1926. The declines in both of the past two years were due entirely to conservation measures.

THE average production last year was 14,162 barrels a day. It has been estimated that this output can be doubled when market conditions in the industry improve. In the past two years Plymouth has been taking just about enough oil from the ground to cover its dividend requirements of $2 a share annually on the 1,050,000 shares of stock.

Costly litigation which has burdened the company's earnings and made its outlook uncertain was definitely brought to a close last year. The suit brought by the State of Texas was settled. This litigation alone cost $593,951 during 1928. Without such an abnormal expense, earnings a share would have been 56 cents more. No such drag on earnings will take place in the present year. The suit, brought by W. M. Henderson and his associates, was ended in favor of the company by the Supreme Court of Delaware on February 10, 1928. The total cost of $636,052 for this litigation had been set up on the balance sheet as a deferred charge.

THE existence of three sands in the Reagan County field has been indicated by the drilling of a deep test well by the Group No. 1 Oil Corporation to a depth of 8,520 feet at a distance of only 250 feet from the Big Lake property. Initial production was 40 barrels a day. Due to gas pressure the tools were removed and since then the well has been blowing itself in. On March 26, production was 2,262 barrels of 56-degree gravity oil. At present the Big Lake Oil Company is drilling four wells to this deep sand.

The Plymouth Oil Company has completed a well on its 280-acre lease in Howard County, Tex., which has been given a pro ratio production of 1,005 barrels a day based on 60 per cent of its potential capacity. A well has also been completed by the Howard Oil Company, adjoining the northwest line, rated at over 1,000 barrels a day, which indicates that the entire lease should be productive. Only offset wells are to be drilled on this field until the present overproduction has been relieved in the industry.

DURING 1928 the casinghead gasoline plant produced 4,838,559 gallons at a profit before depreciation of $111,671. Substantial profits are expected in the future since production has been further expanded.

Plymouth's earnings for 1928 were shown after charging off $246,384 for depletion, $639,993 for depreciation and $271,045 for intangible drilling costs. Against a total property account of $17,273,402 shown on the balance sheet of December 31, 1928, reserves of $11,311,643 have been set up.

THE company has no funded debt. Outside of its own capital stock the one-fourth interest in the Big Lake Oil Company, represented by $1,000,000 of stock not owned by the parent organization, is the only other charge on earnings. Last year earnings applicable to this minority interest totaled $739,141 and dividends paid to it were $875,000.

Plymouth's financial position is good with current assets of $1,769,114 and current liabilities of $489,298 Cash amounted to $543,594 Included in current assets was a dividend declared by the Big Lake Oil Company, payable January 5, in which Plymouth's share was $465,500

At the close of the year the company had an earned surplus of $3,268,122 due to its own stockholders and a surplus of $789,591 due to Big Lake Oil minority stockholders.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Liquidation Continues.

Steady liquidation resulting from nervousness over the possibility of a re-discount rate raise at New York forced the market lower today and traders were very timid about re-entering the list on the buying side. Money conditions remain as the big question mark of the entire trading situation and until the uncertainty is cleared up the Street will probably witness recurrent downturns such as that of today. Call money renewed at 10 per cent as against yesterday closing rate of 12 per cent, but in the face of heavy withdrawals, approximately $35,000,000, the rate held to the 10 per cent level and had the effect of bolstering up the steadily diminishing courage of the bulls. The enthusiastic buying of the oil stocks yesterday was followed today by almost as active selling in that division. News emanating from the conferences of oil executives in New York and Washington was of varying color and did not stir the buying interest as was the case yesterday. An official opinion that the Oil Conservation Board, appointed some time ago by President Coolidge, is without authority to enforce rules and regulations was received as a disappointment. Market circles evidently did not stop to think that this body was not presented as a law-making instrument. But it is to be presumed that its recommendations will receive full consideration by such authority as can make the laws. The board today received the American Petroleum Institute's conservation plan which will probably receive serious and sympathetic consideration.

Money Market Eases.

The money market eased perceptibly in the late dealings today after it had remained steady at 10 per cent throughout the first four hours of the session. More than $35,000,000 was withdrawn from the call market and the general opinion up to mid-afternoon was that a higher rate would follow. However, funds made their appearance in large volume at the start of the last hour and the call figure slipped back to 8 per cent stimulating a fair rally in the groggy stock market.

Durant Answers Glass.

W. C. Durant issued the following statement today: "Senator Glass, of Virginia, justifying the Federal Reserve Board's attack upon the business interests of the country, makes a statement that if less of the country's unemployed funds were loaned by bankers on stock exchange security, the best collateral ever created, there would be a greater volume of legitimate business in Virginia and other states. Senator Glass probably is not aware that the Industrial Rayon Corporation is at this moment building a plant at Covington, Va., the senator's own state, costing approximately $5,000,000. This industrial enterprise and hundreds of others making for our present prosperity would never have been attempted if securities of these companies could not, by order of the Federal Reserve Board, be accepted as collateral when offered by brokers or others to the banks of the country. Senator Glass might also be pleased to know that in addition to the plant investment by the Industrial Rayon Corporation, 800 new houses will be built within the next few months with a greatly increased number within the next two years, provided the prosperity of the country is not jeopardized by thoughtless demagogues."

Copper Miners Get Raise.

Anaconda Copper Mining Company has advanced miners' wages at Butte, Mont., 25 cents a day to $6. This advance is effective as of April 1 and is the third advance of 25 cents a day since October 1, 1928, when miners' wages were advanced 50 cents a day. Wages in Arizona have been advanced 5 per cent, effective April 1. Nevada and Utah mines advanced wages about 5 per cent.

Pierce Dividend Prospects.

At a meeting later this month it is expected directors of Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Corporation will consider inaugurating preferred dividends at a regular $6 annual rate. A dividend on the company's class A and class B common will probably be considered at a later meeting. Since Studebaker assumed control of Pierce-Arrow, there has been marked improvement in the company's business. Current production is averaging 50 cars a day, and the company has 2,500 unfilled orders.

Madison Square Garden.

The Madison Square Garden Corporation reports net income of $566,400 for the quarter ended February 28, 1929, after charges equal to $1.74 on 324,860 shares, against $75,327, or 23 cents a share the preceding quarter and $434,854, or 1.34 a share, in the 1928 quarter. For nine months to February 28, 1929, profit was $333,280, or $1.03 a share, against $815,863, or 2.51 a share in the 1928 period.

Water Works Net Expands.

American Water Works and Electric Company reports for 12 months ended February 28, 1929, consolidated net income of $6,539,394, after interest, depreciation, etc., equal to $3.64 on the common shares outstanding, against $4,703,599, or $2.58 on 1,395,436 shares last year.

Warner-Sciver Financing.

Initial financing for the newly formed Warner Company, giving effect to the consolidation of the Charles Werner Company and the Van Sciver Corporation, will be carried out today with the offering of $7,000,000 15-year first mortgage 6 per cent bonds with common stock subscription warrants at a price of 99 to yield 6.10 per cent. The offering group is headed by Dillon, Read & Co., Inc., J. S. Wilson, Jr. & Co., and Laird, Bissell & Meeds. Each bond will carry a subscription warrant, detachable after October 1, 1929, entitling the holder to purchase five shares of common stock at $40 a share up to April 1, 1930, thereafter at $45 a share up to April 1, 1932, and thereafter at $50 a share up to April 1, 1934.

A. P. I. Oil Figures.

The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 28,350 barrels for the week ended March 30, totaling 2,627,250 barrels, according to the American Petroleum Institute. Daily average production east of California was 1,845,350 barrels, a decrease of 36,350 barrels.

Week's Loadings Increase.

Revenue freight loadings for the week ending March 23 were reported by the American Railway Association to have totaled 960,698 cars. This was an increase of 3,238 over the preceding week and was also a gain of 10,504 cars over the corresponding week of last year.

Favors Selective Buying.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s market letter says: The volume of trading shows a tendency to dry up under professional pressure. The present period of high rates for money is almost over and under the circumstances it is not reasonable to expect a continuation of market pressure. At this level we would rather buy the best stocks of selected industries than sell. Despite the probable reduction in the price of copper to about 20 cents later in the year, we believe that the present price of these stocks have not yet reflected that improved condition in the industry. In other words, we believe that they are undervalued even with the metal selling 4 cents a pound lower. Out of the turmoil of the past 10 days, it is plainly evident that leading stocks are not a sale. A great business year is ahead of us, and the market will reflect that condition."

Woods Agency Record.

William M. Duff, president of the Edward A. Woods Company, reports $17,670,498 of new paid life insurance, with premium deposits of $455,270 for the quarter. This establishes a new three months' record for the Woods agency.

Steel Output at 95½ Per Cent.

Steel ingot production is now at nearly 95½ per cent of capacity against 94½ per cent a week ago, and 94 per cent two weeks ago. The gain is due to the independents, which are at 93½ per cent, against 92½ per cent a week ago, and 92 per cent two weeks ago. United States Steel Corporation is operating between 97 and 98 per cent against about 97 per cent last week and below 97 per cent two weeks ago.

Auto Production Records.

Additional reports of March automobile production show record output of substantial increases for the month. Packard produced 4,708 cars against 4,394 in February, and 4,699 in March, 1928; Graham-Paige 9,610, making 25,284 for the quarter against 13,125 in the same 1928 quarter and Nash 15,384, against 10,672 in March, 1928.

United States automobile production set a new high monthly record in March at 535,600 cars. This is an increase of 15 per cent over February, the previous record month.

Koppers Gas and Coke.

The Koppers Gas and Coke Company reports net profit after depreciation, taxes and interest for the year ended December 31, 1928, of $3,795,874, which was equivalent to $6.32 a share on the 600,000 shares of common stock, all of which are owned by the Koppers Company. This compared with $9,580,223, or $15.97 a share in 1927. Profits for last year were more than three times the dividend requirements on the $20,000,000 of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock which is in the hands of the public and on which an initial dividend was paid on April 1, 1929.

Copper Dividends Raised.

Another series of dividend advances in the copper industry is evidently at hand and the Street is looking for further good news to follow the announcements made this week by Miami Copper and Cerro de Pasco. The former doubled its dividend from $2 a year to $4, and Cerro de Pasco raised its payment from a $5 to a $6 annual basis.

Adams-Railway Express.

The Adams Express Company has purchased the entire holdings of American Railway Express Company stock that has been held by the American Express Company. This, with the holdings which it previously had, makes the Adams Express Company the owner of about 75 per cent of the entire capital stock of the American Railway Express Company.

Since the sale of its properties to the Railway Express Agency, Inc., effective March 1, American Railway Express has been in essence an investment trust with assets of about $42,000,000 in cash. Adams Express has been a holding company since 1918, when it turned its express business over to the American Railway Express, which was then formed to take over the operation of the businesses of the country's leading express companies. The sale of its holds in American Railway Express leaves American Express with its business in travelers checks, letters of credit, foreign travel and forwarding.

Babst on Cuban Sugar.

Earl D. Babst, chairman American Sugar Refining Company, told President Machado, of Cuba, that Cuba's economic future largely depends on the nation adopting a system of advance rather than retreat on the world sugar market. He suggests dissolving the Sugar Export Company, replacing the Tarafa port restrictions and other restrictions and restoring a free market, according to a Havana dispatch.

Cuban raw sugar output to the end of March amounted to 3,942,000 tons, against 3,322,230 a year ago, according to the Sugar Club, of Havana.

The report says: "We are in process of acquiring the Ebling Creamery Co. and City Dairies Inc. of Detroit, Mich.; Chestnut Farms Dairy, Inc., of Washington, D. C.; the Clover Dairy, of Wilmington, Del.; J. D. Boszell Co., of Peoria, Ills., and Wisconsin Creameries, Inc., of Milwaukee, Wis."

Reserve Heads May Meet Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Governors of the 12 Federal Reserve banks continued their semi-annual conference here today with a possibility that their work would not be completed until tomorrow. The Federal Reserve Board held its usual daily session.

It was said before the governors opened the day's meeting that no arrangements had been made for a joint session between the bank executives and the board. Such a session, it was explained at the offices of the board, probably would be held before the governors departed for their homes. If they do not complete their own work today a joint session will be held tomorrow.

BUGS BAER Says

RAZOR EDGES AND SAFE MARGINS.

MARCH came in like a bull and went out like a bear.

Never in the history of WOW Street has there been so many panics with so little confusion.

"Bugs" Baer

The last Monday in March before the second Tuesday in bankruptcy was the day of daze.

On that anniversary of big business and capillary tremors over eight million shares of gilt-edged subpenas were bought, sold, exchanged, transferred and remitted without notice.

Call money was singing in the twilight like the bloodhounds chasing Eliza across the ice. If the dogs had been smart they would have gone back home for their rubber boots.

The bleat of the lamb, being given the marginal treatment for city-dressed mutton, was as beautiful and as clear as the top note of the world's greatest tenor.

The little investors had the same grip on the situation that a frankfurter gets on a picnic plate.

They were classified, tagged and eliminated from the tournament by the hundreds and tossed out to whimper with success.

No feathers on either end. And very few in the middle.

A short bankroll in WOW Street makes you a lamplighter in the twilight of the gods.

WOW Street is the playgrounds of America. They tell us that fifteen million mice are nibbling at the future and chewing up the present.

The tiny speculator should know by now that there are much safer places to try for broad-jumping records than off the edge of the Grand Canyon.

They should revise that nursery rhyme:

Mary had a little lamb,
They fleeced it white as snow,
And every place the lambie went,
They lammed it for a goal.

It doesn't rhyme. But neither does WOW Street and margins.

AN EASY WAY TO TRAIN CHILDREN

Editor's Note—It is hoped that the following gems of good-council, reprinted from "Mother Truth's Melodies," published in 1888 by Mrs. E. P. Miller, will help to instil into the little ones some sense of decorum and good breeding. The poems themselves are of such a melodious turn, and so delightful to read over and over, that the wayward child will absorb their kernel of truth without being aware of it.

I.

A "Yes" and "No" are common, hard,
But "Yes'm," "No-sir," choice;
Let none but sweet and gentle words
Flow from your gift of voice.

But, "If you please, I'd like a bun,"
Or, "Thank you" for a pat.

Gas Tax of Four Cents To Be Forced Upon Us

Men who Would Not Increase Realty Tax 33 Per Cent Are for It On Gas.

Our Legislature is determined to fly against the strong winds of public protest in the matter of a four-cent gas tax. The House has passed a bill providing for such a tax, to be in force for a year.

The administration steam roller is at work. Members of the General Assembly who would not vote for any proposition that would increase taxation on their own properties by 33 per cent, as the proposed tax will increase the burden of the gas taxpayer, voted for it. Good roads in their districts is the bait.

We want the good roads, of course, but it is assured we can have them without resorting to extraordinary methods. Current revenues, it is pointed out, are sufficient to give the highway department funds for all the work it can handle. If that is the case, additional revenue would not hasten improved roads by one day.

An absolutely silly provision of the bill is to compensate gas dealers for collecting the tax, which, in itself, is proof that the state does not need all that it is going to take from gas buyers.

Pittsburgh-Butler Port Adds to Aerial Chain

A welcome addition to the aerial facilities in and adjacent to the Pittsburgh district will be the airport and pilots' training school, for which land has been acquired at Nixon, Butler County, a few miles south of the city of Butler, along the Butler plank road. The field and school will be laid out on a site of 610 acres, to be developed at a cost of $400,000. It will be known as the Pittsburgh-Butler Training Port, improvements to include all necessary buildings as well as a landing field.

Aviation comes closer to us as individuals every day and this new field, only 45 minutes from Pittsburgh by automobile, will be another evidence of the rapid development of the modern mode of transportation. Our own three airports, Bettis, Mayer and Rodgers fields, soon to be augmented by the county airport in Lebanon Church road, weekly become of greater importance as more persons interested in aviation visit them. The Pittsburgh-Butler Training Port adds to the chain. Another, Highland Field, in Ross township, is under construction.

The district is benefited through this development, as it tends to establish Pittsburgh as an aerial center, both as a point in aerial routes and as an advantageous locality for the manufacture and distribution of airplanes and aviation accessories. Some such enterprises already are established and others are in prospect.

McGovern Again Charges County Finances Are Dark

What price audit? Charles C. McGovern, County Commissioner and former County Controller, in filing a motion to have the recent $50,000 audit of the county fiscal affairs stricken from the records, cites 10 reasons why it is not acceptable. Summed up, they mean that the report is inaccurate and that it does not show the real financial status of the county.

Judge Josiah Cohen has granted a rule on Controller Robert G. Woodside to show cause why the request contained in the motion, wholly or in part, should not be granted.

For a long time Mr. McGovern has been charging that county bookkeeping has been faulty. The public had thought that the recent audit had straightened the matter out, but Commissioner McGovern insists that we still are in the dark. It is to be hoped that the court will be able to settle the question definitely.

Hoover Should Eliminate New League Court Menace

Now as always "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

If you doubt it, look at the latest scheme to plunge the United States into the League of Nations through the trap-door of its private court.

This scheme, sponsored by no less a lawyer than Elihu Root, has been indorsed by the highest officials of the League. It cuts the heart out of the fifth condition to the Senate's ratification of the League Court protocol.

It was provided in Reservation No. 5 of the Senate's resolution of ratification that the League Court should not, "without the consent of the United States, entertain any request for an advisory opinion touching any dispute or question in which the United States has any claim or interest."

Of course the Senate had no mandate from the American people to ratify the court protocol even conditionally.

It was in fact a defiance of their mandate several times expressed at the polls.

But when the members of the League refused to accept Reservation No. 5 this country was saved from the Senate's folly. We were out of the League and out of the Court.

Then in the closing days of his administration President Coolidge, most unfortunately, revived the attempt to get the League to accept Reservation No. 5. This the League has refused to do.

But after consultation with Mr. Root a new reservation has been drawn up which the League will accept. This substitutes for the veto power of Reservation No. 5 the consent of the League for the United States to withdraw from the Court, rather than accept an advisory opinion to which it objects or might object.

If President Hoover is well advised he will junk this League reservation as soon as Mr. Root takes it to the White House.

But if President Hoover fails the country and sends this new scheme to the Senate with his approval, then the Senate must not fail the nation. It will then become the duty of the Senate to reject the League's revision of Reservation No. 5.

There is no time to lose in disposing of this new menace to American independence. And the sooner President Hoover makes up his mind what he is going to do with the League reservation the better it will be for the country.

Both the Senate and the nation are entitled, as we believe, to prompt action by the President in this vital matter.

Tales That Are Told

Today's Ways

An estate agent had tried in vain to sell a new house to the very modern married couple who had called on him.

"But why should we buy a house?" countered the young wife. "What's the good of it when we get it? Listen. I was born in a hospital ward, brought up at a boarding-school, and after that went to college. I was courted in a motor car and married in a church. We sleep in a hotel and get meals out. I spend the mornings playing golf, my afternoons playing bridge. In the evenings we dance or go to a show, and when I'm dead I'll be buried. All we want is a garage with a bedroom."

Puzzling

A boy entered a busy draper's shop and asked for "Half a yard of devil."

He persisted in his request, explaining that it was to match his granny's dress.

Still he was not understood. Then he said, suddenly: "That man over there is serving what granny wants."

"Oh, its black sateen you want," said the shopkeeper.

"Yes, sir, it's black satan," replied the boy. "I knew the chap had two names, but I didn't happen to remember the one the stuff is called after."

Wasted Knowledge

It was the first time he had been to a big dance, and when suddenly his partner decided that she did not want to dance the next he was at a loss for something to talk about.

"Do you ever have indigestion?" he asked, being absolutely desperate for making an attempt at conversation.

The girl looked at him queerly. Still, funny things often went to dances, she thought.

"No," she replied very shortly.

Solved the Difficulty

The pompous and influential-looking man settled himself in the best armchair the room contained.

"Well," he said to the master of the school, "I've made my fortune and I retire tomorrow. I feel that I'd like to do something for the old school. I wish I could remember the studies I excelled in and then—"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

There's just one more thing that hasn't been told about the Scotchman. He was a young Scotchman, and was visiting his girl. She thought she'd make a hit with Sandy, so when they were sitting alone in the parlor she turned out the light. She says, "Sandy, I think we might as well save the light. We don't need to be burning up light, just to talk, do we?"

Sandy was mighty pleased with that kind of a girl. He stirred around, kinda uneasy. Pretty soon he started taking off his collar and tie.

"What's the matter, Sandy?" she says. "Don't you feel well?"

"I feel a' richt," he says, "but it's nae good sense to be wearing the collar and tie out in the dark."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Some people have no sense of their own relativity.

Mr. Einstein might snort if he saw that use made of his highly scientific term, but it exactly expresses the situation.

All life is relative. Everything is related to everything else. The importance of a thing depends on its relationship to everything else.

In comparison with an ant, a blade of grass is as tall as a redwood tree. To you and me, it is a mere wisp of green. And you and I, in our turn, would be fly specks on Mount Everest.

If the blade of grass could think, it would be most foolish for it to go around acting like a redwood tree in comparison with an ant. It would need to remember that in comparison with the rest of the world, it was a mere green wisp—otherwise life would be a very jumbled affair for that blade of grass.

Which same is a very necessary lesson for humans to learn as well as for grass.

They never compare their experiences with other people's experiences.

They never see their needs or sufferings in relationship to the whole mass of human need and suffering. To them, they and their necessities are the Whole Show.

They make no comparisons and they will not permit comparisons to be made.

You cannot say to such a person, "But other people have had just as hard a time as you are having. Other people have faced as great difficulties."

They refuse to line up their lives beside other lives. They refuse to believe that there is any similarity between their lives or other lives. They can always produce reasons to show that their lot is unique in human history.

To such people the universe revolves around them.

They are given to self-pity, self-aggrandizement.

Life becomes a protracted day dream in which they are always playing the role of hero or martyr.

Other people exist only as unimportant ghosts to these dreamers—Reality does not exist. They see only themselves. Their spiritual eyes are turned in.

Psychologists call these people "inverts."

One hundred per cent inverts are fortunately rare, for complete inversion ends in the insane asylum. But most of us have streaks or periods of inversion.

Times when we think we're the Whole Show—

Periods when we lose our sense of relativity—

Check up on your relativity every now and then. Are you attaching too much importance to your own success—your own grief—your own sensitiveness—your own difficulties?

Are you, in short, acting like a redwood tree when you ought to be behaving like a sensible blade of grass?

Then get busy. Snap out of it. Get back into line with the rest of the universe or someone or something will land on you HARD.

OUR LANGUAGE

By Garrett P. Serviss

Beside the damage which language suffers from over hasty utterance and the slurring and deformng of syllables and sounds, comes another evil even more injurious in its influence. This is the growing use of defensive expressions by persons of education, not excluding some who rank among public teachers and scientific leaders. An example has just struck my attention.

Reading a reprint in "Science" of an address concerning psychology, which was presented before a section of the American Association during its recent meeting in New York, I was suddenly brought up short, in the midst of a most interesting, and as it seemed to me logical and instructive, discussion of the present day conditions in that science by this sentence:

"The man whose research is to be aided must have shown that he has a vital problem, that the problem is capable of solution in his hands, and that he has the guts to see it through."

If I had seen a hog amble into a parlor and begin to root I should not have been more disagreeably surprised. The author of the address had used plain language, but it was the language of polite, well-bred intercourse until this astonishing vulgarity suddenly marred it like a clod of mud. I don't believe that I am over squeamish about such things, but I felt as if a gentleman had deliberately expectorated in my face. There was absolutely no call for the introduction of such an unsavory figure of speech in a public discourse delivered at an assemblage of representatives of American science and culture, and of their friends and followers.

I have picked this particular instance only because I just happened upon it, and it reminded me of similar preceding experiences. I do not know the author personally, but I respect the fact that he is a teacher in a great university, as I also respect the high quality of his scientific work. But just for those reasons I doubly regret that he should have chosen to use such an expression.

I know, of course, that the misused word is, when employed where it belongs, of good dictionary standing, and a recognized and useful member of the English vocabulary. I understand how it is imagined to add force when figuratively used. But I also know that it is one of the slogans of the propagandists of up-to-date slang, who think, astonishing as it may seem, that they are liberalizing and "liberating" though by vulgarizing the speech in which it is expressed, and filling the mind with base, incongruous and even disgusting images. Within the halls of universities one may hear even worse specimens of this degraded form of language, and that not only from students inspired by youthful jubilation in finding themselves at liberty to defy the spirit of old-fashioned politeness, and encouraged to slap the face of "strait-laced propriety," "puritanical holiness" and "Victorian hypocrisy," but also from some of their teachers.

It is not solely speakers of the language who are smirching it, but many, many writers, alas! Writers who are hailed by their booters as "liberators"—liberators of slang, forsooth! Such are some of the felicities of the "freedom of speech" about which we hear so much. So far as that means freedom of thinking and of giving proper expression to sincere thought, it is well. But too often it implies freedom to speech to become, or to be made, shabby and immodest, with a scum of vulgarity. Let us fight for our mother tongue!

Bible Passages

Praise God

(Psalm 95)

O come, let us sing unto the Lord: let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation.

Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms.

In his hand are the deep places of the earth; the strength of the hills is his also.

The sea is his, and he made it; and his hands formed the dry land.

O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our maker.

For he is our God; and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand. To day if ye will hear his voice,

Harden not your heart, as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness:

When your fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my work.

Forty years long was I grieved with this generation, and said, It is a people that do err in their heart, and they have not known my ways:

Unto whom I sware in my wrath that they should not enter into my rest.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

April Enchantment

April taps so lightly
On the window-pane
With the fairy lances
Of the silver rain,
Some enchantment surely
Must be hers to wield,
She has brought such changes
To the barren field!

She has worked such magic
In the leafless wood,
Waking buds to answer
To her joyous mood,
None can doubt her forces
Or her touch deny
While such wonders flower
In the earth and sky.

April calls but faintly
Through the silver mist,
But man's spirit hastens
To the happy tryst!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 3.—A visitor arriving at Grand Central terminal could remain indefinitely without stepping foot on a metropolitan sidewalk. Through subterranean passages, the terminal is linked with all life's necessities as well as luxuries. A city underneath a city.

In its catacombs is an existence almost as separate and distinct as a city hundreds of miles away. There are innumerable tunnels serving as streets with their rows of banks, brokerage houses, barber shops, Turkish baths, manicure and clothing parlors. And the most famous oyster bar in town is there.

Its Lexington Arcade is the only place I know in the metropolitan area where pop corn is on sale. A fully equipped hospital is able to receive everything from a sprained wrist to a maternity case. There is a justice who will marry you and there is also a mortician—but never mind.

Four hotels are accessible through covered runways — the Biltmore, Commodore, Roosevelt and the Belmont under Forty-second street. Automobiles are on sale in most all of hotel lobbies and the most complete displays of magazines in the world are in the terminal waiting room.

There is a children's playground and a man's nickel-a-shot golf school. There are numberless swimming pools, squash and indoor tennis courts and a skating rink. In two hotels are chapels where religious services are held regularly and a great art gallery fills one section of the terminal.

Among the unique enterprises in the section is the Voice of The Sky, Inc. It furnishes radio advertising from the clouds for those with the price. There is also an expert specializing in adjusting watches with a lively trade among thousands of trainmen arriving daily.

Tea and dancing are offered in a dozen places. Indeed about the only amusement denied is the theater, but they are going to fix that up. A first-class playhouse is being planned and will be reached without leaving Grand Central. This is, incidentally, the most congested section in town.

A successful actor, that is he has worked several weeks this season, shows me his collection of pocket lighters. Among the most prized is the original model made by a convalescing one-armed British soldier solely for his own use. This is the fifth "original model" I've seen lately.

A New York hotel has a patron who engages an expensive suite every New Year's eve and for two weeks thereafter. He is a man of heavy affairs in a Middle West city and a model of sobriety. But for two weeks he goes on a "high-lonesome," doing his drinking alone and never leaving the apartment. At the end of two weeks he is ironed out in a White Plains sanitarium and returns to his job thrilling to the Rotarian's watchword—"Service" and everything.

The wife of a well-known theatrical producer is known for extravagance. She is not only the despair of her husband but tradesmen who must wait for checks. She once sent her husband 100 orchids for his desk with a "just-thinking-of-you" note. But her latest splurge is the ga-gaiest. Her husband told her to buy him some pajamas. She ordered 100 pairs of finest silk costing with monograms $6,000. And he is incommunicado at his club with every nail bitten to the quick.

New York is getting away from poisonous colored taxis—greens, yellows and pinks. A new fleet unloosed are plain black, like Ed Nolan's silk theater hat. Ah, there Ed! Another step in the somber trend shortly will be taxis whose only distinguishing mark will be the word "Taxi" in small letters on the door handles.

C. L. Edson, who has been in seclusion for some time, is bringing out "The Great American Novel" this fall. That's the title. The story of a fellow who didn't write but lived it. "I've been ghost writing for celebrities so long," says Edson, "that I nearly lost my voice in literature."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

How you dislike the man who is careful about expenditures!

You think of him as a tight-wad who deserves ridicule.

So long as you can meet your bills you proceed blissfully.

Perhaps you never found yourself actually unable to pay your bills.

You don't know the experience of having bills pile up while you are incapacitated for work and have no income.

It might do you good to have just that happen to you.

You cannot expect smooth sailing all your life.

The law of averages is bound to work in your life as well as others.

How are you prepared right now if deprived of your earning power?

You might learn a lot of the prudent man who lays aside for the time when his income may be cut off or greatly diminished.

You don't have to be penurious, just careful and sensible in your expenditures.
